Death at the Steering Wheel

He is worse than blind—because he thinks he sees

"Good heavens, Jim, you almost got that child!"

"Well, I didn't, did I?" snarled the man at the wheel, pale and quaking. "Close thing, though, I'll say; but honest, I never saw her till she was nearly under."

"Exactly," responded his friend in level tones. "You'd have been a murderer, no less; and all because you're too obstinate to get those wretched eyes of yours examined. You know that you can't see things down the street worth a cent."

"All nonsense! Why, I can READ without any trouble—and if I can READ I can drive."

Yet—four accidents had been marked up against him. That eternal effort to adjust shortsighted eyes to distance interfered with his ability to apply brakes and shift gears quickly. It cut down the swiftness and sureness wtih which his hands and feet respond to the brain message that cried "Stop!" Although he could READ, he was incapacitated for SAFE DRIVING.

Every second car you see is driven by a person who needs glasses.

Don't wait for a law compelling every driver to have his eyes examined before he is granted a driver's license. If you drive a car, you owe it to yourself and to humanity, to have your eyes examined today.
