Army Air Division Charged with Bias in Aircraft Plants

(By ANP)

WASHINGTON

If it is true that the army air corps intelligence division is responsible for selection or rejection of employees in certain aircraft plants, then the army stands accused once again of discriminatory practices against colored Americans seeking to serve the country, it has been pointed out.

From western sources, it has been revealed that the supervisory job done by the army air corps intelligence division has had a great influence in the selection of workers in some of the plants where no colored are employed. Just what part this division could play is not clearly stated.

Chaplain Appeals for Patriotism in Solution of Defense Housing Problem

By H. A. ROBINSON
Chaplain, 77th Coast Artillery

FORT DuPONT, Del. — We are at war. There is an immediate need for more rooms for defense workers in the principal towns and cities. It will greatly accelerate our defense efforts if all the women throughout the nation will find it convenient to report any information they may have regarding availability to defense workers of rooms they did not rent under peace-time conditions.

Lieut. Robinson

Such information may be distributed through schools and colleges, YMCA and YWCA secretaries.

Let us all co-operate with the government by demonstrating our sincere interest in the efforts now being made for our protection and security.

Shortage Not Actual

There is no actual shortage of rooms in many of the cities where our men and women do not find desirable accommodations. The problem, instead, is a selfish attitude on the part of many housewives not to accept roomers.

They should not only accept suitable roomers, but should be reasonable in setting their rental charges.

When the home itself is in danger, it therefore becomes the duty of every woman to do her share in the protection of that home. Unless we all co-operate, we may no longer have property we can claim as our own.

It is the responsibility of such private agencies as the YMCA and YWCA to keep their filing system and index cards on available rooms up to date each month, and make the information available to other institutions.

Then, too, a campaign should be put on to get people who do not need roomers, to open their doors to persons now being hired for government or defense work.

Have Public Duty

If our institutions are going to discharge their full duty and responsibility to the citizens in return for public donations and support, they must be on the alert as to the needs of our people, and especially so during the emergency.

I can think of no better services that can be rendered to the nation at present by charity organizations than to put on a campaign to get our best citizens to open up their homes to our civilian workers on the one hand, and not over-charge them on the other.

It is not the aim of charity organizations to pay salaries to leaders just to make speeches and provide entertainments and social programs; they must be ever ready to meet the increasing demands for efficient services and the needs of our people.

Camp Davis Gets Service Club

CAMP DAVIS, N.C. A guest house and service club the latter under the direction of Miss Carrie Hargreaves, senior hostess, were opened with appropriate ceremonies here on Sunday.

A library of 5,000 volumes is also available to the soldiers of the three colored regiments at Camp Davis, who form almost one third of the total of men at the camp. Mrs. H. H. Young is senior librarian.

Has Large Cafeteria

Miss Iona Crawford and ten assistants will take over duties in the club cafeteria which is equipped with a complete soda fountain, grill and has accommodations for over 100 persons at a time.

The large recreation hall, used for motion pictures and dances, is ordinarily used as a lounge by the soldiers when no special entertainment is in progress. The balcony of the hall is equipped with writing desks and stationery.

The guest house will be in charge of soldiers resident on the post, and visitors may stay there at a maximum of three days.

Spaulding Says We Will Profit in This War

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — "We are going to have a opportunity to fight more for our rights in this war," C. C. Spulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Life Insurance Company, Durham, stated in an address before the State Grand Lodge of Masons here on Tuesday.

"I am not surprised that we are in the war," the speaker stated. "For ever since that last war the races have been getting further apart. But this time, it will mean something very tangible for us to send our sons to fight for democracy, and we must succeed in view of all the discrimination we have faced.

Too Many Churches

"As a race, we must get to our places. We have too many churches and we are too little inclined to save. We must wake up and come to our senses. Horse sense went out with horses; what we need now is to get some automobile sense," the speaker averred.

Lauding Governor Broughton of North Carolina as a broad-minded individual, Mr. Spaulding pointed out that he is glorified when compared with the tyrannical Governor Talmadge of Georgia.

Need More Training

A capacity audience heard the insurance executive as he concluded his remarks by stating that colored Americans must give more attention to the doctrines of Booker T. Washington and devote more time and effort to vocational training.

LaGuardia Asked to Clarify Flyers' Part in Defense

HAMPTON INSTITUTE, Va. — Clarity on the position that colored flyers will play in the civilian air corps, was requested this week by Dr. Malcolm S. MacLean, president of Hampton Institute, in a letter to Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, national director of civilian defense.
