DON'T HIDE ANY FACTS.

The Kent News, which seems to be among the number who are endeavoring to make political capital out of the will of the late Senator Garrett Foxwell, a most despicable procedure, to say the least of it, published the following bit of characteristic sarcasm last week:

"The News is in receipt of a strong letter in reference to the Foxwell will, but owing to the fact that the writer omitted her name, it is not published. The writer is evidently acquainted with all the facts.

The above statement recalls to our minds an amusing conversation which took place in a certain town in the county shortly after the provisions of Senator Foxwell's will became known. The speaker was berating Mr. Barroll for the insertion of the clause which leaves the estate to Mr. Barroll in the event that Washington and St. John's Colleges refused to accept the bequest. The speaker said: "Hope Barroll has fixed that will so that neither Washington College nor St. John's could accept the money so that he could get it all." A bystander waited for the speaker to finish and then he said: "I don't believe Hope Barroll did any such a d—— thing. All this talk about Mr. Foxwell's will is done for nothing but politics. And I'll tell you one thing. You fellows better stop talking so much. There ain't a lawyer in Chestertown who wouldn't have done just as Hope Barroll did, and the only reason they are giving Barroll h—— is because he wrote the will and they didn't. All this talk is done for political effect and to try to prejudice the people against Barroll." From our own personal experience we are inclined to the belief that the author of the above statement is "acquainted with all the facts." The Board of Visitors and Governors hold their quarterly meeting next Wednesday evening, June 3rd, and it is confidently expected that they will gratefully accept the munificent bequest of the late Hon. Garrett Foxwell.

ST. JOHN'S WILL ACCEPT.

Hope H. Barroll, Esq., trustee of the estate of the late Senator Garrett Foxwell, has received a reply to his communication from President Fell on behalf of the Board of Visitors and Governors of St. John's College stating that in the event that the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College refuse to accept the bequest provided for in Senator Foxwell's will, he thinks the Board of Visitors and Governors of St. John's College will be glad to accept the bequest under the provisions contained in the will. In our judgment there is no likelihood that the Board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College will refuse to accept the bequest, and all such talk to the contrary, is but political claptrap. Things seem to have come to such a state nowadays that not even the memory of the dead is held sacred, when those who should know better seek to inject politics even into the making of a man's will.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Miss Emily Lantz, dramatic critic, and editor of the column Frocks and Frills in the Sun, with her sister, Miss Josephine, and Mr. Gilbert J. Morgan, all of Baltimore, visited Chestertown last Friday as the guests of Prof. W. Raymond Moody. They were entertained by Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard during their stay here and Miss Lantz returned the compliment in her column in the Sun on Wednesday by giving Mrs. Hubbard and her Chestertown home a pretty writeup.

The Methodest Protestant, in its issue on Wednesday, contained the following items interesting to Chestertown and Kent county residents, where both young ladies are well-known:

"Miss Lulu Holmes, the daughter of Rev. J. M. Holmes, D. D., of Harrington, Del., has been at the Union Protestant Infirmary, in this city, for treatment. The surgical operations have been successful, and she is slowly recovering. We trust that she will be entirely restored to health. She is a splendid young lady and the joy and comfort of her father."

"Miss Venia Crouse, the youngest daughter of Rev. T. O. Crouse, has not been in good health for some time. Her physicians finally decided upon a surgical operation, and she was operated on on Tuesday afternoon, May 26. We trust that she will soon be restored to health. She is a young woman of gifts, and qualifications that fit her for a large place in life.

We are glad to state that Mrs. Jesse H. Usilton, who underwent an operation at a Baltimore hospital last week, is improving.

Mr. Frank Passwater, superintendent of the Pennsylvina depot attended a meeting of railroad officials in Wilmington last week.
