General Advertiser.

EASTON:—TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 6, 1810.

We are authorised, and requested to say that the Committes from Queen-Ann's Caroline and Talbot counties will meet at Hillsborough, on SATURDAY NEXT, 10th of November instant, for the purpose of nominating a Candidate to represent the Seventh Congressional District of this State, to fill the vacancies occasioned by the resignation of JOHN BROWN, Esq. The Governor's writ for holding the election having superceded a former notice for that purpose.

The National Intelligencer of Friday last, says, "Government yesterday received despatches from Gen. Armstrong, our Minister in France, which, we understand, afford official information of the late change of attitude by that nation."

BY THE PRESIDENT
OF THE UNITED STATES.
A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS by the fourth section of the act of Congress, passed on the first day of May, 1810, entitled "An act concerning the commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies, and for other purposes," it is provided "that in case either Great Britain or France shall, before the third of March next, so revoke or modify her edicts as that they shall cease to violate the neutral commerce of the United States, which fact the President of the United States shall declare by proclamation, and if the other nation shall not within three months thereafter so revoke or modify her edicts in like manner, then the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth and eighteenth sections of the act entitled "An act to interdict the commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies, and for other purposes," shall, from and after the expiration of three months from the date of the proclamation aforesaid, be revived and have full force and effect, so far as relates to the dominions, colonies and dependencies, and to the articles the growth, produce or manufacture of the dominions, colonies and dependencies of the nation thus refusing or neglecting to revoke or modify her edicts in the manner aforesaid. And the restrictions imposed by this act shall, from the date of such proclamation, cease and be discontinued in relation to the nation revoking or modifying her decrees in the manner aforesaid:"

And whereas it has been officially made known to this government that the edicts of France violating the neutral commerce of the United States have been so revoked as to cease to have effect, on the first of the present month: Now therefore, I, JAMES MADISON, President of the United States, do hereby proclaim that the said edicts of France have been so revoked as that they ceased on the said first day of the present month to violate the neutral commerce of the United States; and that, from the date of these presents, all the restrictions imposed by the aforesaid act shall cease and be discontinued in relation to France and her dependencies.

In testimony whereof, I have caused the seal of the United States to be hereunto affixed, and signed the same with my hand at the
(L. S.) City of Washington, this second day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and ten, and of the Independence of the United States, the thirty-fifth.

JAMES MADISON.

By the President,
R. SMITH, Secretary of State.

(CIRCULAR.)

SIR,

You will herewith receive a copy of the Proclamation of the President of the United States, announcing the revocation of the edicts of France which violated the neutral commerce of the United States, and that the restrictions, imposed by the act of May 1st last, accordingly cease from this day in relation to France. French armed vessels may therefore be admitted into the harbors & waters of the United States, any thing in that law to the contrary notwithstanding.

It also follows that if Great Britain shall not, on the 2d day of February next, have revoked or modified in like manner her edicts violating the neutral commerce of the United States, the 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, and 18th sections of the "Act to interdict the commercial intercourse between the United States and Great Britain and France and their dependencies, and for other purposes," shall, in conformity with the act first above mentioned, be revived and have full force and effect, so far as relates to Great Britain and her dependencies, from and after the said 2d day of February next. Unless therefore you shall before that day be officially notified by this department of such revocation or modification, you will, from and after the said day, carry into effect the above mentioned sections, which prohibit both the entrance of British vessels of every description into the harbors and waters of the United States, and the importation into the United States of any articles the growth, produce or manufacture of the dominions, colonies and dependencies of Great Britain, & of any articles whatever brought from the said diminions, colonies and dependencies.
