ville, Sr., band leader of a veterans' infantry regiment now on duty in the Pacific theatre of war.

Youngest Colored Cadet

Born in Galveston, Tex., May, 1921, (youngest colored cadet and one of the youngest of any of the men commissioned from West Point), Lieut. Tresville, a typical army child, has lived in New York City, in the deserts of Arizona at Douglas, and Columbus, near Fort Benning, Ga.

Former Southern Junior Tennis champion and a nationally ranked player, Tresville completed his secondary education at the Germantown High School in Philadelphia, living at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tresville of Germantown.

Excelling in his class work, he also won letters in track, tennis, swimming and football. After graduating in June, 1938, he attended Pennsylvania State College, but in March of his freshman year was appointed to West Point by Congressman Mitchell of Chicago. He entered the academy on July 1, 1939, at the age of seventeen.

Cadet Robert B. Tresville, 2nd, of Philadelphia, mounts platform to get his West Point commission as a second lieutenant.

Cadet Clarence M. Davenport, Jr., of Detroit, shows his sheepskin to his pa and ma.

Mrs. Mabel E. Flask, Detroit, congratulates Davenport. She got Congressman George O'Brien, white, to nominate him for West Point.

no leaves of absences would be granted any teachers because of the acute shortage of instructors.

John C. Patterson, inter-American educational relations director, told the Washington AFRO that if local school boards like Baltimore's refused to release their teachers, there was nothing to do but select someone else.

Miss Garrett, teacher of English at Booker T. Washington Junior High School, is a graduate of Benedict College and Atlanta University.

Others to Go

Others who have been named to make the trip include: Dr. Forest O. Williams, professor of French and philosophy at N.C. College; John M. Moore, professor of French at Va. Union University, and Arthur S. Carter, now employed by the Social Security Board in Washington.

justice" on the race question.

"I have practiced what I preach. I have lived on this campus and made my friends and enemies, too, on a basis of common brotherhood and mutual respect," the departing president said.

Dean Lanier, the new acting president, was away from the campus at the time of the announcement. He is a native of Winston-Salem, N.C., was educated at Lincoln University (Pa.), Stanford, Harvard, and New York universities.

New Prexy Father of Four

He is married and the father of four children and has had considerable teaching and administrative experience in various colleges. He was assistant director of the colored division of the NYA when Dr. MacLean came to Hampton from the University of Minnesota where he headed the general college.

In an AFRO interview, Dr. MacLean revealed that Hampton is accepting a class of 128 apprentice seamen each month from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station in Illinois.

Each sixteen weeks, he said, a class is graduated, so that at all times there are 512 men undergoing training at Hampton.

Members of the first graduating class, he said, have all been placed at various naval bases or at other tasks. "The training program," he said, "is an excellent one and going very well at this time. I am certain that it will count heavily in the long run."

ference of the Washington District in May, 1941. He was then pastor of Randall Methodist Church.

Born in Greensboro County, W. Va., he attended elementary and high schools there and was later a classmate of Booker T. Washington at Wayland Seminary, now Virginia Union University. He joined the Washington Conference in 1880 and was assigned to the Asbury Church at Gettysburg, Pa.

Saw Wide Service

Subsequently he served charges in Maryland, West Virginia, Missouri, Illinois, where he founded St. Mark Church of Chicago; Kentucky and Virginia, where his civic activity led to the appointment of the first colored public school teachers in Lynchburg.

The minister's first wife, whom he married in Gettysburg in 1881, died in April, 1911. They had a son, the late Dr. Basel Curry, and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Curry David, assistant dean of women at Claflin College.

In 1913 he married Miss Frances Morton, of Pomeroy, O., who survives, as do two children of his son.

ALL FUMBLING!
While doubtless doing their best, Negro leaders are fumbling our best opportunity. It is a clear-cut case of the blind leading the blind.
The time has come for the Negro group to turn over a "New Leaf"; the author of "Essentialism" holds the "Master Key" to that operation. It is a proven plan. All can work at it. Results seen immediately. Sounds too good to be true, but this is no fooling. The author will deliver this key before any Negro society or club on the terms that it must "square" with logic and with what has been done, or he will pay the expenses. Demote WMC Head Who Muffed Jobs

The Baltimore Area, War Manpower Commission, has been expanded to include jurisdiction over the entire State, and Lawrence B. Fenneman, former regional director, has been named to replace Royden A. Blunt, Baltimore Area director.

Mr. Blunt will remain with the commission in an advisory capacity. It had been rumored that he planned to resign; one of the reasons advanced being his failure to obtain employment for qualified colored persons through voluntary agreements in line with the President's Executive Order 8802.

Authority Extended

Matters affecting the Baltimore Area which previously had to be referred to Washington, will now be settled through the State office.

An interview with WMC officials requested by the Total War Employment Committee, headed by A. J. Allen, has not been arranged because the staff is undergoing reorganization, it was explained today (Friday).

The committee will bring to the WMC's attention the "half-way" measures adopted by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in hiring colored clerical workers, while refusing to hire them as operators, although ads for such workers are being run daily.

Post Office Hires 20 More Women

Twenty additional colored women were placed this week as clerks in the city's main post office, Fayette and Calvert Streets.

Colored women were first hired on these jobs about two weeks ago, though white women have been doing the work for some time.

About twelve were first hired and their job is to sort mail. Their pay is 72½ cents an hour.

12th Urban League Dinner Set for Thursday at Cadoa

The twelfth annual Urban League dinner will be held Thursday, January 28, at 6:30 p.m., at the Cadoa, 118 W. Franklin Street.

It will take the form of a testimonial in honor of Edward S. Lewis, executive secretary of the New York Urban League, who held a similar post here for the past twelve years and has been succeeded by J. Harvey Kerns of Cincinnati.

Mr. Hebron to Speak

Other speakers in addition to Mr. Lewis will include James M. Hepbron, director of the Community Fund.

Expected to attend the dinner are Mayor Howard W. Jackson and Congressman Daniel Ellison, in addition to representatives of many of the city's larger industries.

Okey to Drive

The Office of Price Administration has ruled that persons attending the dinner may be allowed to drive their cars.

Tickets for the affair may be secured by phone, Madison 0020, or at the league office, 2404 Pennsylvania Avenue.

Man Held on Bail for Pipe Attack

Charged with a lead pipe attack on John Lightner of 789 George Street, Mack Foster, 44, of 734 W. Mulberry Street was held under $500 bail, Thursday.

The hearing has been postponed until February 18, pending the outcome of Lightner's injuries.

in order to save the life of a fellow MP."

Only three of the eight colored witnesses present testified. They were Rufus Jackson, proprietor of the cafe in which the slaying occurred; Steven Reed, a civilian, and Sgt. Hall. Mrs. Jewel Hyder, William Jackson, Mrs. Rosa Lee Jackson, Miss Mary Joe Tolbert and Miss Ethel Mae Gray, all Bastrop residents, were not called to the stand.

Soldier Had Knife

Police records showed that the deceased soldier had been arrested several times on various counts, ranging from assault and battery to larceny and all witnesses testified that he had a knife at the time they saw him.

The Bastrop Justice of the Peace, the Sheriff and the camp provost marshal testified that Sgt. Springs had a partially opened knife in his right hand when they arrived at the scene of the slaying.

Since the disposition of the trial it has been learned from a reliable source, that all MP's assigned to Bastrop are not permitted to bear arms.

Albert I. Cassell, former architect of Howard University, has been appointed a member of the War Transportation Committee, appointed to study local transportation conditions.

Inspectors Looked in Vain for Strife on Mulzac's Ship

Drew Pearson, writer of the nationally read column, Washington Merry-Go-Round, made the following observation this week:

War Shipping Administration has made an inside report on racial goodwill aboard the S.S. Booker T. Washington, where trouble was expected because of a mixture of races under colored Capt. Hugh Mulzac.

But when the ship completed her first run, with a checkerboard crew and colored officers, the War Shipping Administration reports it could find nothing but friendly co-operation aboard.

Six Colored Officers

In addition to Captain Mulzac, the second and third officers, the chief engineer and two assistants were colored. Other officers were whites, and the crew were a mixture of white and colored.

The Booker T. Washington sailed from San Pedro, went through the canal and landed in New York. Inspectors found the vessel ship-shape, and when they questioned the crew, only four men wanted to quit the ship as against normal defections of half the crew.

Reason for Good-will

Reason for the good-will, according to the War Shipping Administration, was that, after the ship got to sea, Captain Mulzac invited all men from the deck department to take instruction in navigation every afternoon in their spare time, to prepare themselves for examinations and promotions.

Chief Engineer Irving Smith, also colored, likewise offered engineering instruction.

Morale was so high at the end of the voyage that the men invested extra pay in war bonds, donated a pint of blood each for blood banks, and chipped in to buy Captain Mulzac a gold watch.

3 Persons Hurt in Fire

Three persons, including a 1-year-old child, were injured on Thursday, when fire almost completely destroyed a house at 643 N. Paca Street.

The injured are:

Mrs. Mildred Waddell, who received a bruised left leg, and her small daughter, Delores, who received a fractured skull, and Mrs. Edna Holloway, who received second-degree burns.

The former were treated at University Hospital and held, while Mrs. Holloway was treated at the Maryland General Hospital and released.

Crawled Out Window

Mrs. Waddell and her baby were injured when she crawled from a third-story window, dropped the child to the pavement below and then jumped herself.

The fire, origin undetermined was discovered shortly after 5 p.m. and completely destroyed the interior before firemen brought it under control.

Police Seek Relatives of Man, 60, Found Dead

Police are seeking relatives or friends to arrange funeral rites for J. Wilson Brown, 60, who was found dead in bed at 10 W. York Street where he occupied a third-floor apartment.

The body was taken to the city morgue. Mr. Wilson, it was learned, was an employee of the Love Point Ferry, but the company has no record of relatives.

St. Katherine Honors Members in the Service

Rationing Questions

(The AFRO rationing editor will answer all questions addressed in care of the AFRO-AMERICAN, 628 N. Eutaw Street.)

1. With the proposed rationing of so many items, do you think it likely that soap will be rationed?

Ans.: While it is impossible to predict just what trend rationing will take, it is extremely unlikely that soap will be rationed. In fact, we might have even more soap than ever since it is a by-product of glycerine, used in making ammunition.

2. Will housewives be required to declare all canned goods when the rationing of such goods goes into effect?

Ans.: No. OPA officials realize that some persons have a reserve stock of canned goods on hand for emergencies. Just how many cans you will be allowed to keep has not been announced, but you will be permitted to keep a certain amount.

3. I am an "A" card holder. Does the OPA restrict my using my car to attend lodge meetings?

Ans.: Yes. Pleasure driving is out until further notice and even though you might have weighty affairs to discuss, such meetings are not necessary either to your occupation or to the war effort.

4. When does the point rationing system go into effect?

Ans.: While no official date has been set yet, it is expected that the rationing of canned goods, meats and dried fruits will begin after the middle of February.

Gov. Asks Increases for 5 Institutions

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Increased appropriations for 1944-45 totaling $90,308 for five State-owned institutions were recommended to Maryland's General Assembly here this week in Governor Herbert R. O'Conor's annual budget.

These institutions include Morgan State College, Cheltenham School for Boys, Bowie State Teachers' College, Md. Training School for Girls, and Crownsville State Hospital. However, the amount is $143,568 less than requested by officials of the five institutions.

$46,000 for Other Institutions

In addition, the Governor's budget proposes a $46,000 appropriation for ten State-aided institutions — approximately the same amount granted by the previous Legislature, but some $6,300 less than requested. The annual $25,000 scholarship fund was also approved.

The individual amounts recommended for these ten institutions are listed in the budget which accompanies this story.

Morgan State College, the budget proposes, should receive $102,191 for each of the coming two years. This is $10,411 more than it received last years, but $34,098 less than had been requested for 1944.

Increase for Teachers

The appropriation includes $62,999 yearly for twenty-nine teachers, an increase of $8,150 over the 1942 appropriation. However, Morgan had requested $74,080 for thirty-two teachers.

The other $2,261 is for employment of an additional librarian, a junior account clerk and a handyman. The Governor, however, refused the school's request for a second librarian, a senior stenographer and another handyman.

$10,798 More to Cheltenham

Cheltenham School for Boys received an increase in its appropriation of $5,926, which allows for the addition of a junior stenographer and electrician to the staff.

Princess Anne College, the budget proposes, should receive $25,983, same amount allowed in 1942, though $58,507 yearly had been requested by school officials.

An Increase of $8,900 is recommended for Bowie State Teachers College, primarily for adjustments to faculty members whose salaries are included neither in the public school teachers' scale nor in the recommendations of the Standard Salary Board.

The suggested increase for the Maryland Training School for Girls totals $4,670 to cover increased operating expanses and hiring of an instructor in arts and crafts at $840 a year and a chaplain. The proposed appropriation is $46,015.

$473,201 Asked for Crownsville

While the budget allows $473,201, or an increase of $60,401 for Crownsville State Hospital, a $1,400 request for land and building improvements was denied.

Provision is also made in the budget for sixty additional beds at the Henryton Sanatorium.

Center Seeks Return of Loaned Toys

Parents Sent Cards; Volunteer Workers Still Being Sought

Officials of the John H. Murphy Toy-Lending Library sent cards this week to parents of children holding toys borrowed from the center.

The parents were reminded to return the toys immediately because the limited stock must service a great number of children, which is increasing daily as new families move to the city.

1817 Loans Made

Mrs. Ida Boyd, supervisor of the center established in the basement of the Pratt Library at Fremont Avenue and Pitcher Street, reported that since July 1817 loans have been made to 472 registered children.

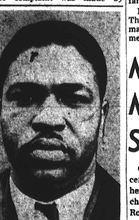
The center is seeking additional workers to serve on Wednesday and Fridays from 3 to 5:30 p.m. Plans are also being made for a toy-collection campaign to increase the stock.

Abolishment of the WPA does not affect the center, officials that agency withdrew its support a year ago. The center is now operated by the Association for Childhood Education, the Junior Association of Commerce, and the city welfare department.

FEPC Gets Another Case of BTC Bias

Another complaint against the Baltimore Transit Company, charging discrimination in its policy of hiring streetcar motormen, was lodged with the FEPC this week.

The complaint was made by



HOWARD R. RINGGOLD

Howard R. Ringgold, an experienced chauffeur of 930 N. Stricker Street, who pointed out that his application was turned down on Tuesday, despite the fact that the transit company advertises the need for operators by signs on car barns throughout the city.

Offered Menial Job

Mr. Ringgold reported that he was told by a Miss Jones in the office of George Wolfe, white, personnel manager, that no application forms were available for colored operators, but he could have a job working on the streets or washing cars.

He is a high school graduate and has chauffeured for a private family for four years.

Mr. Wolfe told the AFRO on Thursday that the company had made no change in its employment policy.

Methodist Minister Is Suspended

Charged with failure to report certain conference claims which he allegedly collected from his church in Aberdeen, N.C., the Rev. Roy E. Peters has been indefinitely suspended from the Western North Caroline Conference of the AME Church.

Although the Rev. Mr. Peters allegedly failed to report the funds in question to the conference, which met at Morganton, N.C., in 1940, the suspension did not take place until the conference met in Lenoir, N.C., in its fiftieth annual session held recently.

The announcement of the action was made by the conference secretary, the Rev. J. A. Valentine, pastor of St. Joseph AME Church, Durham, N.C., and was recently confirmed by Bishop Monroe H. Davis, presiding prelate, First Episcopal District, whose headquarters are in Baltimore.

Civil Rights Bill for D.C. Introduced

WASHINGTON

Designed to prohibit racial and religious discrimination in hotels, theatres, restaurants and "similar establishments" in the capital, a civil rights bill was introduced in Congress Monday by Senator Warren W. Barbour (Rep., N.J.).

Similar to the measure introduced in the 77th Congress by ex-Senator William H. Smathers (Dem., N.J.), the bill provides that any individual discriminated against because of race or religion in "places of public accommodation" may sue through municipal court for damages up to $500.

In addition, Senator Barbour's measure also provides that the offender, if found guilty in police court, would become liable for a $10 to $100 fine or a jail sentence of not less than 10 nor more than 100 days.
