The season for packing herring along the Susquehanna river is nearing an end. The past week was the best. The Tilghman Packing Company packed during one day, 269,000 of fish, and for the balance of the week there was packed about 150,000 fish daily. An average of about four cars of fish are being shipped daily each car containing 110 barrels, to New York.

He was accompanied by eight carloads of the orchestra and singers of the church who gave a concert that called forth many expressions of appreciation by their unfortunately situated audience.

Dairy farmers are feeling the effects of the rise in the cost of dairy feed. Some of the raw material entering into the formulas have risen as high as 75 per cent, and others almost as high. The formula feeds have risen about 20 per cent over recent prices, and the farmers are feeling the strain.

Milk has not advanced. Many dairymen are relying on pasture for the greater part of their feed, but this is not sufficient. Middlings, Bran, Cotton Seed Meal, Linseed Meal, and other ingredients have advanced in price, hitting the dairymen hard.

This is especially discouraging coming on top of the compulsory testing for tuberculosis for cattle wherein many farmers lost half their herd or even more. With this loss they were compelled to restock their herds and now the sharp advance in feed prices adds an extra burden.

They have cause to complain, and many are undecided what to do. They are relying on pasture now, but in the event of a draught and the grass burns up like it did one part of last summer another situation will confront them.

The John H. Clendaniel cow case was finished before Judge Frank in Baltimore on Monday. A decision is expected soon.

The cases were removed to Easton for trial, but the above sum being the full amount asked for, was obtained out of court.

The pupils of Miss Hannah Bell's class, the second grade of the Chestertown Elementary School visited the new Chestertown Bakery which is owned and operated by Milliken Bros. The children were very hospitably received and were invited ta ask questions as they watched every detail of the making and baking of bread and pastry. Miss Bell is having the children write the story of their visit and their work shows not much escaped their observation.

The Fourth Class Postmaster Bill that was passed over President Coolidge's veto, will be a great boon to the many underpaid postmasters of that grade. Great credit is due to Mrs. Mary Fennimore Sheppard, of Crumpton, who took such active and keen interest in this bill. This bill, which goes into effect on July 1st states that all fourth class posmasters shall be paid as allowances for rent, fuel, light, and equipment, an amount equal to 15 per centum of the compensation earned in each quarter.

THE NEW FORD CAR

BODIES

The bodies of the new Ford are of steel, the only wood used being stripes for attaching interior trim, and in the soft roofing of the closed cars. In designing the new Ford car every precaution was taken to prevent squeaks, rattles or drumming sounds. The bodies are built with every feature necessary to eliminate metallic noises. The doors are of heavy construction and welded to give greater strength and rigidity. All body parts that are of steel stamping which might develop noises have re-inforcing beads which not only prevent drumming sounds, but also increases strength. In assemblying a body, panels and frame sections are welded and riveted together where ever there is a possibility of the body weaving, due to uneven conditions on the road, thus eliminating all chance of metallic squeaks of this nature. In the final assembly of the large units of the body where bolts are necessary stripes of anti-squeak material are used between the sections. Wherever there is two pieces of metal coming together which might cause squeaks a double ply artifical leather anti-squeak tape is put between them. Another feature of the body construction is the insulation of a heavy pad heat insulatior on the dash of each car. This pad not only keeps heat from the engine entering the front part of the body, but also serves to quiet noises.

WINDSHIELDS

The windshields of the new Ford cars are of triplex shadow proof glass, and important safety feature. When this glass is broken each small particle of glass adheres firmly to the pyroxlin plastic internal layer with the result that there is no flying glass. This is a highly important safety factor in automobile accidents, a large percentage of injury result from cuts by flying glass, particularly from the windshield. There are also other safety features of this glass. It softens direct sun rays, it beraks headlight glare, it eliminates condensation under windshield of closed cars during winter and is flexible under impact.

There are many more important features of the new Model A car which we will be glad to demonstrate to you if you will give us a call.
