REPUBLICAN primaries to-day. No fight. County convention on Monday. No fight.

GOV. CROTHERS this week signed the General Primary election bill, and it is now a law. It is a machine-made piece of legislation from start to finish, and nobody is fooled by it.

THE Baltimore American has given full and accurate accounts of the daily proceedings of the Maryland Annual Conference in session at Snow Hill, for which Methodist Protestants throughout the State are grateful.

GOV. CROTHERS has used his "scissors" on the General Appropriation bill, and has lopped off about $325,000. He has taken $30,000 from the Maryland Agricultural College appropriation, and $25,000 from Western Maryland, but he has left Washington College's appropriation of $20,000 intact.

THE LEGISLATURE passed Senator Biddison's bill, aimed at lawyers who solicit business. By its provisions Attorneys are forbidden either to solicit business or to secure the services of others in procuring business for them, or to employ as expert witnesses men who aid them in getting business. The bill carries with it a fine (not to exceed $500) or imprisonment for three months.

THE REPUBLICAN newspapers are beginning to hand out to the farmers of the country the sop of good prices for products, etc., but they are not saying one word about the high prices of labor to the tenants, which takes nearly all hey make, nor are they saying one word about the trust prices on nearly all kinds of machinery used on the farm. Hundreds of thousands of laborers are out of jobs because of this Republican sham of prosperity.

GOV. CROTHERS has appointed the following judges to fill vacancies in the First Judicial Circuit caused by the new retirement act: W. Laird Henry, to succeed Judge Henry Page, chief judge of the First Judicial Circuit. Robley D. Jones, to succeed Judge Lloyd, associate judge of the First Judicial Circuit. Mr. Henry was appointed Land Commissioner to succeed E. Stanley Toadvin, and took the office April 1. Charles B. Lloyd, of Easton, was named to succeed Mr. Henry. Mr. Henry married a sister of Judge Wm. H. Adkins, associate judge of this circuit.
