APOLLO'S FOUNT.

THE CHOICE.

WHILE beauty and pleasure are now in their prime,
And folly and fashion expect our whole time,
Ah! let not those trifles our wishes engage—
Let us live so in youth that we blush not in age.
Though the vain and the gay may attend us awhile,
Yet let not their flatt'ry our prudence beguile,
Let us covet those charms which can never decay;
Nor listen to all that deceivers can say.
I sigh not for beauty, nor languish for wealth;
But grant me, kind Providence, virtue and health:
Then, richer than kings, and more happy than they,
My days shall pass sweetly and swiftly away.
When age shall steal on me, and youth is no more,
And the moralist, Time, shakes his glass at my door,
What charm in lost beauty, or wealth, shall I find—
My treasure, my wealth, is a sweet peace of mind.
That peace I'll preserve, then, pure as 'twas given,
And taste in my bosom an earnest of heaven;
For virtue and wisdom can warm the cold scene,
And sixty may flourish as gay as sixteen.
And when long I the burden of life shall have borne,
And death, with his sickle, shall clip the ripe corn,
Resign'd to my fate, without murmur or sigh,
I'll bless the kind summons, and lie down and die.

To be Let,

For one, two, or three years, as may be agreed on by the parties,

THAT well improved fertile FARM, whereon William Frazier, deceased, lately lived, lying in Caroline county.

This plantation possesses many advantages. It is beautifully situated upon Choptank River, has good convenient landings for the delivery of its products. Is partly surrounded by fine angle and seine fisheries—It has excellent, extensive pasturage for all kinds and quantity of stock, abounds with a variety of fruit; has two large apple orchards, with outhouses sufficient to secure a large crop; and when well cultivated, it is capable of producing annually from 1000 to 1200 bushels of wheat, four or five hundred barrels of corn, and a good crop of tobacco, oats, flax, &c.

Mrs. Frazier reserves the dwelling-house, carriage-house, garden, and the two lots laying on each side of the garden, as they are now enclosed, with sufficient apples and other fruits for her family's use, and pasturage for her small stock. This farm being large, will require a tenant with a strong force: and it is very desirable that he produce strong testimonials of his honesty, industry, sobriety, and neighbourly disposition.
