THEY tell us that there is a combination of the Allies against the Germans in the Organization ranks. Mutiny, don't you know, mutiny.

THE "tax-payer's special" will leave for the Panama Exposition on Monday. It will carry a part of the Maryland Commission for the dedication of the Maryland Building.

EVERY true alumnus of Johns Hopkins University mourns the death of plucky Bob Layfield who was practically fatally injured in the Lehigh-Hopkins game, but who for months made a game fight for life, death finally winning the victory on Tuesday.

THE gallon-a-month law was defeated by the Delaware Legislature this week. What a blessing to the State of Delaware. There never was a greater curse put upon the people of the Eastern Shore than this gallon-a-month law, and the Organization bosses are absolutely responsible for its passage.

THE man who goes on the Organization ticket in the approaching primaries will be stamped all over with EXTRAVAGANCE and BROKEN PROMISES, and it makes no difference how well fitted he may be for any particular position, he is the creature of the crowd that piled up the debts on the tax-payers in the last Legislature and grabbed fat jobs for themselves.

MR. JAMES T. DIXON has publicly declared during the week to the associate editor of the Enterprise, who interviewed him on the subject, that he is a candidate for re-election for clerk of the circuit court in the coming primaries. Mr. Dixon is making no flare about his candidacy, but is telling his friends that he will be in the fight to a finish. Mr. Dixon's informal announcement occasioned no surprise to us, and when he gets ready to do so he will formally announce his candidacy, and somebody will scoot.

THE Organization forces, led by Bosses Beck and Wickes, are courting the sympathy and assistance of the Baltimore Sun in their efforts to hoodwink the people again. But it will take more than the brilliancy of a luminary like the Sun to enable them to win this next primary in Kent county. They are just about as anxious to get into a fight with Hope H. Barroll for the State's Attorneyship as a mouse is to be caught by a cat, and their threats from across the Chesapeake have no terrors whatever for Mr. Barroll or his friends in this fight.

MAYOR PRESTON has announced his candidacy for re-election as Mayor of Baltimore city. Such an announcement was expected. Mayor Preston could not refuse to answer the call for his candidacy from the business interests of the city, and his action is based largely upon the general request for his renomination by the people of his city. Mayor Preston deserves another term as Mayor of Baltimore. He has made one of the very best executives the city has ever had, because he has done those things which have redounded to the great development of a great big city. He should have no opposition either in the primaries or general election, and in view of the fact that the American and City News are for him, it looks as though whatever opposition he may have will be weak and ineffective.

THE Sun, speaking editorially on Monday of the first two years of Wilson, says in part:

"One more and incalculably important thing Mr. Wilson has done in these two years. He has kept the nation from war. Had Mr. Taft been in the White House, could he, with all his own personal impulse for right, have resisted the pressure from Europe and this country to interfere in the domestic affairs of Mexico? It is very doubtful whether [illegible] could have stood firm. If Mr. Roosevelt had been there would we not now [illegible] actively engaged in the European [illegible] If he means what he has repeatedly said, we certainly should be. Is [illegible] Administration which has saved us from such superlative tragedies worth while? Do not the people of this country and mankind in general owe it praise and thanks for that, if for nothing else? If it had been a failure in everthing else, this alone would mark it as one of the most successful and valuable Administration in American history."

MR. WILLIAM W. BECK in an extended interview in the Sun last Saturday which he gave out from the Rennert, Baltimore, declared that he will not be a candidate for renomination for the Senate, but that he will devote his time to his FRIENDS, and to fighting Hope H. Barroll, Esq., for State's Attorney in the coming primaries. Well, sir, if his fight against Mr. Barroll is no more effective than his solicitude for his FRIENDS in the past has been, Mr. Barroll will have a walkover for State's Attorney. Mr. Beck has displayed keen wisdom in refusing to run for renomination for the Senate or for anything else, on account largely of his past great solicitude for the wellfare of his friends, and Mr. Turner, his candidate for State Senator, had better be extremely careful, or he will have to bear the brunt of the stigma of Senator Beck's past legislative record, for just as certain as you are living, if the Organization candidates are successful in the next primaries, they will be absolutely under the control of the Bosses of the Organization, who have piled the expenses upon the State and county until they are a great burden, and who have grabbed the fat jobs for themselves and let their friends shift for themselves.

WE understand that Mr. Howard Turner is afraid to make the fight against Mr. W. Bradford Copper for fear of being defeated. Mr. Turner's fears are exceedingly well founded, for Mr. Copper is one of the strongest men in Kent county, and in our judgment, will undoubtedly be nominated and elected.

MR. CHARLES HODGKIN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Hodgkin, graduated recently at Beacom Business College, Wilmington, with honors. Through the influence of Mr. W. B. Copper, Mr. Hodgkin has just secured a desirable position with the Citizens' National Bank of Baltimore, and entered upon his duties this week. That is another illustration of the way in which the Anti-Organization takes care of the young men. This is the third young man that Mr. Copper has placed in Baltimore banks, and there may be others before very long.

THERE has been a change in the Organization ticket during the week. Mr. Russell, we understand, has refused to run for the Senate, and Mr. Howard Turner is talked of, though there are many who declare that Mr. Beck himself will be the candidate. Mr. Jesse H. Usilton has been bowled over as a candidate for Register of Wills and Mr. George Sutton, of Locust Grove, or Mr. Frank Crow, of the Sixth District, has been selected. If Mr. Sutton is a candidate for Register of Wills, then Mr. Crow will run for Treasurer, and vice versa. At any rate, the Bosses in Chestertown are bowling them out right and left, and by the time the ticket is arranged, there will be such a mixup that the Organization crowd wont know whether they are going or coming.

SENATOR LEE STRONGER CANDIDATE.

Just to convince those people who may be caught by the Organization statement that Senator Lee is weaker than he was in his wonderful fight against Thomas Parran, one of the most popular Republicans in the State of Maryland, in the election for United State Senator, it will be remembered that Senator Lee not only defeated Parran by a majority of over 40,000, but he received 6,000 MORE VOTES IN THE STATE THAN DID THE HON. EMERSON C. HARRINGTON, who ran for Comptroller, and who is now the recognized John Walter Smith candidate for Governor against Senator Lee. Senator Lee has done nothing since he has been in the U. S. Senate to weaken him, except that he has upheld the hands of the President in everything that pertained to the welfare of the people, and we are frank to say that in the estimation of some reactionary Democrats, this has been a source of weakness to Senator Lee. Now, Senator Lee could spare Comptroller Harrington 6,000 and more votes and still be a stronger candidate for the Democrats than Comptroller Harrington. There will be no trouble whatever to elect Senator Lee Governor of Maryland, because he is one of the most popular men in the State with the rank and file of his party and the independent voters. And unless we are very much mistaken, Senator Lee will have even stronger support in his campaign for Governor this year than he had in his famous campaign when he came within one vote of being the Democratic nominee.

A DEMOCRAT, writing in the Wicomico County News last week relative to Senator Blair Lee's candidacy for Governor, says very pointedly:

"A man who has been able to make his way in politics in Maryland from an unknown quantity to a high seat in the United States Senate against the wishes and in the face of the obstacles which have been thrown in his path by the State and City Organization must have something in him which the rank and file of the Democrats of the State admire, and he must be a man of fine parts and pronounced leadership. He has the ability to make one of the finest Governors Maryland has ever had, and with his pronounced views along the line of economy and good government, he will make an Executive of whom the people of the State will be proud, and who will give us a business administration which will be beneficial to the taxpayers of the State. We want to get away from the old lines a little and Blair Lee is a progressive with a big P. He started the progressive idea in the Maryland Senate and he has all through his political career been a leader in new ideas which were beneficial to the people and to the interest of the Democratic party in the State. Such a man will rally the people at the general elections and will cause the Democratic party in Maryland to give the largest Democratic majority in the past twenty years. A vote for Blair Lee will be a vote for progress and a sure winner next November."

FARMER KILLS WIFE THEN KILLS HIMSELF.

The Wife a Former Kent County Girl.

Frank Duncan, a farmer living on the outskirts of Blackwood, New Jersey, about twelve miles from Camden, shot and killed his wife, in their home Wednesday, and then committed suicide.

He had been ill for several years with chronic appendicitis, he was in financial difficulties from which he saw no way out, and he believed that his wife was in love with another man, James Pollock, whom he employed as a farm hand. Friends believe his troubles drove Duncan insane.

The tragedy was discovered by farm hands. Mrs. Duncan's body was in a crouching position on the parlor floor, her head resting on a sofa, with a bullet hole through her forehead. Duncan's body was in bed on the second floor, covered with bed clothes. A bullet hole was through his head. One hand clutched the revolver with which the shots had been fired, the other held two letters.

One of these disclosed the motive for the crime. It was written by Mrs. Duncan to Pollock, who was formerly employed by the Duncans as a farm hand, but had left them. What he learned from the letter is believed to have upset his already worried brain and spurred him on to the crime. Mrs. Duncan was formerly a Miss Patience Sheets, of this county. They leave two children. The will be buried in Camden side by side.

POLITICAL POETRY.

"To the Legislature of 1914" Subject Herein (Dis)cussed.

The wise solons who sat of late,
In Maryland, Poor Maryland;
Have well nigh wrecked the grand old State,
Of Maryland, Poor Maryland.

The Constitution badly sprained,
Good people of all parties pained.
The fair name has been deeply stained
Of Maryland, Poor Maryland.

The Senate Secretary Bill,
Maryland, Poor Maryland.
The pockets of one Boss to fill
In Maryland, Poor Maryland.

To rob the good State's treasury till,
Against the poor tax-payers' will,
Of thousands was a bitter pill
For Maryland, Poor Maryland,

Three men to fill a single place,
For Maryland, Poor Maryland.
But each for "full" pay did chase
For Maryland, Poor Maryland.

Their duties were to be on hand
When checks were handed to command,
To pay the Bosses' faithful band
In Maryland, Poor Maryland.

The acts were mainly to provide,
Maryland, Poor Maryland.
That Bosses and Pets in wealth should ride.
In Maryland, Poor Maryland.

To pension those who were of "use"
To help the good State to abuse;
But wise men now well know the ruse,
In Maryland, Poor Maryland.

The tax rate never was so high,
In Maryland, Poor Maryland,
"What shall we do?" the poople cry
In Maryland, Poor Maryland,

Select GOOD men and for them vote,
And sink the unsound Bosses' boat;
No longer let corruption float
In Maryland, Poor Maryland.—Ex.

TRYING TO SAVE CHILD'S LIFE.

A Virginia Girl Undergoes Serious Operation at Maryland General Hospital, Baltimore.

In an effort to save the life of little Eunice Painter, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren G. Painter, of Virginia, who has been confined to the hospital since November suffering from an intestinal trouble, Dr. Herbert C. Blake, assisted by Dr. John D. Blake and Dr. J. E. Dull, with Dr. Ridgely Warfield, Dr. J. Page Strong and several other physicians present, operated last week and created an avenue through the abdomen to the infected intestine into which they made several incisions. Every method devised by the surgeons to effect a cure without operating was resorted to during the child's confinement to the hospital, but all efforts were unavailing. Nearly five months ago the little girl was stricken with appendicitis at her home in Virginia, the case being so serious that she could not stand the trip to Baltimore, and she was taken to a local hospital and operated on at once by one of Virginia's best surgeons. Following the operation paralysis developed in the intestines which necessitated a second and more tedious and serious operation. It was while the child was recuperating from the second surgical operation that an infection was found secreted about the stitches used in closing the wounds, and her parents and physicians decided it was best to bring her to a Baltimore hospital where they were better equipped for treating such a serious case. The little girl's patience and cheerfulness under her suffering up to the time she was operated on on Wednesday of last week has been remarkable. During the past two weeks her condition was such that an immediate operation was imperative, and through all this time the child has suffered intensely, and yet has borne her suffering so bravely. At this writing the little sufferer is doing as well as can be expected in her condition. She had undergone four operations previous to this one, her unusal vitality mainly pulling her through these trying ordeals. The little girl is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. Romie Strong.
