A Freak Child.

Dr. Elderdice, of Mardela Springs, carried to Salisbury recently a freak child which puzzled the medical fraternity of that city. The child was dead, having lived only a few hours after birth. It was a colored baby and was perfectly formed from its head to its waist, but from its waist down it resembled the tail of a fish. It had no legs and nothing to show the sex of the child.

People who saw the freak say it would have passed as a perfect specimen of a mermaid. The legs and feet from the body to the toes were webbed together and had every appearance of a fish tail. Dr. Elderdice said it was the first specimen of the kind he had ever seen, and the doctors in Salisbury all agree with him. The freak is being preserved in alcohol.
