From the New Yorker.

THE YOUNG MOTHER.

She was a young and artless thing, so innocent so mild,
And tears were on her pale cheek when she beheld her child;
It was not sorrow dimmed her eyes, for smiles were playing there,
And all the joys that mothers feel, and every anxious care,
Was blended mournfully with joy—but oh! how transient were
The flickering gleams of cheerfulness that marked her features fair;
Consumption, with its awful power, had marked her for the tomb;
And naught on earth could stay her here, and well she knew her doom.

"My child! my lovely child!" she cried, "and must we so soon part?
I feel we must, for life ebbs fast—this coolness at my heart.
Too well informs me of the doom that waits me here below—
And I must leave thee, innocent, in this dark vale of wo."
Inaudible her prayers were heard: her eyes were turned above,
She clasped her infant to her breast with all a mother's love,
And sweetly smiling to the last, her soul was borne away
To those bright realms beyond the sky, where all is endless day.

From the Frederick Times.

TO HER I LOVE.

May one who saw thy beauteous face
In virtue clad, with ev'ry grace,
Serene and innocently fair,
Send thee a wish thy love to share?

Contentment smiles around thy face—
Humanity—within hath place—
And piety—is there to grace
Reflection's hours: what more could I?
Love! which will virtue beautify.

O deem me not importunate
That I must seek, insatiate,
Thy love to gain! for love from thee,
E'en monarchs would descend to see.

Perhaps fair lady! that thy heart
Hath felt the sting of Cupid's dart!
E'en then this wish for thee would be,
Lovelorn as deprived of thee,
Pure and perfect be thy bliss!
So may Heav'n find thee as in this:

POLITICS AND GALLANTRY.—During a contested election at Stafford, when Sheridan was a candidate, the Lady of Sir Ralph P—— made great exertions to obtain votes for him. On the morning of the last days poll, when her Ladyship's assistance was of the greatest importance, she declined leaving the house, in consequence of the death of her monkey unless Sheridan would give her an epitaph for him. "You shall have it instantly," said he; "what was your favorite's name?" "Jim," sobbed the afflicted fair one. Her tears were, however, speedily dried, and succeeded by radiant smiles, on hearing the ready wit exclaim, in a most pathetic style.

"Alas, poor Jim!
I'm sorry for him!
I'd rather by half
It had been Sir Ralph!"

Sheridan was at the head of the poll that evening.

A REMARKABLE LONG NINE.—Jack had taken his passage in the New Bedford stage, intending to ship on a whaling voyage. Just as the stage was about to start he purchased a long nine—one of the longest kind—which he lit and placed in his mouth, and then made a move to get in the stage. But he was taken all aback when the driver told him that he could have no smoke there.

However, Jack took a stand upon the side walk and puffed away like vengeance. Finally, all the passengers being in, Jack was called upon by the driver to take his seat, but he heeded him not, and the driver impatiently bawled out a second time;

Come, come, drop your cigar; all's ready.'

Well don't be in such a devilish nip muttered Jack, let me smoke it short enough to go into my hat won't you.'

A bad thing put into the mouth will sometimes bring a good thing out of it. An epicure while eating oysters swallowed one that was not fresh. "Zounds waiter!" he ejaculated, making a very wry face," "what sort of an oyster do you call this?"

"A native, sir," replied the wielder of the knife.

"A native! I call it a settler! so you need not open any more. What is to pay?"

A merchant, a few miles from Petersburg, Va. on opening a hogshead of hardware, and comparing its contents with the invoice of it found a hammer less than was charged therein. This he mentioned to a young Irishman, his assistant, who immediately exclaimed "och, my honey, don't be after bothering your head about that, didn't the nager take it out of the hogshead to open it with?"

SUICIDE.—Gabriel Ravel a few nights since at the Holliday Street Theatre, gave us a new idea in his plan of committing suicide without injuring the body. It certainly requires some reflection in adopting his method. He took a looking glass and placed it before him, and then after saying his prayers, he aimed the deadly weapon at himself in the mirror, pulled the trigger, and was blown to atoms! Now, if suicides were generally to adopt this plan, there would be more fools left in the world than there really are.—Balt. Transcript.

The Harrison Coat of Arms, which the family shall bear hereafter, when the hero becomes president, is described in Debret's Heraldry to be

"Two poles, rampant;
Cat, couchant;
Petticoat, pendant."
"Gules, or fools, prostrant."

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE subscriber has been informed that there is a report in circulation stating that he has disposed of his possessions on the Choptank, and ceased to keep the Cambridge Ferry. This report was undoubtedly gotten up by some malicious individual with a view of injuring the subscriber, and, if suffered to remain uncontroverted, the aim of its originator would certainly be attained. The subscriber, therefore, takes this method of informing his friends and the public, that there is not the slighest foundation in truth for the above mentioned report; but, on the contrary, he still keeps the Cambridge Ferry, and expects so to do the remainder of his days. His Boats are substantial, safe and in good order, and are under the management of as prompt, active, trusty and experienced hands as those belonging to any boat that has hitherto been, or may hereafter be, stationed on the above named ferry; while he keeps, as usual, good Horses and Carriages for the accommodation of travellers. He has signals on both sides of the river, which his boat will always answer with the utmost despatch, so that no one shall be kept waiting longer than shall be absolutely necessary.

The subscriber returns his thanks to his friends and the public for the very liberal patronage which he has heretofore received from them; and, as his long experience in the business, and his determinatian to use his best efforts to please, induce him to hope that he will give general satisfaction, he respectfully solicits a continuance of their favor.

EVERY BODY'S ALBUM:

A MONTHLY MAGAZINE OF

Humorous Tales, Essays, Anecdotes, &c. &c

EMBELLISHED WITH NUMEROUS

Grotesque & Amusing Engravings.

Each number containing seventy-two actavo pages, neatly covered and stitched—making at the end of the year two volumes of eight hundred and sixty-four pages, and at least six-hundred engravings with Tales and Index complete—at three dollars per annum.

The cheerful and pleasing feature with which it is proposed to diversity and distinguish this work has never yet been adopted by any one of the numerous literary caterers that have hitherto abounded in this country; its extensive novelty and the vast fund of humour and variety which will be interspersed throughout its pages, is calculated to render it a desirable and popular companion for the amusement of all classes who desire to possess an epitome of the works of celebrated Modern Humorists, Etchers and Engravers. The encouragement generally given to new undertakings, having salutary objects in view; has proved a decided public advantage, and it is questionable whether any other age has ever brought into active use so large a proportion of the really deserving offspring of genius and talents as the present. Assured that this periodical, affording, as it will, an elaborate and comprehensive collection of fanciful Illustrations, Satirical Essays in prose and verse, witty Tales, Quips, Quirks, and Anecdotes, and Facetiæ, must have a partial tendency (among its patrons at least) to divert into and other and more exhilirating channel much of the oppressive action of the mind, consequent upon the cares and vexations of business, the publisher anticipates for it a most flattering & extensive subscription list. The work, at all events, will be commenced on the first of July, and continued for one year, therefore every subscriber will be certain of receiving all the numbers for which he has paid. When the twelve numbers are completed and made up into two volumes, they will form one of the most desirable and amusing records of wit and humour which can be found in print. Let the public assist the publisher with their patronage, and he assures them he will leave nothing undone that will give celebrity and popularity to his work.

☞ The "EVERY BODY'S ALBUM" will be published monthly in numbers of 72 pages with a variety of embellishments—neatly stiched in colored covers—printed with new type, and on fine white paper, at three dollars per annum, payable in advanae. Two copies will be supplied to order, for one year, for five dollars. When sent to a distance from the city, the work will be packed in strong wrappers, to prevent the least rubbing by the mails.

☞ Notes of solvent banks of every description taken in payment of subscriptions. Address the publisher (postage paid.)

CHANCERY SALE.

BY the authority of a Decree of the High Court of Chancery, I will offer at public Sale, at the store of Noah Dixon, in the village of Church Creek, on Thursday the 10th NOVEMBER next, at eleven o'clock, A. M., the House and Lot in the said village, of which Caleb Griffin, died, seized, and possessed, and now occupied by Walter Kirby. Those who are disposed to purchase, can examine the premises, for themselves. The title is in fee simple, and believed to be indisputable.

By the terms of the Decree one-third of the purchase money must be paid on the day of sale, the residue in two equal instalments, upon a credit of six and twelve months, with interest, the purchaser giving note and security, to be approved by the trustee. Upon the payment of the whole amount, the property will be conveyed to the purchaser.
