Our Merchants.

The subject of our sketch this morning is Mr. Thomas S. Bordley, the oldest clothing merchant, in point of continuous business, in the town. Mr. Bordley opened business in the old market house which formerly stood in what is now Chestertown's beautiful park, in November 1875. Here he continued until the first of the following year, 1876, when he removed to Bordley's corner, one of the most durable business locations in the town. Mr. Bordley, first with his father, then with his brother, the late John W. Bordley, and finally alone, has conducted a successful business at the same old stand practically 46 years. He was among the victims of Chestertown's great conflagration on September 26th, 1910, when his building with almost its entire contents went up in smoke. For nearly a year Mr. Bordley "kep shop" among other fire victims on the Square in a large shanty, during which time the splendid property which the firm occupies at present was being erected. Mr. Bordley, who has recently associated his two sons, Messrs. T. Kemp and Carl N. Bordley in business with him, has one of the handsomest and most modernly equipped clothing stores on the Peninsula. There has been a complete transformation of the business since the fire, and the business has increased wonderfully not only on account of the careful and honest business methods of the members of the firm, but also because of the greatly increased facilities for doing business which the firm has recently inaugurated. Mr. Bordley and his sons are on the job. They are courteous, wide-awake and aggressive merchants, and they are carrying a line of goods that will please the conservative as well as the most fastidious. We wish our pioneer clothing merchant and his boys increased success in their business, and will use our efforts to drive their business in the large space which they carry in the TRANSCRIPT. Mr. Bordley deserves the commendation of the community in the erection of the handsome property on the corner which has greatly enhanced the value of surrounding property.

P. O. S. of A. Notes.

A joint debate was held at Church Hill on Monday night by Centreville Camp, No. 83, Church Hill Camp, No. 13, and Chestertown Camp, No. 37. The subject for debate was: "Was the United States Justifiable in Going to War With Spain." The affirmative won. Mr. Charles Walls, of Centreville Camp, and Mr. J. T. Brown, of Church Hill Camp, were for the affirmative, and Mr. J. Frank Wheatley and Prof. Jefferson L. Smyth, of Chestertown Camp, were for the negative.

Camp No. 83, of Centreville, Md., will conduct a class initiation of 21 candidates on April 16.

Camp No. 13, of Church Hill, is preparing for a large class initiation on April 26. The entire state executive will attend an confer the work.

Camp 37, at Rock Hall, celebrated its 12th anniversay last Thursday evening. The event proved to be a grand success; the supper could not be surpassed, the tables just burdened with chicken and oysters and other good things, and the manner in which it was served was an exhibition of rare skill. Surely the members of Camp 37 have displayed splendid choice in choosing for their better-half such fine looking and skillful women; which ought to be a great inducement for other young men to join the P. O. S. of A., one of the best orders known to men, whose motto is "God, Our Country and Our Order." The entertainment was fine and highly enjoyed by all. Bro. Ryan made the opening address.

If your are a millionaire it makes little difference, but, if not, then you SHOULD consider.
