Occupants of 3 Buildings Forced Out by Raging Fire

Oil Stove Flames Rout 7 in 100 Block Pine St., Explosions Cause 2 Other Blazes Nearby

No color lines were drawn at 106 N. Pine St. Tuesday when an oil stove blazed into flame, setting fire to a combined clothing shop and apartment house, forcing seven occupants of three buildings to flee from their homes.

On Thursday two fires within a block of each other and both caused by exploding oil stoves exacted an undetermined amount of property damage.

At the Pine St. fire, Julius Harrow, white, of 230 N. Chapel St., and John Murphy of 813 W. Saratoga St., joined forces to rescue Mrs. Lola Hawkins, white, from a rear window on the second floor of her home at 108 N. Pine St.

As firemen battled the blaze, smoke billowed into adjoining homes at 104 and 106 N. Pine, jeopardizing residents there.

2 Handicapped Women Rescued

Officers Charles Lutz and John Root worked together to carry out Miss Rachel Dale, a paralytic, Miss Louisa Lee, blind, and their 50-year-old housekeeper, Miss Marie Smith.

Miss Dale was housed at University Hospital until arrangements could be made for her care. Traffic was tied up at Fayette and Pine Sts. for some time because of the fire.

About 6 p.m. Thursday, Mrs. Emma Key, 819 Pierce St. lighted an oil stove in her second-floor front room and went downstairs.

Returning a few minutes later, she found that the stove had exploded and filled the room with smoke and flames. Hastily summoned firemen confined the blaze to the one room.

Three hourts later a similar fire gutted a bedroom in the home of Mrs. Martina Walker, of 730 W. Mulberry St. No injuries were reported in either fire.

In the Pierce St. explosion it was a case of lightning striking the same place twice. She told the AFRO that on Dec. 19, her 18-month-old daughter was burned to death at the same place.

Final Rites Sunday for David T. Gross

Funeral services for David T. Gross of 1626 Madison Ave., who died Wednesday evening, will be held at his late home Sunday at 3 p.m. with interment to follow in Western Star Cemetery.

Gateway to Gayway

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Last call for Christmas and to brighten your Yuletide, the Astoria is revived with a colossal jamboree that should ring along the shores of the Patapsco and Potomac. A trio of big name attractions are scheduled to open this bistro tonite (Friday).

Just a last minute reminder to my old gray bewiskered fran of the rollicking frame, howsabout dropping:

Ernest White a few more gorgeous delovlies to grace the bar at SUGAR HILL; Joe Quille of LITTLE WILLIES, an extra hand out for his fine job as financial secretary of the Tavern Owners' Association; Wendell instructions at the VILMA on how to keep his weight down; cheer up John Whirley's mamma and put her back on her feet—very soon;

Remember Geneva

If you have any high heel shoes, leave a pair at the AVENUE for Geneva Howard, and give Bill Lindsay a scroll of commendation for the part he and his entertainers have played in cheering the GI's;

Since GAMBY'S has so many fine looking chicks behind the bar, leave Frank Reddick a list of tal sent to set the stroll afire; continue to bring J. C. Bailey oodles of grans and new acquaintances so that we will never see that contagious smile fade from the ALHAMBRA's prop's face;

Stop at the COMEDY and give Ike Dixon and Ollie Wise a nod on the back for the fine way they scooted through the year, and see that they miss no more Joe Louis's fites.

Hip the Strollers

Bring the strollers off the main stem into the ZANZIBAR; give them a taste of PHIL'S popularity and, remind them that the FULTON is on the beam;

Spank our artist so that he rushes ED'S Lounge's news ad copy into shape so the fans will know about the Sunday 2 ayem opening;

Be sorta nice to Lawson for the way he has managed and operated the OLDE MILL; diddo for Amos, who sparks the flame at the DIAMOND SUBWAY;

Maybe you could drop a seven-day license at HENRY'S, and give some more musicians and entertainers work; Bennie Cohen, a much needed vacation, and Bea a chance to prove, not only to the Cohens but to the public, that she can really do the job allotted her;

Remember the Savoy

Drop an extra case of Scotch at the SAVOY so that Benny will be ready for my visit as usual; give the JOLLY SPOT the right of way so that those swingy matinees can be revived on Monday;

For me, just leave me the will to serve all connected with this field and a chance to say something nice about them for they are all fine and deserving—proprietors, managers, entertainers, musicians and those that serve.

So to all of you, from us A VER MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Bill Kenny Victim of Laryngitis Here

Bill Kenny, leader of the Ink Spots just closed at the Royal Theatre, was forced out of the act on Monday because of laryngitis. He spent the rest of the engagement at the home of his mother, Mrs. Jenny K. Goldring of 1151 N. Carey St.

He was able to accompany the unit to New York on Thursday night, where they will take a three-week vacation, prior to embarking on a concert tour of the south with Johnny Otis's orchestra, after which the Ink Spots will go into New York's Paramount Theatre for six weeks.

Murray Nadell, manager of the singers, told the AFRO on Thursday night that the Ink Spots will leave the States in July for a 20-week tour of Europe.

Community Has Proved Asset in Girls' Choir Head

Directing the Baltimore Girls Choirs, now renamed the choir for the Baltimore Institute of Music and Arts, which sang "Carols of All Nations" at the YWCA recently, is but one of the activities of Mrs. Mercedes Douglass.

The originlal choir, which began four years ago with six girls, all members of Grace Presbyterian Church, and now has 30 members from all sections of the city, has given five concerts, made over 50 appearances and has a repertoire of 135 selections.

An adult education teacher with classes in eigh city schools, Mrs. Douglass is also taking special extension courses from Morgan State College.

Inspiring Mother

In addition she is a member of the Cornelias, a child study group, and the Grace Presbyterian Church and its choir.

The wife of Calvin Douglass, attorney, she is the mother of Calvin Jr., an art major at Douglass High, and young Mercedes, who shows promise as a toe dancer.

A native of North Carolina, where she graduated from Barber Scotia College, and taught four years, she married 16 years ago and in 1931 came to Baltimore, where she has proved by her service, to be a valued asset to this community.

Self-Service Laundrette to Open Soon on Avenue

A unique business will throw open its doors around Jan. 15 at 1508 Pennsylvania Ave., which help housewives and the office girl to solve some of their worries.

It will be known as the Self-Service Laundrette, and will be owned and operated by Gold Bass, former native of Norfolk, Va.

The laundrette will be equipped with 27 Bendix automatic home laundry machines, capable of turning out a medium family wash —wash, rinse and dry—in one operation in 30 minutes.

Can Watch Process

One feature is, that a person can bring his or her laundry and watch while it's being cleaned, or they can leave it in charge of a girl attendant and return in half an hour and find it ready to take home, all except ironed.

Comfortable waiting booths will be installed for those so desiring.

The building is being completely modernized and will be one of the most imposing in this district.

SANTA CLAUS TO BE PRESENT AT POLITICAL CLUB'S PARTY

With the promise that "Santa will be there," the 15th Ward Club of the Maryland Citizens Political Action Committee has issued invitations to its children's Christmas party at 3 p.m., Sunday, at 2104 N. Fulton Ave. Admission—at least one child.
