Mrs. Marie Lyon Wed to John Vidal in New York City

with Lulu Jones Garrett

Mrs. Marie Lyon, widow of the late Dr. Bernard Lyon, and mother, recently a resident of Baltimore, became the bride of John J. Vidal, Manhattan Terrace Saturday noon.

The two slipped off quietly to the courthouse and were married by a judge with only her sister Mrs. Ellie Hylton and a friend as witnesses.

The bride wore a street frock and matching hat of blue under a military green coat which had been the honorable gift of her bridegroom.

They are now ensconced at 301 W. 145th Street where they have just completed furnishing a swank apartment.

The romance began in October while she was visiting in New York where she met Mr. Vidal through mutual friends.

He must have been a very persuasive gentleman, for by the end of November she was wearing a gorgeous ring of original design and a cut-to-order diamond.

By December they had selected an apartment stripped it of original decorations and were refurbishing it from top to bottom.

Mr. Vidal is the owner of a 29th Street shop which caters mainly to the theatrical and Hollywood set. Though now a citizen of this country, he is originally from the West Indies.

Wearing a tailor-fitted white satin gown and carrying a bible garlanded in satin streamers and bridal bouquet, Charlotte Williams became the bride of Theodore Johnson, at St. James Episcopal Church, Saturday evening.

Her sister, Mrs. Nellie Jones, served as matron of honor. She wore rose taffeta trimmed with tiny maroon velvet bows, and a maroon colored hand dress.

Miss Julia Johnson and Miss Mary Tyler wearing identical dresses of taffeta in rust and gold and carrying old fashioned bouquets were bridesmaids.

Norbert Lee was best man and Levi Adams and Paul Scott were ushers.

The bride was given in marriage by her godfather, James Bowling. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Alexander Williams.

Father Cedric Mills read the ceremony and the nuptial music was by the choir, with William Parrott at the console.

A reception followed at the home of the bride.

Mme Belle Rosette and her West Indian dancers, who appeared in a recital at the Baltimore Museum of Art, Friday night, were entertained on Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. J. Logan Jenkins, Jr.

Mme Rosette's troupe included Pearl Primus, Clementine Blunt, Frieda McCurnie, dancers, Alphonse Cimber and Norman Cove, drummers and Lionel Belasco, pianist and composer.

The guests of the Jenkinses included:

Georgia McMechen Giles, Dulcie Woods, Katrine White, Elmira Miller, Meredith Birchett, Sheldon Hoskins.

Louise Berry, Vivian Alleyne, Mattie White, Genevieve Harris, Dr. David Campbell, Dr. J. E. Lawrence, Dr. Albert LaForest, Ruth Johnson, Alexander Reason.

Miss J. Siedman Grieg, Mrs. Betty Beasley, Mrs. Justine Pope and Richard Hunt.

Mrs. Harris took the group on a tour of Morgan College and Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Alleyne also entertained for them prior to their leaving for New York City.

Add to those tucked in Mary Lathan, secretary at Dunbar High School, as results of an accident sustained while en route to school on a trackless trolley, January 4. Add to the Griffin family a daughter on Christmas Day. She has been named Royce Parthenia and is the daughter of Cornelius (artist) and Millicent (Chester, Pa. school marm) and the granddaughter of the Cyrus Griffins of Ivesdale.

Pretty platonic is the friendship between Bobby Lewis of this town and Audrey Walker of New York. And you baffle the gentlest over word for if there has been any thought of marriage it has been in the grooves minds only, he says.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hicks entertained at dinner Sunday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Wheatley.

Their guests were:

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Wood, Dr. and Mrs. Miles W. Connor, Dr. and Mrs. J. Douglas Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Gough and Reinold Lightner of Howard University, Mrs. Edward Lewis, Miss Ruth White and Dr. and Mrs. Wheatley.

Mary Johnson hosted entertainment at the Pleasaders Saturday night as a party for her husband, Ernest Davis on furlough.

About were the Henry Wells, Warren Weavers, Cliff Murrays, Edward Smalls, Bob Ashbys, Jr. Wells, Irma Dailey, Hermione and Jenny Kang and the hitters' escorts.

Herbert Augustus came from Kentucky during the New Year holiday to place a ring on that certain finger of Juanita Johnson, and there's some suspicion that they met a preacher though the picturesque naivety smile when you inquire. She's a Morgan student and daughter of the Truewell Johnsons.

Lawrence Cornbrooke president of the Clarendon Sebaurans, was hostess at their initial meeting of the year in the absence of Walter Garrett, who has recently joined the armed forces.

Plans for the Fellowship Hour at the USO on the 24th of this month were completed. Plans were also made for the establishment of an interest group of the chapter in Coppin Teachers College. This group will be composed of students who maintain an average of 90 per cent beginning with February.

Attending the meeting were: Terrie Gilmore, William Brent, Helen Howard, Katherine McLaurin, Lenore Cornbrooke, Rosalind Rogers, Marie Walker, Eileen Struthers and Robert Umphery.

In our study of world current events we find an outstanding fact that seems to have escaped many others and that is Closed Doors are being opened. So many countries are compelling all secret organizations to either disband or open their doors to the public. In our judgment this is prophecy being fulfilled. Nothing shall be hidden but that shall be uncovered and every dark thing shall be brought to light. Why fear any organization whether fraternal, religious or political want to meet behind closed doors anyway? What do they have to hide? Why can't they come out in the open?
