IMPORTANT NEWS ABOUT NUMBER ONE KILLER OF POULTRY!

New Treatment for Air Sac Infection Brings Overnight Results

TODAY, many authorities believe that air sac infection or infections of the upper respiratory tract have actually accounted for the ultimate loss of nearly 25% of all baby chicks hatched in this country! And as every poultryman knows—air sac infection is the number one topic of conversation whenever poultrymen gather together. It is indeed a serious situation, threatening the future of the industry.

New Form of Penicillin

Fortunately, science has found an answer, both economically and dramatically effective. Over two years ago, Wyeth Laboratories recognizing the problem went to work. The successful result came through Wyeth's discovery of a new salt of penicillin—named Bicillin. Bicillin is actually penicillin in a new long-acting form. It is absorbed into the blood stream slowly—and is effective, with one injection, many, many times longer than ordinary penicillin.

Combination Proves Effective

With this new form of penicillin, the most effective antibiotic, Wyeth combined another powerful antibiotic—dihydrostreptomycin sulfate, in a form readily mixed with water to make an aqueous suspension. This combination of antibiotics is called Bicillin-SM, and has proved much more effective than when either antibiotic is used separately.

Proved in the Field

Reports from all over the country acclaim the amazing results. To date, over 20,000,000 chickens have been treated with Bicillin-SM. Poultrymen report an almost immediate halt in mortality,—say broilers have increased feed consumption 40% to 50% in three or four days. Actually, many treated birds return to normal feed consumption in 24 hours.

Helps Prevent Relapse

Bicillin provides the long-lasting antibiotic action needed to help prevent relapses through development of secondary infections, so common when birds are weakened by air sac infection.

After Effects

With Bicillin-SM, unlike some other medications used for air sac infection, the bird may be marketed immediately upon recovery.

Wide Range of Coverage

Because of its action against a wide range of harmful organisms, Bicillin-SM is particularly valuable when there is no time to identify the particular bacterial organisms causing trouble.

BICILLIN®-SM

Dibenzylethylenediamine Dipenicillin G
Dihydrostreptomycin Sulfate—aqueous injection

Bicillin-SM is easy to use! Just add boiled water (cooled) to the container to make 500 cc. of the solution. Dose is ½ cc. for birds up to 6 weeks, 1 cc. for those older. For layers, 2 cc. For turkeys use 1 cc. per five pounds. Inject into the muscles of the thigh. High speed injection equipment available. Consult your dealer.
