Experience In Administration Is Campaign Issue

Democratic Leaders Point To Outstanding Record Of State Officials

Harmony Is Keynote Of Enthusiastic Meetings

Never in the history of Maryland will experience in administering the State's affairs be needed as vitally as during the next four years, Robert A. Sindall, prominent fraterial and civic leader of Baltimore City, said yesterday. Mr. Sindall, who is one of the leading business men of Baltimore, joined with other civic leaders in urging the re-election of Governor O'Conor, Attorney General Walsh, and Comptroller Tawes.

Governor O'Conor, Mr. Sindall emphasized, is the only Gubernatorial candidate in the current election who has that experience.

The Governor, Mr. Sindell stated, not only has intimate knowledge of the State's fiscal, legislative, agricultural, labor and other pressing problems gained through four years of successful administration in Annapolis, but he is thoroughly conversant with every small detail that will be necessary for the fruitful participation of Maryland in the war effort.

Efficient Administration

"In fact," said Mr. Sindall, Chairman of Governor O'Conor's Campaign Committee, "under Governor O'Conor's efficient administration Maryland stands in the forefront of all States in its defense program. Maryland, center of many of the nation's largest war industries, needs an executive with the experience of the Governor especially because of this one factor. We cannot afford to trust the business of Maryland to inexperienced hands.

"Governor O'Conor, better than any Gubernatorial candidate, knows the needs of Maryland not only for the duration but in the post-war days. Because of this he is not only experienced to administer the State under present conditions, but he has the necessary background for planning for those days which will follow the return of Maryland's soldiers, sailors and marines to civil life."

Great stress is being laid in this campaign on the efficient operation of the office of State Comptroller under Millard E. Tawes, Eastern Shore business man and fraternal leader.

Attorney General Walsh, who is a World War Veteran and was formerly a Judge of the Court of Appeals, has made a remarkable and outstanding record in the office of Attorney General of Maryland.

Democratic Harmony

A mass meeting of Democratic Organization workers was held in Baltimore. More than 1,500 enthusiastic ward and precinct leaders of all factions attended.

Harmony was the keynote. The forces of Governor O'Conor joined with those of Mayor Jackson in preparing to bring out the voters on election day.

Meetings are being held in all parts of the State and plans are under way for rallies to be held during the last week of the campaign.

Old-timers say this is the first time in many years that the Democratic Organization has been functioning so smoothly. They have only one fear; over-confidence. To make sure that the vote turns out they are proceeding with plans for an intensive drive to stir up the voters and insure an imposing victory for the Democratic ticket.

Mr. Sindall was named Chairman of the Maryland Democratic Campaign Committee and Cleveland R. Bealmear was selected as Vice-Chairman.

The Advisory Committee consists of U. S. Senator Millard E. Tydings, U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, Mayor Howard W. Jackson, Hon. Emerson C. Harrington, and William S. Gordy, Jr.
