SIDELIGHTS AT MORGAN

The members of the Pyramids of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority gave their annual fashion parade, last Friday night, in Morgan State College chapel.

Immediately following the exhibition, the sorority gave a semi-formal leap year dance. Buddy Johnson furnished the music.

Among the outstanding costumes in the parade were those worn by:

Leona Carter, silver and blue pajamas; Delores Bailey, a print play suit; a new shade of blue dancing set by Sevilla Boyd; Odessa Spaulding, a dancing set of navy blue; Erwin Ramseur, tuxedo.

The bridge scene stole the show. In this scene Helen Oldham wore a straight skirt and jacket of pea green, under which was a chiffon baby-pink blouse with long length sleeves.

An evening dress of net skirt with brocaded satin top and a black velvet wrap and attached hood was worn by Elise Thompson. A baby blue moire taffeta with pink accessories was selected by Lavinia Banks. Gladys Waters modeled a "Gone with the Wind" dress of white under a silver fox chubby. Adelaide Dandy was in a rose satin dress trimmed in blue velvet. Lareesa Felder selected white mousseline de soie trimmed in red ribbons.

Ruth Watts modeled a typical high school girl's commencement dress of white net with a lace top, while Portia Minor wore a pink taffeta bustle dress under a black velvet wrap.

The smart new shade of gold taffeta made on princess lines was worn by Willabelle Harrington and Margaret Saunders was in a black satin with puffed sleeves and aprtheart neckline outlined in gold metallic.

The introduction to the revue was given by Dorothy Peters. Remarks were given by Lucille Durham, dean of pledges; and the commentator was Helen Coleman.

The show was by Dorothy Meekins, Williemae Dance, and Margaret Robinson, a trio, who sang; Georgette Babbitt, Rou Bundy, Bernice Norfleet and Cornelius Van Jordon, soloists.
