OLD FERTILIZER THEORIES

The Farm Journal of October has an article of some length by A. B. Ross which knocks into a cocked hat the theories of the past in reference to feeding the soil. In this article Mr. Ross sets forth discoveries that will revolutionize the use of commercial fertilizers. They spell the doom of commercial nitrogen in rotation farming—triple or quadruple the demand for potash, and stand the whole fertilizer situation on its head. Millions and millions of dollars have been wasted by farmers in following the principles of fertilization laid down by Liebig in 1842. The Liebig theory proposed to supply the elements in which the soil is deficient. Chemists adhered to this theory for half a century, and fertilizer practise is still largely based on it. The Ross plan makes the needs of the plant the basic formula, the object of field experiment being to find out how much of these needs the soil itself may be depended on to supply. Mr. Ross further points out that the excessive use of phosphorus is wasteful, and that soil fertility can be maintained, and worn-out soil built up, without the use of stable manure. He shows that nitrogen is the thief which has been robbing farmers unawares for many decades.

We regard this article of Ross's as the most important thing we have ever seen on the subject of commercial fertilizers, and The Farm Journal may well be proud of having printed it first.

It throws a firebrand into the camp of the chemist, and plays hob with the phosphate people as well as with the nitrate people. It also plays into the hands of the potash people, unless we take steps to develop our own almost exhaustless potash deposits. It makes it more important than ever that we get from under the German potash monopoly.

IN MEMORIAM

Sacred to the memory of ELIZABETH HESSNER, who departed this life November 25th, 1909.

Her life here although short, was a wonderful one, a noble one, full of loving unselfish deeds towards her fellow creatures. My love is everlasting, she is sadly missed. BY MOTHER.

Elizabeth, dear, we sadly miss you,
Life seems sad, and dark without you,
Are you listening, sister, dear,
Day by day we saw her fade and slowly pine away,
Yet in our hearts we often prayed that she could longer stay.
In the cold and lonely grave lies the one we would have loved to save,
God knew best, it was His Will.
In our hearts she lingers still,
Elizabeth's memory is as dear today as
As the hour she passed away,
So we will bear the burden and won't complain,
But trust in God to meet her again.
Eternal rest grant her, oh Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon her.
Deeply loved and sadly missed.
BY SISTERS.

Resolution of Respect to John L. Smith

Whereas, The great and supreme Ruler of the universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed brethren, John L. Smith; and, whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him in the faithful discharge of all duties assigned him; makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; therefore,

Resolved, That the wisdom and ability which he exercised in the aid of our organization by services, contributions, and counsel will be grateful remembered.

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all members of our order, and will prove a serious loss not only to our order, but the community and the public.

Resolved, That with deep sympathy with the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be over-ruled for good by Him who doeth all things well;

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this organization, a copy printed in the Kent News, and a copy forwarded to the bereaved widow.

MASSEY LODGE NO. 157 I. O. O. F.
By W. L. Medford.

R. GROOME PARKS, Solicitor.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Lillie Johnson versus
George Johnson

In the Circuit Court for Kent County. In Equity. No. 2080.

The object of the Bill is to procure a decree for a Divorce a Vinculo matrimonii.

The Bill states:

1. That on the 10th day of August, 1903, she was married to her husband, George Johnson, who is not now a resident of the State of Maryland, and whose residence is unknown, but that your oratrix is a resident of Kent County, State of Maryland.

2. That, though the conduct of your oratorix, towards her husband, the said George Johnson, has always been kind, affectionate and above reproach, the said George Johnson has, without any just cause or reason, abandoned and deserted her, and has declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that such abandonment has continued uninterruptedly for at least six years, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation.

3. That your oratorix and the said defendant, George Johnson, have had no children born to them from said marriage.

It is thereupon this 25th day of November, 1919, ordered by the Circuit Court of Kent County in Equity, that the Plaintiff by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, published in said Kent County, once in each of four successive weeks before the 29th day of December next, giving notice to the said George Johnson, non-resident defendant, warning him to appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 15th day of January next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

GRANGE NOTES

Dr. Clarke has given the schools holiday Tuesday afternoon to come to Chestertown to view the exhibit. All school children of Kent meet Miss Fannie Stuart at the College at 2 p. m., at which time they will give a chorus before the State Grange Meeting. Every parent come and bring your children and view the exhibit yourself. All free.

James T. Anthony desires that every Granger that can meet him at 7 p. m., Friday evening, December 5th, at the College Gymnasium.

Mrs. Harry T. Williams desires that the reception committee of each Grange be present at that time.

Every woman should make an extra effort to hear Miss Kellar's address on Tuesday evening. Every farmer should hear Dr. Woods on Wednesday evening. These meeting are open to the public.

Each Granger who has not taken 5th and 6th Degree are urged to do so at this session of State Grange Meeting so Kent may have a banner session.

Still Pond Grange has completed plans for their part in the State Grange meeting, and if all will help, there will be a good representation of our work. Mrs. Harvey B. Moore will have charge of the window in Chestertown, and Stam's has been chosen. This window will be decorated on Saturday afternoon, December 6th, and those members who are not members of the Still Pond Farmer's Club, will attend to it.

Fairlee Grange will have an election of officers next Wednesday.

In memory of the late Eulalia Kiechhoefer, a station of the cross has been given the Church of the Precious Blood, Betterton, by Mrs. Annie Lang. The donation marks the anniversary of the death of Miss Kiechhofer, who died November 2nd, 1918. A mass was offered by Father Urner on November 23rd.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan, with electric self-starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3½-inch tires front and rear, is a family car of class and comfort, both in summer and in winter. For touring it is a most comfortable car. The large plate glass windows make it an open car when desired, while in case of rain and all inclement weather, it can be made a most delightful closed car in a few minutes. Rain-proof, dust-proof, fine upholstering, broad, roomy seats. Simple in operation. Anybody can safely drive it. While it has all the distinctive and economical merits of the Ford car in operation and maintenance. Won't you come in and look it over?
