The jobs that come in cans

The American Can Company hasn't yet worked out a practical container for packing jobs and economic security. We make cans—we do no canning.

But, by making better cans, we have actually created job opportunities in many different fields.

All kinds of things—foods and beverages, paints and varnishes, tobacco and tennis balls—keep better, are more convenient and easier to use when they are packed in the right kind of container.

So, markets for these products expand. Thousands of new, well-paid jobs open up, and incomes climb.

In fact, whole new businesses have been able to get started because a suitable can was developed to hold a product. You probably know of manufacturing plants right in Maryland that owe their existence to the industry.

Creating new jobs is only one example of what America has accomplished in our free, competitive way of doing business. People working together, playing together and living together bring social and economic gains to all.

And such teamwork between our people and our business system promises greater prosperity and more jobs for our future.
