The Feminine Front

Charities and Weddings Hold Women's Interest

THREE ON A MATCH

Three on a match at the YWCA Charity Ball in Philadelphia last Thursday evening where feminine pulchritude did its share in making the affair a success. Lighting cigarettes in the photo above are, left to right, Misses Elsie Stovall, Aline K. Harris and Flossie Jasper; and, in case you might be mildly interested, the gentleman holding the match is James H. Young. All are Philadelphians.

Couriers' Dinner Dance Shares Social Honors with Kibitizers'

With Lula Jones Garrett

The Courier Club (of which all members are in the postal service), tucked a swank postal insignia to the fore of Monumental Elks' Hall, established the International Orchestra behind a curtain of cellophane and balanced their decorations with a flock of carrier pigeons at the rear, in a smart decor for their dinner dance on Thursday evening.

Guests (some three hundred of them), perforce, arrived early. Were seated in the grill at one ayem, where for an hour or more they lingered over dinner and then again to dancing until later morning.

• • •

Practically on the heels of the Couriers came the Kibitzers, whose dance on Friday night was another of the couldn't-be-missed affairs. They are a newer aggregation of post-debs and this, their first affair. Was no-end successful.

Brought out some smart couples: Sara Hunt in a new white and red combination that had the cutest skirt, all shirred across the back; Courtney Carter and Dr. Robert Gladden, a heretofore unlisted couple; Betsie Straight and Norman Edemy, who are more and more getting about together; Florence Roberts and her fiance, Dr. G. Pennington Musenden and the Wellington Ross-Anita Edwards combination.

• • •

But speaking of clothes, the natives turned it out at the Williams-Mamakos fight at the Coliseum, Thursday night. Wilhelmina Shipley in black Russian carseul with silver fox sleeves over a rose crepe frock, wore maroon accessories as a startling accent. Theresa Waters was in all black with the gold note carried out in clips on her dress and bag.

Dorothy DeCaseres wore blue wool under a beaver sport coat and with it a brown turban. Fannie Howard chatted with John Carter and William Simpkins, over from Washington for the fray. Washington also contributed Alvin Barnes.

Mal Frazier came down from New York. So did Charles Kelson; and John Roxbury was in from Detroit. Dr. and Mrs. Marion Wilson were there. Her all-black ensemble was topped by a Persian lamb coat and Mr. and Mrs. Grafton Johnson set another pace, Her eastern mink coat, fitted to the waist, was worn with a brown and tan dress, brown bag and shoes and an eastern mink hat. Later, many of the group congregated at Bailey's for a night-cap.

And speaking of fights, the crown of the week goes to that Baltimore doctor's daughter, who swung a mean telephone and bashed in the head of a Wilmington politician's son and heir, last week.

• • •

Mrs. Howard H. Murphy was honoree on Saturday afternoon when Mabel Locks entertained at a bridge luncheon. About were: Mesdames Albert Smith, Victor Gray, Pennelton Parrott, George McDonald, John Berry, James Murphy, Jerome Credit, Emmett Coleman, Houston Jackson, Howard Wilson, Frank Sorrell, and Misses Meta Redden, Mamie Chappelle, Hermione Wharton, and Mae Wright.

• • •

Small Edward Haley, son of the Lester Haleys of Morgan Park, simply couldn't understand why he should be spanked for taking his own medicine when the doctor had told him to take it. But what happened was that he took so much of a sudden concoction that it floored him. He was quite ill for several days. Incidentally, Mr. Haley was called to Bryn Mawr, Pa., last week, because of the death of his mother.

• • •

The Pals have set their dance date for March 8. It will be the club's first formal.

Baltimorean: Last week several cities combined with the AFRO-AMERICAN in listing an honor roll of distinguished citizens. Even the nation's capital managed to dig up only two women.

Baltimore women took an even half of the honors in their home city. Which brings up the fact again that Baltimore is a woman's town. Women topped the population by 2,626 in the last census. They held 652 of the 950 teaching jobs in the city; 4 of the 10 supervisory posts and 15 of the 44 principalships. Thereby, counting the fact that working wives are the rule, not the exception, they handle the larger portion of salaries drawn. Thus, they compose the larger buying power.

They head the major civic organizations, including the NAACP and the Parent-Teacher Association, and run the Provident Hospital, and either through majorities, being trustees or pastors, dominate the churches. There was a woman in the police department before there were men.

The only board of importance on which they are noticeably lacking is the Morgan State College Board of Trustees. And maybe they are not entirely lacking there. The members, generally, are family men and you see the first proposition is to be a WOMEN'S dormitory.

FUR HATS DOMINATE WINTER FASHION SCENE

Fur hats, matching fur coats or fur-trimmed coats, are dominating the winter fashion scene just at present; for, although spring hats of straw and ribbon are being shown everywhere, women are finding the weather much too cold for straw chapeau, and are going merrily along in bonnets a bit more consistent with Sir Temperature.

Fur toppers this season are no longer mere whimsies of fur set precariously atop the curls, but rather have graduated into real hats, smart and flattering in most cases. Of course, care must be exercised in choosing a fur hat to avoid that Daniel Boone look. This may easily result from a wrong type or too much fur. That care has dominated the selection this year is evident, as the furry styles seen along fashion row are extremely eye-filling.

Barets and Snoods

Furs most seen in the millinery picture are Persian lamb, silver fox, kolinsky, sheared beaver and kidskin. And kidskin, grey or black, fashioned into sailors or tall crown hats, is as smart as can be. Persian lamb is usually seen in pillboxes or pancake berets, and these hats are very smooth flatterers. Tails of silver fox, mink or kolinsky, swirling round and round to form a rosette beret are adorable. The berets, worn tilting forward provocatively, are held on by knit snoods of yarn in black, brown or any of the bright shades.

Color with fur is the rule, color being found in the snoods or ribbons which hold the hat snug. Sheared beaver, soft and brown, combines beautifully with green, black, violet or blue, and many of the hats made from this fur have snoods which catch up the wearer's dress tone. The ensemble thus created is very stunning.

Muff to Match

When the hat matches the collar of a cloth coat, there is often also a matching muff or muff bag, and the effect is dramatic. Fur hats and muffs also are the most luxurious of costume accessories for untrimmed coats and suits.

• When the hat matches the collar...

It's customary, although not obligatory, for a girl's escort to a formal dance to send her a corsage. If he is undecided about what flowers to buy, he may correctly telephone her or have the florist telephone to ascertain the color gown she intends to wear.

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorors Celebrate Founder's Day

RALEIGH, N.C.—Alpha Theta Omega and Beta Rho chapters of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority celebrated the thirty-second anniversary of the founding of the society on Sunday, at the Shaw University Chapel.

Mrs. Edna Over Gray of Baltimore and Dr. Rose Butler Brown of Petersburg, Va., were guests. Dr. Brown was introduced by Mrs. Julia Delaney, the president of the local chapter, who in turn introduced the main speaker, Mrs. Gray, retiring national secretary.

Mrs. Gray Speaker

Mrs. Gray pointed out that the two main purposes of anniversaries are to commemorate past accomplishments or check up on the use made of present opportunities.

She challenged the race to realize that the past does not own us but that it belongs to us and because of the richness of our inheritance advised us to set up a pattern for living, for race tolerance, for religion, for education that those who come after us will think we are "Mad to have dreamed of it."

Mrs. Gray and Dr. Brown wore corsages of pink rose buds which were presented them by the graduate chapter. The members of the chapter wore single pink rose buds. H. Gil-Smythe, director of music at Shaw University, played the sorority's national song.

Bridge Party

The Founders' Day celebration was begun with a bridge party, Saturday evening, at the home of Mrs. Julia Delaney. Miss Clara F. Brown and Mesdames Blanche Dancie and Julia Delaney were hostesses.

IT costs you less than five cents for Apex Products used in giving a thorough and genuine Apex shampoo and press.

You can only "save" a part of that five cents by using inferior, imitation products.

Is it good business to risk losing a good customer for the simple reason of trying to save a fraction of a cent by using inferior products?

Does it really pay to do without the assurance of good results and confidence that comes from using genuine Apex Products? Give your customers what they want . . . a true Apex Treatment . . . they are willing to pay for it many times over than have you use some cheap, inferior product that you may buy from some unscrupulous peddler and perhaps ruin their hair and scalp.

Genuine Apex Treatments build a solid structure of customer confidence and earn a bigger profit for you . . . think it over.

'Twixt Night 'n' Dawn

With The Breeze

The cold weather didn't seem to affect the popularity of BERTIE BROOKS'S ROADHOUSE on Annapolis Avenue in Mt. Winans. In fact, it looked from the size of the crowd in the place, last week-end, that it is becoming more popular.

This is easily explained, though, because, when Jerome Washington tears out on the piano, and Dukie, the torch singer, torches, the place leaps and hops. Bertie handles some very tasty crab cakes out there, too. Take a spin out to BERTIE'S sometime.

THE SPOT IS COMING ON

Some of the members of the cast of "Mamba's Daughters" apparently made the SPOT BARBEQUE AND COCKTAIL LOUNGE after-show headquarters. Several nights this week, they went up there for a light snack after working the shows and then to the COCKTAIL LOUNGE downstairs for some light sport.

The SPOT is really coming on now-a-days, with plenty of business all day and plenty at night.

Wendell's VILMA TAVERN experienced some of those terrible week-ends, last bath and Sabbath day. The place was packed and jammed from Friday night on through the week-end. As a matter of fact, it is still the place to meet before attending those Friday night formals.

Another cozy niterie to slip into before attending the dances is SONNY'S CAFE on Madison Avenue. The management assures pleasant surroundings, smiling waitresses, and good foods and drinks.

• • •

HUNGRY? SEE JULIA

For that sandwich after the dance, drop in on JULIA up at McCulloh and McMechen Streets. JULIA's is open twenty-four hours out of each and every day.

Count Thomas of the SCHLOSS TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB on Oliver Street, has his own theory on the question of tipping. Like Confucius, the Count says: "Tipping results in efficient service. No tipping results in cafeteria service, or something."

But don't let a shortage of change keep you from frequenting THE SCHLOSS CLUB. The service is first-rate all the time. So is the entertainment. Read the AFRO and visit THE SCHLOSS CLUB and learn for yourself.

Another niterie known far and wide for its rhythm, frivolity, and efficient services, along with tasty drinks and foods, is KELLY'S CLUB WONDERLAND. Luther Troye still handles the reins at the spot and in a most capable manner, too. A swinging aggregation of musicians keeps things jumping all the time.

Also listed among Baltimore's hot spots are the NEW STANDARD LUNCHROOM, PALM LUNCHROOM and HONG KONG RESTAURANT.

Blue Ridge

The Blue Ridge Mountain Saving Club held its meeting at the home of Miss Bernice Brown, 1303 Argyle Avenue.

Mrs. Hazel Johnson joined the club. The next meeting will be held at 1526 Riggs Avenue, with Mrs. Cristilla Pembleton as hostess.

Walter McLeod is the president; Miss Louise Ross, business manager, and Miss Rosa Walker, secretary.

But as Soon as She Can Make It

Alberta Hunter Is Going Back to Stay

By LILLIAN JOHNSON

BALTIMORE — Miss Alberta Hunter wasn't joking, either!

"I am going back to Europe as soon as I get my commitments finished here, and as soon as I can get an okey from the government to go to the war zone," she said.

Miss Hunter has spent fourteen years abroad, but returned to the United States several times to do radio chores for the National Broadcasting Company.

It was on one of these trips that she was selected for the part of Dolly that she plays in "Mamba's Daughters," which is appearing on the stage of Ford's Theatre here this week.

Miss Hunter, who rose to international fame as a singer, said she had never tried a dramatic part before.

"I was quite surprised when I was called for the part in the play," Miss Hunter said. "Later, Mr. Heywood, who is one of the writers of the play, came in and was asked how he thought I would do for the role of Dolly.

"Why she's perfect for the part," he said, and the issue was settled."

"Mamba's Daughters" is on the way to the coast now, and when the company reaches there, Miss Hunter will have been completely around the world.

DIANE STAR

DEANNA DURBIN, star of "First Love," to be shown at the Diane Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Jo Baker

PARIS—Josephine Baker, who is the idol of France, is one of the busiest persons in that country, too.

In addition to her star role at the Casino de Paris, in Paris-London, she also reports daily to the French Red Cross, shuttles to the front at least once weekly to entertain French and British troops, and has approximately 1500 military godsons.

Tex Ritter, Jane Withers Play Lincoln Theatre

The Lincoln Theatre double bill for Sunday and Monday will have as its main features Tex Ritter in "Westbound Stage," and Ann Sothern and Franchot Tone in "Fast and Furious."

Tex, who is one of the best known of the singing cowboys, has a picture that is full of action. Muriel Evans plays opposite him, and also in the cast are Nolan Willis, Steve Clark, and Tom London.

In "Chicken Family Wagon," featured for Tuesday and Wednesday, Jane Withers and carefree Leo Carrillo are partners again. Based on a heart-warming story that stirs the wanderlust in everybody, Jane's new picture is about a family which tosses its cares into a red handkerchief and heeds the call of the open road, with daughter Jane and Daddy Carrillo in the driver's seat.

The second picture, "Gun Law," is a perilous romance on the old Arizona frontier, background Saved from death by thirst on the painted desert by a girl and her preacher-father, O'Brien accompanies them to the town of Gunsight. In reality, he is a Federal officer, but he poses as a desperado to gather evidence about a band of robbers.

His plan leads to a series of exciting complications, numbering a bold-up, a near-lynching, and a dozen thrilling battles.

Two of the biggest pictures of the year are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday. They are "The Cat and the Canary" with Bob Hope, and "On Your Toes," starring Zorina, the dancer.

The first picture is a thrilling, chilling, spine-tingling mystery drama that begins when a group of heirs go to the home of their dead relative to hear his will, ten years to the day after his death.

An insane man, sliding panels, and mysterious death all play their part. "On Your Toes," the second picture, is one of the loveliest spectacles to come out of Hollywood in many a day.

In addition to the lovely star, Eddie Albert has a leading role, while the cast includes such well-known players as Alan Hale, Frank McHugh, and James Gleason.

"The Witness Vanishes" tells a story laid in London, with most of the action taking place in the newspaper offices of the London Sun. Edmund Lowe, Wendy Barrie, and Bruce Lester head the large cast.

The coupling film is "The Real Glory," starring Gary Cooper, a red-blooded and exciting story of the war in the Philippines. Donald Nlven, Andrea Leeds, and Reginald Owen are in the cast.

"Man They Could Not Hang" at the Fremont

Weird, horrifying, and fascinating, "The Man They Could Not Hang," starring Boris Karloff, will be one of the features at the Fremont Theatre Sunday and Monday.

The picture is strong meat, sufficient to satisfy the starkest appetite of the most hardened horror fan. It is a tale that makes the flesh creep and at the same time emerges as a dramatic triumph.

Karloff is shown as a scientist who can restore life to the dead, but his experiments are interpreted as murder and he is hanged for the crime.

He is secretly restored to life, but on his return, is transformed into a merciless killer, relentless in his quest for revenge.

How he has to choose between his life and that of his own daughter makes a climax that is every bit as thrilling as the events that go before lead one to expect.

The second picture is "Overland Mail" with Jack Randall in the lead.

Tuesday and Wednesday's features will be "Disputed Passage," and "Jeepers Creepers." Dorothy Lamour plays the part of an American girl who has lived in China so long that she dresses and thinks like the Chinese in "Disputed Passage."

She falls in love with a doctor, but the physician who taught him in school and who is determined that the young doctor shall be great, is determined to prevent a marriage.

A series of exciting events lead him to change his mind.

"Jeepers Creepers," a story of the hillbillies and of a group of business men who come into their country from the big city, determined to gain control of it, is also in the program. The Weaver Brothers and Elviry, Roy Rogers, and Maris Wrixon are featured.

On Thursday, "Prison Train," with Clarence Muse, noted sepia star, will be shown together with "Sabotage," and on Friday and Saturday, "Stranger from Texas," and "$1,000 a Touchdown," with Martha Raye.

"Disputed Passage" at Lafayette

"Disputed Passage" with Dorothy Lamour and "Stranger from Texas" with Charles Starrett and Sons of Pioneers are the features at the Lafayette Theatre for Sunday and Monday.

"Disputed Passage" is an unusual story about an older rocker who believes that no doctor has any room for marriage or romance in his life. He passes his principles on to a young man whom he befriends, but when Dorothy Lamour comes into the picture, complications arise.

"The Man They Could Not Hang" with Boris Karloff and Lorna Gray and "Gun Justice" starring Cecelia Parker, Walter Miller, and Ken Maynard will be features for Tuesday and Wednesday.

In "The Man They Could Not Hang," Karloff is seen as a scientist who returns from the dead to seek revenge on those responsible for his hanging.

Features for Thursday and Friday are "Racketeers of the Range" with George O'Brien and Ray Whitley and "Two Bright Boys," starring Jackie Cooper, Dorothy Petersen, and Freddie Bartholomew.

Saturday will bring Johnny Mack Brown and Bob Baker in "Desperate Trails" and short subjects.

AT THE ROYAL

"The Notorious Elinor Lee," which will be shown on the Royal program includes the scene above. The picture features an all-colored cast.

Little Women

The Little Women's Social Club met, Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Agnes Boyd, 714 N. Gilmor Street.

Thalia

Mrs. Lovey Dell Farrow was hostess to the Thalia Variety Club on Friday.

The club is planning a pre-valentine party. Miss Catherine Goodman of 516 Gilmor Street will be the hostess at the next meeting.
