AFRO Correspondents Among 89 Awarded Citations

Four AFRO-AMERICAN war correspondents were among the 89 war writers honored by the War Department at a special dinner sponsored by the Overseas Press Club at the Statler Hotel in Washington Saturday night. On the left is Ollie Stewart looking over his citation, and on the right is Art Carter receiving his citation and a hand shake from Secretary of War Robert Patterson. Two other AFRO correspondents, Max Johnson and Vincent Tubbs, received certificates of merit but were not present at the ceremony.

Cotton Machines Held Aid to South

BATON ROUGE, La. (ANP)—"Although mechanization may create serious human problems for millions of Southern farm families, it it means an end of the general low level [illegible] in the rural South, then [illegible] thinking for it," H. H. Williams said at Southern University recently.

Mr. Williamson, assistant director of extension service of the Department of Agriculture, spoke before 50 State and District farm and home demonstrators from 14 States during the two-week study of extension service supervision of the department at the university.

Better Living Conditions

He pointed to one Mississippi plantation, where cotton mechanization is under way as an example of the current trend. While most of the help and sharecroppers had been displaced by machinery, the remaining workers lived much better.

The farm, typical of those using the new system, guarantees its workers at least $20 a month, free rent, modern conveniences for living, and a garden plot the year round. Laborers earn 90 cents an hour each day they work, averaging over $1000 a year.

Coal Strike Causes 3 DPR Play Centers to Be Closed

Effects of the coal miners' walkout extended into the city's recreational life, Wednesday, with the announcement of the closing of three centers operated in public school buildings, and a serious threat to others.

Centers that will be closed immediately, or as soon as the first cold wave arrives, are those located at School 106, Hill St. near Sharp St.; School 122, 500 block of W. Preston St. and School 155.

Centers operated in conjunction with night school and those heated by oil will not be affected.

4 Schools Unaffected

In the first group are School 130, at McCulloh and Lanvale Sts; School 133, Caroline and McElderry Sts., and School 454, Carrollton and Lafayette Aves. The Frederick Douglass High School is heated by oil.

Normal schedules will be resumed by the Department of Public Recreation as soon as conditions permit, Leonard J. Wheatley, director, announced.

Dr. St. Clair Gets New Appointment

CAMBRIDGE, Md.—Dr. Carroll M. St. Clair, practicing physician here for 15 years, was appointed a member of the medical staff of the Phillips Packing Company recently.

A graduate of Lincoln University and Howard Medical School, Dr. St. Clair served as resident physician in medicine at Baltimore's Provident Hospital in the early 1930's, and is married to the former Miss Catherine Connor of Baltimore.

Joins Staff of 4

The Phillips Company is the third largest of its kind in the world, packing a variety of 46 foodstuffs and employing 3,000 foodstuffs and employing between 3,000 and 4,000 persons, 75 per cent of whom are colored.

The medical staff consists of four doctors, all white except Dr. St. Clair. In addition to duties of his new appointment, Dr. St. Clair is in charge of the school clinic, the city-operated day nursery and acts as examiner for several insurance firms.

The St. Clairs have one daughter, Carol Yvonne, 5 years of age.

Vets Who Want Radio Course Urged to Meet

All veterans who are interested in receiving training in radio and television are being asked to meet at the Baltimore Urban League Office, 2404 Pennsylvania Ave., Dec 4 at 8 p.m. to discuss the possibilities of their receiving training.

This action is being taken because of the many individual requests received by the League for radio and television training.

Qualifications for entrance into the radio school are an eighth grade education and a mathematical background or an interest in mathematics.

Because of the tremendous interest in this field, it is believed that little difficulty will be encountered in obtaining training, provided a sufficient number of men are interested.

Vets Get Preference for Holiday Mail Jobs

War veterans are being given preference for Christmas holiday employment in the postoffice and may continue to apply until Monday, Dec. 1.

Although normally an extra force of between 2,500 and 4,000 persons could handle the holiday rush, provision may be made to employ as many as 4,500 owing to the uncertainty that all persons now being assigned actually will appear to take the jobs.

To Report Dec. 13

Some groups of extra employees will be called to work on Dec. 13 and the complete supplementary force will be working by Dec. 17.

Unless unexpected complications develop in transportation, 95% of the extra Christmas work will be completed by the afternoon of Dec 24, Neal A. Sibley, postmaster, said.

Boy Scout Districts Set for Annual Reports

Three important dates loom next week for those interested in scouting.

Monumental District will hold its annual meeting Monday at the Druid Hill Branch YM'CA at 8 p.m. On Tuesday, Dec. 3, the Inter-Governmental Relations Committee will meet at Leadenhall Baptist Church in South Baltimore at 8 p.m.

Current Reports

The recreation center at Frederick Douglass Homes will be the meeting place of the Chesapeake District on Wed. Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. All districts will make their reports for the current year and outline plans for the coming year.

Election of officers and definite plans for the "One Thousand for One" membership drive will highlight the meetings.
