The Farmer's

The Corn Crop.

The main object to be aimed at is to keep it clean from the time it is first worked until ready to lay by; but, as we have frequently stated, we decidedly oppose the use of the plough after the plants get to be of the height of 9 or 12 inches Then it shou'd be replaced by the cultivator, by the use of which the breaking and tearing of the lateral roots is avoided. These feeders undoubtedly stretch out several feet in every direction and as the pabulum which they appropriate for assimilation and the building up of the plant is taken in at their extremities, of course any plan of cultivation pursued which systematically breaks up these feeders several times during the growth of the crop, must cause a diminished yield, proportioned to the injury thus inflicted. When frequent rains fall, the damage to these feeding rootlets may be quickly repaired, since the vitality of the corn plant is very great, and fresh roots are quickly formed under favorable circumstances, but in times of drought the evil will not be so readily or quickly remedied, and the effects of the practice to which we refer will be discovered in a diminished yield and small ears.

It is a matter which can be easily tested, and a few rows only will afford opportunity of judging which plan is best to pursue with the crop

Do not allow the ground to become hard and baked; every shower that falls will form a crust upon the surface, through which the air, with its freight of fertilizing atoms, can not penetrate. The dews and rains of heaven and the atmospheric gases are Nature's manures, but that they may have full influence, we must keep the surface light and open, that both vapors and liquids may freely penetrate and circulate. The fight here is ever, as we note above, with the weeds. They drink up the moisture and nutritive principles which would otherwise go to the corn. To keep these down and to make the surface soil, finely pulverized, itself act as a mulch, is what we aim at in the constant stirring and opening of the soil; and to neglect it is to risk your crop.—American Farmer.

Hint to Tree Buyers.

It often happens that a nurseryman has so much of one kind that, to reduce it, he will sell considerably below the ordinary rate. To get the benefit of such cases it is an excellent plan to send for the price lists of a good many houses, several dozen perhaps, and among them the buyer will generally find some sorts offered, for the reason above given, at unusually low rates, and just as good as the best. If you wish to buy in considerable quantities, the saving will often be large; and in all cases it will be pretty certain to more than remunerate for postage and stationery expended in sending for price lists. Ask for wholesale price-lists—not catalogues merely. When you get them, compare prices carefully, and you will be surprised and gratified (as the writer has often been) to see at how large a reduction from regular rates your orders can be filled. The buyer should be guided somewhat by reputation, but the rule however holds good even among the best establishments.—New York Observer

PUMPKINS.—These make excellent, succulent feed for cows, and can be readily grown in with the corn. The earlier they are planted the better. Give each hill a shovel full of good manure, keep them clean and look out for the striped bug, which infests them. These destructive insects may be kept off, it is said, by dusting the vines when the dew is upon them in the morning, with a mixture compose of 1 bushel of ashes, ½ do. of plaster, and 1 pound each of sulphur and Scotch snuff Hand picking is a sure way of getting rid of them.—American Farmer.

BROOM CORN.—This crop should be grown on a dry, rich loamy soil, if attainable. It may be planted in drills or in hills. Keep the land clear of weeds, and cultivate generally as for the corn crop.—American Farmer.

SALT your stock once or twice a week, or give that often to each animal a tablespoonful of a mixture of equal parts of ashes, salt and lime.

Very few horses eat corned beef, but we saw one standing the other day before a store with a bit in his mouth

SOLUTION AND COMPOUND ELIXIR

TAR

FIRST AND ONLY SOLUTION ever made in one mixture of ALL THE TWELVE valuable active principles of the well known curative agent,

PINE TREE TAR,

SPECIFIC FOR CONSUMPTION!

This all-powerful vegetable preparation expels from the lungs and air passages the mucus and muco-pus produced by pulmonary inflammation, heals the irritated membranes, and renovates every organ which utilizes the breath of life. It contains no stupefying poison, and is in all respects a healthful medicine. The rapidity and certainty with which it is astonishing. Its effects go deeper than the mere symptoms of pulmonary disease and discharge the cause from the system. It relieves the lungs, chest and throat from the burdens which oppress them, thus arresting Consumption and Bronchitis in the germ before they reach the more dangerous stages. The emaciated sufferer

ANNIHILATES A COUGH

BATTLING FOR LIFE

with the most terrible scourge of our climate will find DR. GARVIN'S TAR REMEDY a potent ally, and will assuredly win the fight by adhering strictly to this balsamic medicine. By its VITALIZING, PURIFYING and STIMULATING effects upon the general system, it is remarkably efficacious in all

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD,

Including Scrofula and Eruptions of the Skin, Dyspepsia, Diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, Heart Disease, and General Debility. The

CASES NOW ON RECORD

in which it has been administered with entire success as a remedy for every variety of maladies which affect the respiratory functions, amount to

THOUSANDS

at the present date, and yet the preparation is only in the infancy of its usefulness. The great defect of all Expectorants introduced is that they are simply expletory. Hence they are useless; for, unless the causes of the acrid secretions which are coupled up are removed and the ruptured, inflamed or ulcerated surfaces healed and restored to their natural tone, a cure is impossible.

DR. GARVIN'S

TAR REMEDIES,

accomplish these objects. The mucus and mucopus which are the consequences of Lung Diseases, are thrown off by them, while at the same time they soothe and invigorate the weakened tissues. As for coughs, colds, influenza, bronchial difficulties, catarrh, asthma, diseases of the heart, liver, stomach and bowels, all female weaknesses, diseases of the skin, inflammation of the lungs, and all disorders of a pulmonary nature, they have never been equalled.

Ayer's

Sarsaparilla

Is widely known as one of the most effectual remedies ever discovered for cleansing the system and purifying the blood. It has stood the test of years, with a constantly growing reputation, based on its intrinsic virtues, and sustained by its remarkable cures. So mild as to be safe and beneficial to children, and yet so searching as to effectually purge out the great corruptions of the blood, such as the scrofulous and syphilitic contamination. Impurities, or diseases that have lurked in the system for years, soon yield to this powerful antidote and disappear. Hence its wonderful cures, many of which are publicly known, of Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Ulcers, Eruptions, and eruptive disorders of the skin, Tumors, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Pustules, Sores, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, and internal Ulcerations of the Uterus, Stomach, and Liver. It also cures other complaints, to which it would not seem especially adapted, such as Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Fits, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Female Weakness, Debility, and Leucorrhœa, when they are manifestations of the scrofulous poisons.

It is an excellent restorer of health and strength in the Spring. By renewing the appetite and vigor of the digestive organs, it dissipates the depression and listless languor of the season. Even when no disorder appears, people feel better, and live longer, for cleansing the blood. The system moves on with renewed vigor and a new lease of life.

HAIR

RENEWER.

Every year increases the popularity of this valuable Hair Preparation; which is due to merit alone. We can assure our old patrons that it is kept fully up to its high standard; and it is the only reliable and perfected preparation for restoring GRAY OR FADED HAIR to its youthful color, making it soft, lustrous, and silken. The scalp, by its use, becomes white and clean. It removes all eruptions and dandruff, and, by its tonic properties, prevents the hair from falling out, as it stimulates and nourishes the hair-glands. By its use, the hair grows thicker and stronger. In baldness, it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, and will create a new growth, except in extreme old age. It is the most economical HAIR DRESSING ever used, and gives the hair a splendid, glossy appearance. A. A. Hayes, M.D., State Assayer of Massachusetts, says, "The constituents are pure, and carefully selected for excellent quality; and I consider it the BEST PREPARATION for its intended purposes."
