Roosevelt Theatre Re-opens Xmas Day

Boasts Latest Innovations

The beautiful Deluxe Roosevelt Theatre, closed for the past few months, will be formally opened Christmas Day at 10:30 a.m. with the showing of a double feature program, consisting of a western, a mystery film and added short subjects.

Located on West Biddle Street, near Druid Hill Avenue, the new Roosevelt is being hailed as Baltimore's finest theatre for colored, boasting the latest comfort conveniences, a cool air system and a ventilating system.

The building has been converted into an imposing structure throughout. Its front is of stucco and brick finish. The lower part is decorated with structural glass with built-in display racks. The cashier's booth and doors are made of solid veneered walnut plywood.

The triangular marque with its decorative features is far more attractive than any other theatre in the city catering to colored clientele. The foyer, or lobby, boasts the latest in flourescent lighting.

Special attention has been given to acoustics and the latest style screen has been installed, while the stage curtains are controlled by automatic switches.

The opening screen productions beginning Thursday and running through Saturday will feature Buck Jones and Tim McCoy in "Arizona Bound" and Kenneth Kent in "House of Mystery." Two special added shorts, "Bagdad Daddy" and "Scrub Me Mama," will also be shown.

"Lady Scarface" Tops Pre-Holiday Offering on Royal Theatre Screen

"Lady Scarface," an unusual detective thriller dramatizing the sensational career of a gun-woman, with Dennis O'Keefe, Judith Anderson and Frances Neal topping the cast in this suspense-laden, action-packed melodrama, opens Friday at the Royal Theatre for a run of six days.

The second feature on the screen program, "You'll Never Get Rich," co-stars lovely Rita Hayworth and twinkle-footed Fred Astaire in what has been hailed as the year's mightiest bombardment of songs, laughs and girls.

As a special holiday attraction, the new musical sensations, and creators of "How about That Mess?" the Sunset Royal Orchestra, will head a gala stage show, opening Christmas Day.

Stars on Parade

By SHELDON HOSKINS

Hello, boys and girls!

Another swell "Stars on Parade" program is over and, with a song contest and nut rolling contest, we had loads of fun.

Charles Dudley won the YMCA membership award for his splendid singing of "This Love of Mine," while in the song contest, Gloria Hill won first prize singing "You and I."

A trio, composed of Earlene, Jeanette and Josie Smith won second prize, and Sylvia Boone won the third prize, with George Wilkinson winning the nut rolling contest.

Junior Misses Score

The Junior Misses delighted the audience with a song and dance routine. Taking part were Elizabeth Jayson, Elizabeth Clemons, Audrey Lattimore and Margaret and Catherine Johnson.

An acrobatic novelty by Harriet Valves and Doris Harper was well received by the audience.

Don't forget, next week we'll have more games and a swell program. So, join us, won't you?

In Comedy Cast

Miss Anderson Sings on Patriotic Program

NEW YORK. — Miss Marian Anderson, contralto, singing "The Star Spangled Banner" and the Leonard Depaur Choir singing a new composition "Bill of Rights," took part in the 150th anniversary observation of the adoption of the Bill of Rights on Monday night.

"Blood and Sand" Opens at Fremont

The thrill picture of the year, "Blood and Sand," co-starring Tyrone Power, Don Ameche and Rita Hayworth, and filmed in technicolor, opens Sunday at the Fremont Theatre. The program for Tuesday and Wednesday includes "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "Wild Geese Calling."

For Christmas Day, the Fremont is presenting Richard Arlen and Andy Devine in "Raiders of the Desert" and Hugh Herbert and Mantan Moreland in "Hello Sucker." For Friday and Saturday, Charles Starrett will be seen in "Texas Stampede" along with J. Carroll Naish in "Forced Landing."

"It Started with Eve" at the Lenox

Deanna Durbin, Charles Laughton and Robert Cummings will be seen on the screen of the Lenox Theatre beginning Sunday, in "It Started with Eve." The second hit is "Flying Deuces," co-starring Laurel and Hardy.
