YACHTING TAKES ON NEW LIFE ON CHESTER RIVER

A large number of members of the Tri-State Yacht Club of Philadelphia visited a new rendezvous on Worton Creek, six miles from here, which the club is completing for use this Summer.

The formal opening dates have been set for May 31 and June 1. Barry Smithers, secretary of the club Walter H. Nicolai, treasurer, and G. H. Gardner, have in hand the arrangements of the program for the event. The completion of the rendezvous which comprises 275 acres of land beautifully located on Worton Creek, an arm of the Chesapeake Bay near Tolchester Beach, is the culmination of a edsire on the part of Commodore Charles Walber, of the Tri-State Yacht Club, for the establishment of a Chesapeake Bay headquarters for his club which annually engage in extensive cruises on the bay and participates in water carnivals and yacht races held by Maryland yacht clubs and Summer resorts.

One of the most interesting regattas ever staged in Chesapeake Bay waters is being planned by the Chester River Yacht and Country Club for Friday and Saturday, August 22nd and 23rd.

The tentative program covers the entire length of Chester River from Love Point to Chestertown, which gives a variety of racing conditions and beautiful scenery along the Chester. The feature event on the program, which will mark the opening of the two day affair, will be an open sailing race in the bay off Love Point, the trophy for which will be a handsome gold cup to be offered by the Rascob family as a memorial to their son, Jacob F. Rascob, who was killed in an automobile accident between Centreville and Chestertown two years ago. He was a yachtsman and had sailed the Rascob sailing yacht in a number of races.

The demand for an open sailing race for large sailing yachts of deep draft in the bay has been felt for some time and this event, with its handsome trophy, is expected to attract the fastest sailing craft of the large type on the Atlantic seaboard.

Immediately after the start of the bay race a star boat race inside of Love Point will be started. In the afternoon a handicap sailing race will start at Love Point and run to the mouth of Corsica River, where visiting yachtsmen will have a get-together.

Early Saturday morning the yachtsmen will move up the Chester to Chestertown, where all-day races will be held for speed boats, cruisers and sailing craft, including the famous Chesapeake Bay Log Canoe race.

Another of the famous log canoes, which was built in Kent County, is being reconditioned and will be a contender in this race.

The affair is expected to be one of the largest events of its kind ever held in this section.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the regatta includes Commodore Edward W. Emory, Vice-Commodore P. Medford Brooks, R. Hynson Rogers, Tilghman W. Moyer, I. Price Ewing, Neal A. Truslow, Richard H. Collins, Jr., and John P. Corcoran, who represents Pioneer Point, the Rascob estate on the Eastern Shore.

NEW METHOD FOR POULTRY

New methods of marketing poultry as meat, developed during the past year are expected to increase the demand and open new opportunities for profit to the farmers who are taking their poultry operations seriously, according to the Bureau of Agriculture.

Whole cooked chickens in cans are now being placed on the market, and is an entirely new departue in marketing of poultry flesh. The birds are inspected for wholesomeness before cooking, by bureau representatives operating under a nation-wide inspection service. If the consumer prefers to do his own cooking, he may buy a bird that has been dressed, drawn, and hard-chilled at the poultry plant and marketed in individual containers under government inspection.

Heretofore the great bulk of market poultry has been purchased by the consumer either as live poultry, fresh-killed dressed poultry, or as poultry from freezers. The new method of marketing whole dressed birds in cans, thoroughly cooked and ready to serve, will doubtless enlarge the market for poultry, in the opinion of the marketing experts of the Department of Agriculture, inasmuch as canned poultry can be sold in retail stores everywhere where canned goods are carried.

Likewise, the sale of poultry which has been "full drawn" at packing plants is expected to increase the demand for poultry, because the bird is ready to cook when purchased. There are no waste parts, and generally a sweeter, better-flavored product is obtained by eliminating the entrail taint.
