Baltimore News Highlights in Brief

Center to Become First Aid Station

Oscar W. Hoar, director of first aid, health and water safety for the Baltimore Chapter, American Red Cross, will present a charter to the Lexington Recreation Center at 10:30 a.m., Dec. 16, designating the center as a volunteer First Aid Detachment.

The ceremony will precede the regular In-Service Training Session in the assembly hall. Dr. H. Maceo Williams, director of Druid Health Center and medical advisor for the Lexington Detachment, also will participate in the presentation.

Small School Fire Laid to Mischievous Boys

Mischievous boys climbed through a broken window of School No. 131, Druid Hill Ave., near Biddle St., late Monday, and built small fires on two of the desks.

The blaze, noted by James Friday, a nearby resident, was extinguished by firemen without damage other than to the two desks in Rooms 104 and 105.

Condemned Man Offers Eyes to Vet

WASHINGTON

The last desire of William H. Copeland, who is scheduled to be executed at the District Jail, Friday, Dec. 20, is to give his eyes to aid the blinded war veteran, Isaac Woodard.

However, the last wish of the condemned man will not be fulfilled, because even with the use of Copeland's eyes, Woodard will never see again.

A thorough examination by Philadelphia's Dr. Henry Gowens Jr., diplomate of the American Board of Ophthalmology, and a Fellow of the American Academy of Ot-Laryngology, revealed that medical surgery cannot restore the sight of the stricken veteran.

Findings of the examination show that the eyeballs are pulverized, with only a minute piece of cornea left in each eye. The residue of the cornea is opaque and retracted.

In addition, the nerve head of each eye is destroyed, and there is no light perception. Because of the inflammation still in each eye, the eyes should be cleaned thoroughly to prepare him for plastic eyes, said Dr. Gowens.

Woodard, a veteran with three-and-one-half years in the Army, had his eyes gouged out Feb. 13, 1946, by Police Chief M. L. Shull of Batesburg, S.C., who later confessed, but was acquitted by a South Carolina jury.

Truck Driver Named in $55,000 Suit

Cornelius L. Smith of 1039 N. Central Ave. was named as co-fendant this week in a $55,000 damage suit filed by a white couple for the alleged injury of the woman in an automobile accident.

Entered in the Superior Court, the suit is also against the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and was filed by Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Madison of 426 E. Worsley St.

Truck-Auto Collision

The wife was said to have been injured Nov. 29, 1945, while standing at Linden Ave. and Preston St. when a Standard Oil truck collided with a car driven by Mr. Smith.

2,000 Boys to Attend YMCA Christmas Party

More than 2,000 boys, selected from 39 local schools, are expected to attend the 11th annual YMCA worthy boys' Christmas party Saturday, Dec. 21, at 9:30 a.m., in the Regent Theater.

Henry B. Hornstein, manager, has offered use of the theater free of charge. The Baltimore City Transit Company will give one thousand round trip fares, for boys who reside in Southeast and suburban Baltimore.

Civic Group Supports Naming of Mrs. Corners

The NAACP, this week, wired the seven members of the City Council committee on executive appointments, urging them to endorse the appointment of Mrs. Henry Corner to the Baltimore Housing Authority.

Mrs. Corner, lauded as a liberal, was named for a spot on the authority by Mayor McKeldin three weeks ago. The appointment will not become official, however, until approved by the City Council.

Cab Co. Names Two in $2,000 Damage Suit

Frank Hawkins of 915 Madison Ave., and Mrs. Sarah Smith of 905 Madison Ave., were named defendants this week in a $2000 damage suit filed by the Belle Isle Cab Co.

The court action charges that Mrs. Smith's car, driven by Mr. Hawkins, struck one of the company cabs on Aug. 14, at Park Ave. and Monument St. The cab, it was said, was so badly damaged, it had to be junked.

Man Slightly Injured in Car-Truck Collision

Eugene Gwynn, 32, of 816 Vincent St., was slightly injured while riding on a fender when the car was involved in a collision with a truck at Mount St. and Harlem Ave., on Monday.

Gwynn was treated for minor bruises at West Baltimore General Hospital. The motorists, both white, were cited for a traffic court hearing.

Oil Stoves Cause 5 Fires

Five fires caused by exploding or overheated oil stoves were reported in Northwest Baltimore during the week, bringing the total to 15 for this month, fire department officials revealed on Thursday.

They were at 1042 N. Mount St., 658 George St., 1019 N. Stricker St., 507 Claggett Al., and 504 W. Biddle St.
