HER FIANCE DIES.

Mr. Henry Franz, Who Was to Have Married Miss Nannie Bowers on June 3rd, Succumbs to Typhoid Fever.

Two weeks prior to June 3rd, invitations were issued by Rev. Dr. and Mrs. John S. Bowers, of Baltimore, to the marriage of their daughter, Nannie Deborah, to Mr. Henry Franz. Two days before the date set for the wedding Mr. Franz was stricken with typhoid fever, and although he made a strong fight against the ravages of the disease, and had the attention of skilled physicians and trained nurses, he succumbed to the disease at five o'clock on Sunday morning. Miss Bowers was notified of a change for the worse in Mr. Franz's condition by telephone at four o'clock on Sunday morning, and she hurried to his home, reaching there just five minutes after he died. She was met at the door of the home by the nurse, who imparted the sad news. Miss Bowers collapsed, but is bearing her grief bravely. Mr. Franz and Miss Bowers had known each other for several years. He was an attendant at Alnutt Memorial M. P. Church during the pastorate of Miss Bowers' father. There they met and a warm friendship finally developed into an engagement, and finally the wedding day was set for June 3rd.

The wedding plans had progressed so far that the young man had bought and furnished a home in Walbrook for his prospective bride. Invitations had been sent to the friends and relatives of the couple, and everyone was looking forward to the wedding. Mr. Franz was employed as clerk at the Eutaw Savings Bank. He complained of feeling ill about the latter part of last month and was forced to go to bed. The physicians in attendance declared that he had developed typhoid fever. He later became delirious. The day before the date set for the wedding it was seen that Mr. Franz would be unable to be married; so for a time it was planned to have the wedding ceremony performed in the bedroom. But as he was unconscious most of the time, the plans were abandoned and the day for the wedding indefinitely postponed and the invitations were recalled. A few days ago it was noticed that Mr. Franz appeared to be gaining in strength, but later he took a turn for the worse and gradually sank.

Born in Baltimore on May 27, 1888, Mr. Franz was the son of Julius and Christina Franz. His father is a retired business man, having been engaged in the grocery business for many years. Mr. Franz attended the public schools, and afterwards became a student at the City College. He was president of his classes during the years of '04, '05 and '06. He graduated from the college in 1906 with high honors. He was business manager of the Green Bag, the college paper, and a charter member of the Phi Sigma Gamma Fraternity.

It was our pleasure to know Mr. Franz intimately. He was a young gentleman of most excellent character, and possessed business traits and habits of life that insure success in life. The future looked particularly bright for him and his prospective bride, and it is indeed a sad circumstance that death should overtake him just when he was ready to live. Miss Bowers' many friends and relatives here sympathize with her deeply in the great sorrow that has come into her young life. Funeral services were held from the residence of the deceased's parents, 2406 E. Baltimore street, on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Loudon Park cemetery.

The parlor was filled with beautiful floral designs. The Eutaw Savings Bank, in which the deceased was a clerk, sent a large horse shoe of white and red roses, sweet peas and orchids, and the Bankers' Association sent a beautiful design, as did also many of the deceased's school friends and acquaintances. During his recent illness he was elected vice-president of the Baltimore Chapter of Bank Clerks, and fully two thousand people called at his home to express their sympathy. The Baltimore preachers meeting sent to the father of the prospective bride the following note of sympathy:

BALTIMORE, JUNE 16, 1914.

TO REV. JOHN S. BOWERS, D. D. AND FAMILY:

DEAR DOCTOR BOWERS: At the session of the Baltimore Preacher's Meeting yesterday we, the president and secretary, were commissioned to convey to you, to your family and especially to your distressed daughter an expression of deep and tender sympathy in the sorrow that has come into your home through the untimely death of Mr. Henry W. Franz, the affianced husband of Miss Nannie.

This tragic ending of the fond hopes of two excellent young people whose hearts had been so long plighted in mutual love and this sudden frustration of auspicious plans so nearly realized is a calamity so unlooked for and so crushing that no words of ours can fitly characterize it; we share, so far as is possible, your grief and disappointment, but like yourselves we bow in meek submission to the All-wise Power in whose hand our breath is and whose are all our ways and steadfastly hold to the faith that He doeth all things well.

Be assured that you are remembered by your friends and brethern in this trying hour and our hearts are touched into responsive grief and loving sympathy by this painful bereavement. And let this assurance of human symphty in your sorrow be a reminder and a pledge that the heart of the Elder Brother, the God of all comfort is moved with tender and healing compassion in this time of your sadness and shattered hopes. May his grace be abundantly vouchsaved unto you and into the darkened home may there come the blessing and peace which He alone can bestow.
