The Pennsylvania State Legislature.—According to the Harrisburg Chronicle, the friends of the administration have elected sixty-one members of Assembly, and the opposition thirty-nine. The Senate stands twenty five administration, eight opposition. The relative strength of the parties on joint ballot, will be, according to this statement, 86 administration, and 47 opposition. According to the same paper, the Jackson majority throughout the state, on the congressional tickets, is little more than twelve thousand votes.

South Carolina.—The returns of the election in S. Carolina show that Messrs. Manning, Postell and Rogers, Union men, and Messrs. Pinckney, Pickens, Grayson and Davis, Nullifiers, have been elected to Congress The majority in favor of Mr. Davis is reduced to 70 votes. Mr. Pickins takes the place of Mr. McDuffie.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—The result of the election for members of the State Legislature, so far as has been received, appears to be as follows.

SENATE.
State Rights	11
Union	2
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
State Rights	61
Union	9
Majority	52

One of the Union senators has a majority of 23 votes only; two of the members of the House have only 10 majority. More than two thirds of both branches of the legislature will be anti Jackson.

Better and better.—We stated yesterday that there was a majority of eleven Whigs elected to the Legislature of Ohio We have now conclusive information that the Whigs have a majority in both branches, and a joint majority of fourteen. The Zanesville Republican, of Saturday last, contains a complete list of the 36 members which compose the Senate, of whom 19 are Whigs, and 17 Jackson. The other House consists of 72 members, of whom 42 are Whigs, 26 Jackson, and 4 not heard from. Giving these 4 to the Jackson party, the Legislature will stand thus:

	Whigs.	Jackson.
Senators,	19	17
Representatives,	42	30
	61	47

This will give the Whig party the important advantage of a concurrent vote in both branches on any subject of national concern, and with the Whig majority in its Congressional delegation conclusively establishes the Whig character of the State, no matter on which side the small majority for Governor shall appear to have been given. On this last point, the same paper, the latest which could have been received from the State, has this paragraph:

"It is as yet a matter of doubt who is elected Governor of this State. So close is the vote, and so contradictory the returns we receive, that we are unable to give the result with any kind of certainty We incline to the opinion, however, that Lucas is re elected by a very small majority.'—Nat. Intel.

From the United States Gazette.

I have been surprised that no estimate has been formed of the probable result of the ensuing Presidential election, grounded on the changes of sentiment indicated by the recent elections. I have made one, which is probably erroneous; but it may produce the effect of inducing some persons with superior means of information, to take up the subject and give a more rational estimate.

We preceive that the Jackson papers are getting up a "Hail" storm about the Baltimore city election. "All hail Baltimore," says the great croaker at New Hampshire; and all hail Baltimore—all hail Baltimore, respond the tadpoles.—Now we would ask our Baltimore friends whether the recent municipal election in that city turned upon national politics.

U. S. Gazette.

[We answer no.—So far from the Mayor's election having been connected with national politics, the Whig party had no candidate. The liberal course pursued by Mr. Hunt in his official duties, and particularly in the selection of his officers without reference to their political sentiments, induced a large portion of the Whigs of this city to desire his re-election—and among these was the editor of this paper. At all the public meetings resolutions were passed disavowing the intention to connect national politics with the local elections—and no respectable citizen of Baltimore would hazard his reputation by claiming the re-election of Mr. Hunt as a party triumph.—Editors Chronicle.]

We learn from the Milledgeville Times that "at the term of Murray Superior Court, a Cherokee Indian by the name of John Graves was indicted and convicted of the murder of a white man by the name of Bates. He was sentenced to be hung on the twenty-first November next.

The Savannah Republican noticing the murder says: "A plea to the jurisdiction was filed in this case and overruled; application has since been made to the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of error in behalf of the prisoner. The citation which accompanies it as a matter of course, will be here probably in the course of ten or fifteen days, and served as the former one was, in the case of Tassels, upon the Governor, citting the State of Georgia to appear before the bar of this tribunal."

Arrest of a Reporter.—Mr. Mitchel, the Madrid correspondent of the London Age, has been arrested and thrown into a dungeon, by the authorities of Madrid.—The crime alleged against him is, that the journal with which he is connected has spoken too freely of the Spanish rulers? Mr. Villiers, the British Ambassador at Madrid, was making efforts for his release.

The Washington Correspondent of the New York Courier, says:—"On the President's route to this city a curious incident occurred. Lieut. Randolph was at the tavern near Fredericksburg, at which the President stopped, within two hours of the same time. I am happy that they did not meet, for if they had, a scene would, probably have occurred, which would have pained every man in the country.

The Journal of Commerce says, "Mr. Wyer government messenger, who arrived in the Henry IV. from Havre, is the bearer of a treaty signed by the Queen of Spain, acknowledging & agreeing to pay the claims of our citizens on that country. He has also various documents of importance, relating to our claims on France, but nothing which changes the aspect of that business.

St. Louis, Oct. 14.

Mail Depredations.—Bailey J. Patterson was arrested yesterday, while applying for letters at the Post Office in this city, upon a charge of having broken open letters and forged the signatures of different persons, by which he has obtained large sums of money. He was about to sail for Havre on the 1st November, but will be obliged to postpone his visit for at least ten years. He was employed as a clerk in the Post Office at Staunton, Va. where he committed these depredations, to which state he will no doubt be sent for trial Mr. Plitt, the indefatigable Assistant of the P. Office Department, communicated the facts to the Assistant Post Master of this city whose vigilance led to his being arrested.—

We learn from the Mechanics' News Room books, that Mr. Perkins, the Newington Post Master, has been traced to the Marlboro' Hotel, where he is supposed to have passed the first night after his disappearance.—He then took stage for Fall River, whither one of his creditors have gone in pursuit of him. He had succeeded in obtaining loans of different sums from several of his neighbors in New Hampshire, to the amount of $3700, before he left home, in order as he stated to pay for cattle, promising on his return to refund his money, with interests.—Boston Journal.

Mr. Perkins, the New Hampshire Post Master, who was missed in Boston last week, and was supposed to have been robbed and murdered.

From the N. Y. Courier and Enq. of Monday.

Three days later from Liverpool.—Captain French, of the ship Great Britain, arrived yesterday from Liverpool, has favoured us with a paper from that place of the 20th of September. It contains intelligence direct from Falmouth brought by an arrival there from Lisbon, of which the purport is, that Don Pedro was alarmingly ill.

The Nashville Republican of the 14th inst contains the following unpleasant intelligence:

THE HERMITAGE BURNT.

Yesterday evening about 4 o'clock, the roof of the Hermitage was discovered to be on fire, and all attempts to arrest the progress of the flames proving unavailing, the entire edifice, with the exception of the room attached to the northern end, and used as a dining room was in a few hours consumed. The valuable furniture in the lower story was fortunately saved, though much broken and otherwise injured in getting it out. That in the second story was, we understand, chiefly destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been communicated to the roof by the falling of a spark from one of the chimneys: and there being at the time a light breeze from the North West, the progress of the flames was proportionably rapid The numerous and valuable private papers of the President were probably all preserved.—We need not add that the event has occasioned to the community deep and universal regret.

Bishop England.—The Cork Chronicle contains the following paragraph.

The Right Rev. Dr. England.—We are happy to announce that the Reverend Dr. England, Bishop of Charleston, arrived yesterday (Sunday) in this his native city, by the Victory, steamer, from Bristol. We have the gratification to state that the estimable prelate enjoyed the best health, and proceeds in a few days, via Liverpool to Charleston, South Carolina, accompanied by some ladies from the Ursurline community at Blackrock, who purposed establishing a convent of their order in the vicinity of Charleston. After founding this institution, Dr. England will, we understand, proceed to Hayti, in the exercise of his legantine commission from the Holy See, which has been renewed and amplified to the utmost extent as the venerable prelate deservedly enjoys the highest confidence from the father of the faithful, and the various congregations connected with his legation.

Sporting.—Among the horses entered for the Washington races, is one belonging to Amos Kendall. We should suppose that the only horse owned by the Kitchen Cabinet was the one they dried clothes upon.—Noah.

LATEST FROM JAMAICA.

The Cornwall Courier of the 6th ult. has been furnished the editors of the Norfolk Beacon, by the arrival at Norfolk of the British brig Victor, Capt. Daly.

The state of West India affairs, brought about by the policy of the Grey administration, is bad at the present, and we regret to add, that no prospect of an improvement can justly be anticipated. This number of the Courier contains several accounts of burning buildings and improvements by the negroes, and other incidents that speak plainly the general condition of affairs in the Colonies.

We give below an extract from a letter received by a commercial house in Norfolk, with which we have been politely favoured, which corroborates strongly the representations of the Courier.

Montego Bay, 12th Sept. 1834.

"I cannot give you a very favourable report of the Apprentices. I am of opinion that the cultivation of the Cane must decrease, and if our stipendiary magistrates here persist in their partiality to the Apprentices, Sugar making must cease, for they are not doing at present one fourth of their former labour, and no examples made of them."

FLORENCE, (Ala.) SEPT. 25.—Cholera.—On the evening of 17th inst. some travellers or drovers stopped at the residence of Dr. Greene, 4 miles from Florence, on the Nashville road, and on the following evening two of them, Warren Hodges and George Coffman, died of Cholera. They were from Logan county Kentucky; had premonitory symptoms of cholera while on their way thro' Tennessee, but being anxious to proceed on their journey to the south, they came on to Dr. Green's, were unwell when they arrived, and not long afterwards fell into the collapsed stage of disease. Two other individuals of the same company were taken after their arrival at Dr. Green's, but we are happy to hear from the attending physicians, that the two last named are convalescent. The disease has not broken out elsewhere in the neighbourhood, and it is to be hoped, that the malady will not spread further. In addition to these cases, we have to record the death of —— Saturley, of cholera, who died at Dr. Turner's about 19 miles from town, on the same road. He was an agent for the mail contractors on that line.

CHOLERA.—We regret to learn from a letter received in this city on yesterday, [says the Raleigh N. C. Star of the 16th inst.] that this dreadful malady broke out in the town of Washington, in this State, on the 9th instant, and on the 12th, the date of the letter, was raging with considerable violence. Some of the most respectable citizens had been attacked, one or two of whom were, in the short space of 5 or 6 hours, hurried into eternity.—we await further particulars with painful anxiety.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.

A small company of Traders arrived in this city last week from Santa Fe. They left early in August, taking Taos in the route, and thus extending the journey across the Rocky Mountains to the trading posts on the Arkansas river. They met with very few Indians, and suffered no interruption whatever in their progress home.—We understand, that the regular Fall Company was to leave Santa Fe in about four weeks after their departure Trade in that quarter was very limited in consequence of the scarcity of money: and the depredations of the Apachee and other Indians, who intercepted the transmission of goods and specie from the lower part of the country. Large numbers of mules, horses and sheep—forming principal articles of trade among the inhabitants of those provinces, were also constantly stolen by the Indians; and some of the American Traders had suffered considerable losses in this way. A part, only of the adventurers of last spring had been able to effect sales of their goods: the others would be compelled to remain or send them to Chihuahua and markets below. Among the number who have returned is Capt. R. B. Lee, U. S. Army.

The present company brought with them eleven wagons, which, with the contents, belong to Messrs. St. Vrain, Bent, & Co.

INGENIOUS INVENTION.—We walked this morning to Pitts Court, to see the Patent Sawing Machine, invented by Hamilton, formerly of the exchange Coffee House. It is curious in its operations and simple in its construction. We saw it applied to the fashioning of a cart wheel, and what a very expert mechanic, could hardly perform in a day's work of ten hours, was accomplished in nearly twenty minutes. The seven pieces of which the felloe is formed were truly astonishing, and when placed together, formed as perfect a circle as could be drawn with a compass. The machine makes them of all sizes with equal facility, being graduated with mathematical nicety. It can be and is applied to various other uses, such as sawing from the solid plank the circular pieces for the backs of mahogany chairs, &c. &c. Indeed it may be used by almost all cabinet makers and carpenters to advantage, in some branch of their business.—Boston Transcript.

The editor of the Liverpool (Pa) Mercury, anxious to liquidate his outstanding accounts, issues the following notice:

"All kinds of country produce, from eggs to poultry—from saplings to big logs—from wheat to buck wheat, (including corn, oats, rye, onions and potatoes,) as well as frying pans, WOOD and corned eels—with every other article of household furniture, such as grindstones, &c. together with any quantity of the "yellow stuff," not even excepting "Old (Nick's) Rags," will be received in advance for any debts which may hereafter be found due to this office.

P. S. Our advertisement for oats is a mere matter of speculation. The mare is sold to buy bread and meat for we and she; and oats will soon be high."

Dear Haunch of Mutton.—When the present Duke of Bedford was Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, he was once when dining with Lord Sligo, earnestly recommended to taste a fine haunch of Glynde mutton, to which his Grace, himself a breeder and admirer of South Downs, and well acquainted with Mr. Ellman, readily acceded; but no politeness to his noble host would move him to finish the slice, or say it was other than rank in flavour and terribly tough. On inquiry the disappointed Marquis ascertained that his shepherd, who had been ordered to kill the best South Down sheep, had in accordance with the doctrines of political economy, which estimates every thing at its market price, actually slaughtered for the vice regal banquet a ram for which Lord Sligo had a few weeks before paid Mr. Ellman two hundred guineas.—Baxter's Library.

Newark College,

(DELAWARE.)

The vacation of this institution expires on the 4th of November next, the next day, (Nov. 5,) the collegiate year commences.

There are two vacations: one of four weeks beginning on the 4th Wednesday of April; one of six weeks beginning on the 4th Wednesday of September. The estimated expenses, for the collegiate year, including Board, tuition, room rent, washing, light and fuel, amount to $104.15.

The Faculty consists of a President and three Professors. The Rev. E. W. Gilbert of Wilmington, chosen president at the close of the last term, has accepted. Two of the professorships are filled by Mr. Agnew and Mr. Graves. The other will be filled at the beginning of the term now approaching. The Trustees have felt deeply the importance of an able and well qualified Instructor, and have taken much pains to procure a Faculty worthy of confidence, as well for their qualifications to prudently and affectionately take care of, and govern the students, as their skill in teaching. To those acquainted with the gentlemen named, this representation need not be made.

The college embraces an academical department. In this department a student may be instructed in academical branches, or in any one or more of the Collegiate branches, as may be chosen in cases in which it is desired not to go through a full collegiate course. This department is under the care and superintendance of the Faculty of the College.

There is no place in the middle States, more healthy than Newark. It is in the upper part of the State of Delaware, near to Pennsylvania and Maryland. The situation is retired, and very favorable for a Seminary of youth. It is removed from the dangers of large towns, and at the same time, it is as easy of access as can be desired for convenient communications from and to parents. It is six miles from Elkton, eight from Frenchtown, ten from New Castle, and twelve from Wilmington.

WILLARD HALL, President of the Board of Trustees.
