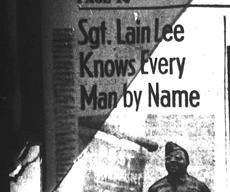
Sgt. Lain Lee Knows Every Man by Name



SERGT. LAIN LEE

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa.—One of the most interesting and energetic men you'll meet in any army camp is the top-ranking non-commissioned officer here in the 1325 Service Unit Motor Transport. He is 1st Sgt. Lain L. Lee.

It is quite possible that Sergeant Lee knows every man in his unit by name — and no one only knows his name, but how to get the man's cooperation. Sergeant Lee, if the truth must be told, runs the motor unit.

He does the office work all first sergeants have to do. Then he directs his own version of a community sing. He has charge of hundreds of records and two combination radio-phonographs, which the men use for dances.

Born in Tennessee

And now that the camp has a three-times-a-week spot on the air, Sergeant Lee will probably be asked to suggest the contribution of the colored group.

The first sergeant was born in Nashville, Tenn., but his family moved to Pennsylvania soon after. Sergeant Lee was for many years with the National Park Service, Department of the Interior, and stationed at Gettysburg, Westford and Schnecksville game preserves. He enlisted and came to Indiantown Gap February 12 last year.

Soldiers at Indiantown, Gap, Pa., Have Important Jobs to Do

No. 2—Post exchange books had just been issued, which accounts for the happiness shown on the faces of the soldiers at Indiantown Gap last Friday afternoon.

No. 3—A selectee gets mightily hungry from one meal to another, and to satisfy that craving for food, the cooks shown above are kept busy in the mess. Left to right they are: Vernon Routh, Indianapolis, Ind., Preston P. Sims, Philadelphia, Pa., and James L. Thompson, Philadelphia.

Sgt. in 369th to Be Cited for Heroism

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass. — Sgt. J. Raymond Galmore, formerly of Baltimore, now stationed here with the 369th Coast Artillery unit, is to be cited for bravery as a result of his heroic efforts resulting in the saving of the lives of four fellow-soldiers, three months ago.

The unit was en route to Ft. Ontario, N.Y., when fire broke out in a kitchen truck of Battery A on which four men were riding. Sgt. Galmore who is the motor sergeant of Battery B, saw the flames and went to the rescue. As he opened the door of the truck, one of the trapped men accidentally kicked over a five-gallon can of gasoline which ignited and exploded in Sgt. Galmore's face. Someone in an attempt to quench the flames, sprayed acid from a fire extinguisher into Sgt. Galmore's eyes blinding him for four days.

Sgt. Galmore

All Men Saved

Nevertheless, all of the men were saved and received treatment first at a Catholic Hospital in Little Falls, N.Y., and later at the Civilian Conservation Camp Hospital and the Westerfield Hospital in Chicopee, Mass.

In recognition of his brave and prompt efficiency, Sgt. Galmore is in line for promotion to staff sergeant in charge of motor transport of his battery. He has served thirteen years with the 369th (A unit which was formerly the 369th Infantry, New York National Guard.

Men Have Plenty Fun at Indiantown Gap

By OLLIE STEWART

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa.—It is my firm conviction that the boys at this post have as much fun as any soldiers in Uncle Sam's Army. I say this after having been a guest in 25 other camps. I had as much fun here as in any camp previously visited.

In the first place, the colored group is so small that in one afternoon I got to know practically everybody in the motor transport outfit. In the second place, you never saw any group as proud of its area, its landscaping or its facilities.

One unique feature here is that the post exchange is run by soldiers. I've never seen this anywhere before. The three men who work in the PX (and make about thirty bucks a month extra) are Pvt. Thomas J. Carney of Philadelphia, Pvt. Clarence Hill, Monessen, Pa., and Pvt. Moses R. Driver, Monessen.

Cleanest on the Coast

This PX is the cleanest I have seen from Massachusetts to Florida. It is well stocked, the soda fountain and tables remind one of a corner drug store, and the place is available all day, and on Sundays.

The men have a day room with a large assortment of book and magazines, and just before I arrived "the Citizens' Committee of the Army and Navy, Inc., sent to the group 150 sweaters and 300 additional books.

There is a recreation hall that is used for dances and other events. There is a dance on the post once a month. Men go to the movies in the white area.

Softball Champions

The colored softball team won the post championship, playing all white teams. There is an excellent basketball squad now lining up games for the season.

The swing band is small but good. It consists of Pfc. George Peters, piano; Pvt. Joseph Jones, drums; Pvt. Fleming, bass fiddle; Pvt. Daniold F. Gay, trumpet; Pvt. 2nd Cl. Larry Brice, saxophone.

New Veterans' Facility to Be Erected in Va.

CHICAGO, Ill. — (ANP) — A new veterans' facility for colored soldiers will be opened at Kecoughtan, Va., around February 2, Frank T. Hines, administrator of the veterans' administration, Washington, informed D. M. O. Bousfield of the National Medical Association, on Friday.

The new hospital will be a general institution of 140 beds, with a staff of five physicians and seventeen nurses. This staff will be transferred from Tuskegee, which at present has the only facility exclusively for colored veterans. Physicians and nurses on the Civil Service list will be sent to Tuskegee.

Fruit of 8-Year Fight

Dr. Bousfield asserted that during the eight years of NMA agitation for additional facilities, colored wings accommodating twenty-five to fifty veterans, had been added to white facilities. The NMA then started campaigning for colored staffs in these wings while at the same time continuing the fight for another general hospital.

Erection of a facility had been sought at Hampton Institute but until recently (about) authorities had not favored this proposal. It is hoped that now, with the backing of Hampton officials, a hospital will eventually be opened there.

Greek-Letter Groups Unite in Progress Move

(By ANP)

Preliminary phases of a joint program for general improvement of the race's status were discussed here last week by representatives at nine national Greek-letter collegiate organizations.

The meeting, held at Howard University at the instigation of James E. Scott, national polemarch of the Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, was a forerunner of a broader session to be held about March 1.

Plan Joint Lobby

Objectives include establishment of a jointly supported national lobby, general education and vocational guidance through a system of radio and newspaper forums and eventual inclusion of colored citizens in a "truly American democratic pattern."

A definite program, based on a scientific study of present racial conditions, is to be formulated by a national planning board of non-partisan experts, appointment of which is a part of the agenda for the March meeting.

8 Groups Represented

Groups represented at last week's meeting were Kappa Alpha Psi, Omega Psi Phi, Alpha Phi Alpha and Phi Beta Sigma Fraternities; Delta Sigma Theta, Iota Phi Lambda, Phi Delta Kappa, Alpha Kappa Alpha and Sigma Gamma Rho Sororities.

Three representatives from each of these social sorority groups are expected to attend the meeting in March.

Christmas Spirit in Full Sway at Lee

CAMP LEE, Va.—Soldiers remaining on this post through the Christmas holidays will participate in a well-rounded program, which has been worked out by the chaplains, hostesses and recreation officers.

While the Service Club which will be the hub of events, has been decorated in yuletide trimmings for the past two weeks, the holiday events began with a pre-Christmas worship service around the theme, "Christmas Around the World," in the 9th Regiment chapel on Sunday.

The regiment's choral club sang carols at this service. In the evening, the band played a concert of selected Christmas music at the Service Club. The 9th Regiment Variety Show, a regular program featuring talented soldiers, was held in the club on Monday night.

Community Service

The traditional Christmas eve service, beginning at 11 p.m., will be conducted by Chaplains Samuel F. Giles and Robert A. Bryant of the 9th Regiment. Chaplain Giles will preach the sermon.

A Christmas day Protestant service will be held at 10:15 a.m., following mass for Catholic soldiers at 8:45 a.m.

Chaplain Giles and a committee of enlisted men will visit the Station Hospital from 12 to 6 p.m. on Christmas Day.

Dinner Menu

One pound of turkey for each man is the Christmas dinner allotment. The menu includes celery and olives, fruit cup, tomato soup, sage dressing, giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, squash, lettuce with Russian dressing, hot rolls and butter, mince pie and cheese, ice cream, chocolate eclair, fruit, mixed nuts, candy and mints.

Social Events

Two companies will hold a dance in the Service Club on Friday evening. Another party is scheduled for soldiers of the 9th Regiment and the 8th Medical Battalion on December 30 and another dance will be held on January 2.

A general recreation and singing program will take place in the Service Club on New Year's eve and several informal get-together parties will be held in the club on New Year's Day.

Do You Know How to Buy Life Insurance?

You Get More for Your Money in Ordinary Insurance Than Industrial Insurance; Savings Bank Insurance Is Least Expensive—If You Can Get It

SAVINGS BANK	$250-UP	MONTHLY QUARTERLY YEARLY	MAIL OR AT BANK	YES	LOW

PICTOGRAPH CORPORATION, FOR PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, INC.

Did you buy the life insurance which you are carrying or was it sold to you?

Do you have too little or too much insurance and are you paying too much for it?

Answers to these questions and to many others are contained in the pamphlet, "How to Buy Life Insurance," by Maxwell S. Stewart, just issued by the Public Affairs Committee, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City.

Four Basic Types

"There are four basic types of insurance, the pamphlet points out—ordinary, $500 and up; industrial, $100 and up; group and savings bank, $250 and up.

"Savings bank insurance, not available in many States, is declared to be the least expensive of these. It may be paid monthly, quarterly or yearly by mail or in person at the bank where it was issued. It requires a physical examination, but its premiums are lower and it provides a cash value after six months and a loan value after one year's premium has been paid.

What to Insure for

People ets taking out insurance are cautioned to decide first whether the insurance is intended as savings or as protection. Once this is determined, the problem then is how much insurance to take out.

Working on the theory that the chief purpose of insurance is to replace the income which one would have provided for dependents had he lived out his working years, it is possible to determine just how much an individual needs.

How It Works Out

A man of 35 earning $1500 a year $900 of which is used for his support of his family, could count on working another thirty years. If, good, men, should be enough insurance (taking interest into account) to provide $27 000 over the next thirty years.

Insurance to the amount of $18,000 would be enough for his family. Patton and Turner, and Corp. F. C. Grimes,

Army Will Depend on Draftees for Growth

CHICAGO, Ill. (ANP) — Opportunities for volunteering for army or navy service will soon be closed and additions to all armed forces except the air corps will come from Selective Service lists, it was revealed here last week as recruiting officers of the Sixth Corps Area began accepting colored enlistments.

The decision to use draftees exclusively to expand the armed forces is expected to end a delicate question. Although colored persons are now being trained in all branches of the army, the navy restricts colored to mess attendants.

If men are drafted into the navy, under the Selective Service Act, colored men will be accepted by all branches and any attempt to draft them solely as messmen would undoubtedly bring serious repercussions.

Defense-Work Fight Won in North Jersey

(By ANP)

Information from Paterson, N.J., coming through the office of Dr. Robert Weaver of OPM shows a changed attitude concerning the training of colored workers for employment in the airplane plants in that community.

It is reported that the Paterson Vocational School, which in the past had barred colored students, or flunked them out to prevent their acquiring new skills in machine shop practice, finally listened to the OPM representative and admitted six youths to the course.

On December 6 they were graduated with high standings in a large class and the next day placed on jobs in the Wright Aeronautical Corporation plant.

Clarence Mitchell, OPM's field representative in this area, is credited with breaking down this barrier.

Youth Camps Five Days at Navy Door to Become Flunkie

NEW YORK—Roscoe Robin Yates, Jr., 20 years old and, until December 11, homeless, saw hundreds of white applicants for the navy accepted before he was finally admitted as an attendant to the officers' mess on his fifth allday vigil at the navy recruiting office at 90 Church Street.

Following the flood of applicants since the Japanese assault on Hawaii on December 7, 206 men had been accepted before 1 p.m. on the day Yates was eventually assigned to learn table-waiting technique at the Naval Training Station at Newport, RI.

(By ANP)

WASHINGTON

Representatives were made here last week to the priorities division of the OPM by officials of the Long Island City, N.Y., Spring Factory and Charles Collier of the New York Urban League to grant the overtime metal allotments to prevent a threatened shut-down and dismissal of workers, including 400 colored persons.

Selassie Predicts Doom of Axis; Invites Immigration

ADDIS ABABA (ANP) — "The battle will be long but victory is certain," said Haile Selassie today in the first interview he had given since the fall of Gondar to British troops on November 27 and raised Italy's flag in East Africa and restored the Negus to his entire kingdom for the first time.

"I have sent President Roosevelt word that all Ethiopia's efforts at stamping out aggression have our prayers and our warmest moral support," the emperor stated. "While Ethiopia cannot yet offer more than this to the common cause, we give this heartily."

He declared that Ethiopia has already laid claim to Eritrea and Italian Somaliland as part of Mussolini's empire she seeks to have deeded to her after the war and that Ethiopia earnestly desires her own outlet to the sea independent of French Djibouti capital of French Somaliland.

Trained Men Wanted

"I suggest you make known as widely as possible to the United States that Ethiopia needs and wants as many trained, high-calibre men as America can spare," volunteered the emperor. According to his views, the best course to pursue in making application for work in Ethiopia would be for the applicants to apply at the American consulate in Aden, and make known their qualifications.

Wheeling Lays Plans to Fight Air Attacks

WHEELING, W.Va. — Plans are under consideration here for the construction of a seaplane base on the Ohio River near here and the training of a civilian air patrol system under military control, for the protection of Wheeling's industrial district, it was revealed last week.

The proposed base is seen as the means of establishing confidence and reassuring the public that there is no possibility of protecting local industrial plants in the event of attack.

197 Trainmen to Get $8,720 Wage Raise

ST. LOUIS—(ANP)—A wage increase of $8,720 a year was gained for 197 train porters and brakemen in an agreement signed here last week by the Brotherhood of Trainmen, Brakemen, Porters, Switchmen, Firemen, and Railway Employees, Inc., and the representatives of four southwestern railroad companies.

War-Time Christmas Observance Calls for Serious Reflection, Says Chaplain

By H. A. ROBINSON
Chaplain, 77th Coast Artillery

FORT DuPONT, Del. In this critical period of our national history, it is difficult to discuss a holiday norm illy so full of rejoicing as our Christmas.

One year ago our country was free and strong and at peace. Today we are still free and stronger than ever before, but we are at war. Our moral and physical defenses against the forces of aggression are mounting daily in magnitude and effectiveness.

H. A. Robinson

Last Christmas we were able to pray for other suppressed people who were less fortunate than ourselves in various parts of the world. Today we shall still pray for others, and at the same time for victory and the enduring peace which we hope will follow the war.

Liberties at Stake

In the interest of our own future, we shall, with others abroad, who are allied with us in our fight against aggression, both pray and work for God-inspired victory.

Many of our forefathers, the courageous pioneers of this great nation possible, came to these shores so that they could practice their religion according to the dictates of their conscience. They left us a glorious heritage.

Yet, today there are those who forget that religion, and the freedom it promotes, which has gave an incentive to the molding of a democracy, which is still the admiration of a distressed world.

The permanence of our democracy depends upon the virtue and morality which are taught by religion.

So today in a religious atmosphere, we find a demonstration of patriotism and loyalty to the principles of Christianity which is evidence of our Faith in God.

Young men must be willing and ready to make sacrifices, even to throw down the gage of battle to save our tomorrow intact and make our future secure against the enemies of society, which will impair and threaten our security. We must take our Saviour with us into battle.

For our young men to be found intoxicated and unable to perform their daily duties and discharge their obligations to the nation.

Let us all forfeit those pleasures which we usually indulge in at this season of the year and pray to God for our welfare and our security. Let us offer services to the nation if called upon without complaint.

Just as we have enjoyed a period of prosperity together, we must also be willing to serve our nation as a unity and without prejudices. Let us ask the Divine blessing on our decision and determination to protect our homes, our churches, our property and our lives against the forces of evil.

Today, the United States is a strong nation, united in effort, and composed of a religious people. It is this last-mentioned element which has contributed most to our present degree of success in the world.

Religious Element Vital

The slightest acquaintance with American history, however, will show that the main reason for this nation's stability is found in the Constitution itself, and in the sacrifices made by the citizens, and the religious element which was so necessary and essential to our national welfare.

Fate of a Grumbling Soldier . . .

By PVT. NORMAN P. AMES

There was a grumbling soldier, Who grumbled the whole year through.

What wasn't was the ought to be, What was, was always wrong. He didn't like his station, And he made it plain, you see. It is this last-mentioned element which has contributed most to our present degree of success in the world.

F. D Asked to Abolish Navy's Jim-Crow Policy

NEW YORK—President Roosevelt, as Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy, has been asked to issue an immediate order to the navy to abandon its jim crow policy, the NAACP announced this week.

The action was taken by the association after a similar request to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox brought the following reply from the Bureau of Navigation, Navy Department:

"There has been no change in the navy's policy regarding the enlistment of men in the colored race, and for the time being no change is contemplated."

The appointment of a colored man to serve as a dollar-a-year man in the Office of Production Management is expected to be announced shortly, although the appointment could not be confirmed in that office.

Congressman Fish Begins Probe of Enlistment Bias

WASHINGTON

Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York, in a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives on Wednesday, stated that he proposes to find out what is keeping colored volunteers from being accepted into the armed forces of the United States.

Pointing out that he had received information from Philadelphia and Detroit that colored were not being allowed to enlist, he contended that there should be at least half a dozen colored divisions included in the 4,000,000-man army Congress proposes to have established by the end of the year.

Quieter Adjutant General

He revealed that he has sent a letter to Major Gen. Emory S. Adams, adjutant general of the War Department, seeking information in regard to the volunteering of colored citizens. The letter stated, in part:

"It seems to me that inasmuch as we are fighting this war for freedom and democracy there should be no distinction whatever between our colored and white citizens in our armed forces and that colored should not only be permitted but encouraged to volunteer.

"If we are to have an armed force of 7,000,000 men, approximately 700,000 will be colored soldiers.

"I am further interested to know in what way and how done to organize colored divisions."

"Who Has a Better Right . . ."

Referring to a short tour of service served with colored troops at Fort Bragg, N.C., during July, he stated that the officers, white officers heading the anti-aircraft, artillery, infantry and engineer units there, and added that all the colored troops are doing fine. "Who has a better right to fight for freedom and democracy than the colored men of America?" Congressman queried. "Of course they are entitled to enlist, and I propose to find out what is preventing them from being accepted."

W.Va. State Has Four in Federal Jobs

INSTITUTE, W.Va. The committee on placement at West Virginia State College has announced that four students who passed the Civil Service examination for positions as junior stenographers and file clerks, have been called to Washington to work in the Federal Government.

These students are:

Miss Ruth Wade senior of Little Rock, Ark. Miss Wade took the examination last June, received a rating of 95, and placed in October in the Office of Production Management. Salary, $1440.

Ranked Third In Group

Miss Juanita Shaw, junior, of Steubenville, Ohio, was ranked third highest in a group taking the examination last summer. She is now employed in the Treasury Department.

Miss Jean Davis, senior, of Charleston, S.C., leaves on December 29 for Washington where she is to take a position as junior stenographer in the Bureau of Public Information.

She made a grade of 92 on the examination taken during the summer.

George Morgan Clark, sophomore of Washington is now employed as file clerk in the Census Department.

All were students in the department of business administration and received most of their training in clerical work under E. R. Armstead.

Hampton Cancels Exams to Train for Defense Jobs

HAMPTON INSTITUTE, Va.— Formal midyear examinations have been canceled at Hampton Institute as the school launches a campus-wide program of integrating the work of students and teachers into the nation's war effort, Dr. Malcolm S. MacLean, president, announced last week.

Other means of evaluating students' work will be used," Dr. MacLean said, "and the examination week in January will be used to train every student and staff member in at least one of the twenty-five vital civilian defense jobs or in some other phase of national defense work.

Plans are already under way with the Hampton Roads Defense Council to send hundreds of these students out into the field to train colored persons in key defense jobs in each of the sixteen Virginia counties that comprise the defense area.

Working wi h OPM

Dr MacLean added that plans are now being worked out with the OPM in each of the colleges and trades offered and that this division might conceivably go on a twenty-four hour schedule of training men and producing vital defense materials.

"Our division of agriculture has notified the government that it is ready to turn over its facilities to intensified teaching, cultivation of crops and production," the president said further. "We are prepared to begin growing and canning these products the nation needs most in this crisis."

FA Training Unit Speeds Up Its Program

By PVT. WALTER J. McLEAN

FORT BRAGG, N.C. Well aware of the fact that the nation will need expert artillerymen to increase the personnel of the regular colored field artillery units, the 16th Battalion in the Field Artillery Replacement Center has tightened up its training program.

Immediately following the declaration of war, instructors were informed to use all available time in actual training. Every instructor of this unit has been provided with an student study, who will be trained to "take over" in case the instructor is are transfer ed to combat unit.

Athletic and Recreation Officer Lt. Frank L. Pyle has also stated that in order to maintain a high standard of morale the recreation program will be accentuated in keeping with the training program.

Holiday Events Planned

Plans are being made to install a lib ary in the Recreation Hall, and the A and R staff is busy with rehearsals for a three-act musical to be presented the last half of the holiday season.

Dances have already been scheduled for the holiday season.

Commander Well Liked

Lt Col. R. B. Willis, commander of the 16th Battalion, attained his rank through the ranks, and is commanding officer of a unit which is one of his pet projects in the brass band, which three years ago a half months old is already one of the best on the post, Col. Willis is well liked.

Racial Issue Figures in Probe of Defense Training Program

WASHINGTON

Radical changes in the defense vocational training program were recommended to the House Friday by its Select Committee Investigating National Defense Migration.

The group's second interim report dealt with the full use of the nation's industrial capacity and labor supply in the war effort, and was based on investigations, in which charge of racial discrimination figured prominent.

Migration Attacked

Immediate changes in the war program called for by the committee include conversion of existing plant facilities to military production so as to avoid unnecessary and unplanning migrations resulting from disempl oyment arising from defense locations.

Training of the unemployed for war production would be shifted from the several Federal agencies now administering this program to the Work Projects Administration, which would pay trainees while learning.

Would Remove Restrictions

Also proposed was elimination of provisions which limit WPA assistance and defense training to the unemployed certified by relief agencies, and lead to discriminatory practices against non-relients.

The committee had previously reported that sub-penal discrimination was practiced against qualified local colored workers and that this practice led many employees to induce considerable migration of white ican people was being undermined by undemocratic discrimination against minority groups.

Pledges of Support Give F. D. Courage to Carry On

WASHINGTON.

The President's appreciation of the whole-hearted support which the National Negro Congress, in the name of the colored people, pledged to him in this country's war against Japan was expressed last week in a letter to Max Yergan, president of the organization.

The letter, written by Mr Roosevelt's secretary, Marvin H. McIntyre, in reply to a telegram from Mr. Yergan, said in part:

"The pledges of patriotic support which have been received from the many, many loyal citizens in all parts of the country have given the President strength and courage to carry out the will of the American people. For the splendid assurance conveyed in your message he is more appreciative than he can say."

Woman, 100, Tells How to Avoid Wars

AUGUSTA, Ga.—Mrs. Mariah Dixon, now past the 100-year mark, who has never had a doctor nor a serious illness, has seen America through four wars, and wonders why we fight.

According to her philosophy, there wouldn't be any wars "if nations would attend to their own business and leave other countries alone."

99th Airmen Surprised to Find South Not So Sunny

TUSKEGEE, Ala.— (ANP)— The 99th Pursuit Squadron and its supporting detachments, the base group, are now in the deep South, but many of the boys from the Northern States, who had heard stories of the sunny South, have learned that this section of the country is not all that the name implies.

The men are being quartered in Tent City until barracks are completed. They have found that the South is not so warm as they had thought it would be.

Tent City is made up of thirty tents, for the enlisted men, three for the aviation cadets, a bath house, one hall and latrine. Plumbing facilities are sufficient and sanitary. Drinking water is brought into Tuskegee under supervision of the medical department.

Food Is Fattening

Meals are prepared under the supervision of Staff Sergt. Hendry T. McLendon, Jr., on field kitchens heated with butane gas. The food is plentiful and fattening, though it may not always suit every man's taste. Considering the handicaps of the setup, things are being done exceptionally well here.

The cantonment area is nine miles from Tuskegee Institute and a like distance from the Veterans Administration, but ready access to both is provided by the transportation officer. Both the school and the community have thrown open their doors to the members of the squadron.

Tuskegee has accepted the men as its own and is showering them with Southern hospitality. Numerous invitations to homes have been received. The invitations will accept. The library offers man, good books for those who do not study.

75 Chanute Men Here

Although over 400 men left Chanute Field only seven months ago, thirty-five are stationed here. Others are at Maxwell Field at Montgomery, Ala., for training with the quartermaster corps. They will be sent on here when living facilities permit.

Despite the unexpected cold, the handicaps under which food is prepared and eaten and the distance the men must travel for social contacts, the morale of the squadron are comfortable, happy and consider it an honor to be here to help KEEP EM FLYING.
