DAREDEVIL LAW DEFIES DEATH

UNHURT WHEN EXPLOSION BLOWS ROCKET TO ATOMS.

PERFORMING FOR MOVIES

Panic Spread Among Spectators Immediately After 800 Pounds of Powder Gave Way With Terrific Force—Inconceivable That Law Escaped Being Blown to Bits—Unconscious for 10 Seconds, Then Walks Away Unassisted.

New York, March 13.—A steel rocket containing Rodman Law, the "human fly" in which he intended to be shot 3,500 feet into the air, descending by a parachute, exploded this afternoon when 800 pounds of powder behind it was fired. Law was hurled 25 feet from his seat in the rocket, but was unhurt.

Protected by padding and a helmet, Law crawled into the rocket with his parachute and gave the order to fire. The fuse was lighted and spluttered for 30 seconds. There was a burst of flame, a cloud of smoke and a terrific report. Hundreds of spectators, straining their eyes for a sight of the great rocket hurtling through the air, saw it leap forward a few feet and burst into fragments.

Law was hurled violently through the air and to the ground. His hair and eyebrows were burned off. For 10 seconds he was unconscious. Then he got up and looked around.

"Darn that thing!" he exclaimed. "I thought I was going up."

Panic spread among the spectators immediately after the explosion. It seemed inconceivable that Law could have escaped being blown to bits, and several women became hysterical. When those who were managing the exploit reached the scene they were surprised to find Law struggling on the ground in the midst of the burning frame work of the scaffolding which had supported the rocket. His miraculous escape was explained by the fact that the head of the rocket on which he stood, shoulder high in a hollow extension, was made of an extra thickness of steel. The rest of the rocket, six feet in length and two and a half feet in diameter, was blown to atoms.

Law walked unassisted to a nearby house to have his burns dressed. He declared that he would make a second attempt as soon as another rocket could be constructed by the moving picture interests which employed him.

WILSON PRAISES CLEVELAND

Regrets His Inability to Attend Dedication Exercises.

Washington, March 13.—President Wilson today declined an invitation to be present on March 18, Grover Cleveland's birthday, at the dedication of the Cleveland birthplace in Caldwell, N. J., as a public memorial. The President wrote to John H. Finley, president of the College of the City of New York, expressing his regret and eulogizing the character of Mr. Cleveland.

"I wish with all my heart that it were possible consistent with the performance of my new duties here to be present on the occasion of the dedication of Mr. Cleveland's birthplace to the public as a memorial, but in as much as I am bound here by obligations I cannot escape, I must content myself with requesting that you will read this brief message to those assembled.

"From the first I have been deeply interested in the plan to acquire Mr. Cleveland's birthplace for the public, and this consummation of the plan seems to me of great significance and delightful omen. I think it must be evident to every one who has given attention to the matter that the feeling of the country, the feeling alike of admiration and affection toward Mr. Cleveland grows warmer and warmer as the years pass by. As we see him in just perspective, he looms up as one of the most notable figures in our long line of presidents. I send these lines, therefore, as a sincere tribute of respect and admiration.

"May I not add also my hope that the administration of the property may be productive of pleasure and stimulation to those engaged in it and a real profit to the community at large."

President Wilson has received hundreds of invitations to attend formal dinners and to make addresses before all sorts of organizations throughout the country, but it was announced at the White House today that he expected to refuse all such invitations, at least, during the special Congress session. He believes that he should stay in Washington while the tariff is before Congress, and unless some extraordinary occasion arises he will make few speeches during the summer and fall. It is probable also that he will dine out of the White House infrequently, although President Taft was often the guest at dinners of friends in official life.

SENATE ON ITS DIGNITY

Regards Federal Court's Subpena as Assumption of Authority.

Washington, March 13.—The Senate today virtually defied the authority of the United States Court at New Orleans to compel Senator William Alden Smith to surrender papers in his possession bearing upon alleged Mexican invasion of the neutrality laws. The subpoena served on Senator Smith was presented by him to the Senate and referred by that body to its Judiciary Committee. It will not be recognized.

The papers which Senator Smith was subponaed to present to the court bear on alleged operations by A. Baldwin & Co., of New Orleans, in the handling of arms and ammunition. Senator Smith told the Senate he had come into possession of them as chairman of the subcommittee investigating alleged American activity in the Mexican revolution, and did not believe any court had the right to compel him to produce them for the purpose of a trial.

Senator Bacon declared the action of the New Orleans Federal Court constituted an "assumption of authority" on its part, and that the Senate ought not to tolerate it.

"It seems to be a proceeding to take papers out of the hands of the Senate," added Senator Root.

While the subpoena was directed against Senator Smith personally, it referred to him as a member of the Senate committee. The papers in question were asked for by the court for use in a case brought by the United States against Vincent Segura. They relate to orders for arms and ammunition, shipping orders for the movement of cars and statements of the New Orleans National Bank bearing on the receipts of money for the transferring of funds for ammunition.

EXTRA SESSION PROGRAM

Senator Newlands Prepares a Plan of Legislative Work.

Washington, March 13.—A program for the special session of Congress proposed in the Senate today by Senator Newlands would require Senate committees to take up tariff, anti-trust, river regulation, currency, conservation, public land and army reorganization legislation in preparation for the next regular session of Congress.

"It is not my purpose to embarrass the extra session by any legislation other than the tariff," said Senator Newlands, "but simply to keep the committees employed in work which will be productive of results at the session commencing in December."

CIVIL SERVICE EXTENSION

All Postmasters Eventually to Get Into Classified Ssrvice.

Washington, March 13.—Postmaster General Burleson announced today that he planned to place all fourth class postmasters on a Civil Service basis, that all second and third class postmasters and possibly also first-class postmasters would be in the classified service before he had finished.

As to the fourth class postmasters, he declared that former President Taft had not gone far enough; that he should have taken a step further and instead of transferring positions originally filled as reward for political service to the classified roll, they should have incurred an examination to determine fitness. The Postmaster General said he had not finally decided how he would handle the situation.

WILSON DOES NOT LIKE IT

Photographer Asked to Stop Using Him for Business Purposes.

Washington, March 13.—A Pennsylvania avenue photographer who has been using the tricks of his trade to make photographs of his customers in the attitude of shaking hands with President Wilson was formally requested by the White House today to discontinue the practice. The same circumstance arose under the Taft administration and no provision of law was invoked. At the request of the White House he abandoned the idea.

KOHLER ATTEMPTS TO PROVE ALIBI

POLICE OFFICERS TESTIFY FOR THEIR ACCUSED CHIEF.

Nearly All the Witnesses Who Appeared for the Defense Admitted in Cross-examination That Their Memory of Their Conversations With Chief Kohler Had Been Recently Refreshed.

Cleveland, O., March 13.—In an attempt to prove the presence of "Golden Rule" Chief Kohler at other places than the home of Samuel D. Schearer on two of the nights specified in the charges of gross immorality the defense placed several police officers on the stand today. Nearly all of them admitted in cross-examination that their memory of their conversations with Chief Kohler on that night had been refreshed within the last week by reference to their record books or memorandums.

On February 2, 1912, it was testified that Kohler was sick in bed, and on May 23 he was said to have inspected a number of grillrooms. Those two nights and the night of June 5, the prosecution alleges, Kohler spent with Mrs. Schearer at her home. The defense then began to attack Schearer's story of his discovery of Chief Kohler in the Schearer home on June 5. Two witnesses claimed they had overheard Schearer and Clayton P. Benjamin, a friend of Schearer's, say: "If we had waited a little longer, we would have caught Chief Kohler in scanty attire." Recalled to the stand, Benjamin and Schearer denied having made these statements.

It is expected that Chief Kohler will take the stand in his own defense late tomorrow. It has been rumored Mrs. Schearer would tell her story to the Civil Service Commission, but the defense is silent on this question.

SUFFRAGETTES' ARSENAL

Their London Hiding Place for Destructive Devices.

London, March 13.—An extensive storehouse of destructive instruments used by the militant suffragettes in their attacks on private and public property was unearthed by Scotland Yard detectives today.

Armed with a warrant for the arrest of Miss Olive Hocken, who is charged with an attempt to burn the buildings of the Roehampton Golf Club, the detectives searched an artist's studio in Campden Hill Gardens.

Under the flooring they found three sets of telegraph wire cutting apparatus, several bottles of corrosive fluid for use in letter box outrages, tools for breaking windows and false identification plates for automobiles.

BRITISH NAVAL PLANS

Provide for Increase in Personnel to 146,000 Men.

London, March 13.—The British naval estimates for 1913-1914, which were announced today, total $321,546,500, as compared with $225,377,000 last year.

The new building program provides for five battleship, eight light cruisers, sixteen torpedo-boat destroyers and a number of submarines.

The personnel of the navy is to be increased to 146,000 officers and men.

There will be under construction on April 1 11 battleships, 3 battleship cruisers, 13 light cruisers, 34 torpedo-boat destroyers and 21 submarines. During the year now closing 4 battleships, 3 battleship cruisers, 5 light cruisers, 15 destroyers and 3 submarines were completed.
