SENATOR LEE HITS FURST

Takes a Dig at Senator Smith and Says Harrington is Not Only Smith's Mouth-piece But is Responsible For State's Deficit of $1,000,000.

Senator Blair Lee, in his speech Tuesday night, at the housewarming of the Democratic Club of the Eighth Ward, which has just moved from its old location at Gay and Washington streets into more commodious quarters at 1919 Hoffmann street, went at Frank A. Furst hammer and tongs for the statements reflecting on him in Mr. Furst's recent interview, in which he gave the reasons why he intended to support Comptroller Harrington in the Democratic primaries.

Senator Lee intimated pretty strongly that corporation interests have influenced Mr. Furst's opposition to him and his support of Mr. Harrington, and suggested that both Senator John Walter Smith, of "whose forces in the Legislature Mr. Harrington has been the active head," and Mr. Harrington himself are tarred with the same corporation stock.

In addition to Senator Lee speeches were made at the meeting by Mayor Preston, President Hubert of the Second Branch of the City Council, State Senator William Milnes Maloy, who desires the nomination for the Attorney-Generalship; Robert E. Lee, Daniel J. Loden, City Collector Hook, Robert F. Leach, W. W. Stockham and John H. Ferguson, president of the Federation of Labor.

PAYS HIS RESPECTS TO FURST.

"In referring to a part of what Mr. Frank A. Furst has said in behalf of Mr. Harrington and against me in this campaign," said Senator Lee, "it is proper to speak with a certain deference toward Mr. Furst, both by reason of his age and his high social and business standing. But when it comes to his political predictions and his advice to the Democratic voters of the State, he must needs be answered, and if, in doing so, it is shown that his political opinions are not in harmony with what we call 'progressive Democracy,' and that his sympathy does not go out to the men who have struggled for years in this State along that line, no personal friend of Mr. Furst should feel offended, but should simply recognize his tendencies and the limitations of his political views.

"Mr. Furst says:

"I know both of these men well, and it is so clear to my mind that of the two Mr. Harrington is the better qualified both by his experience and also by his record that it is hard for me to understand how those who know them both can hesitate between them.

"In order for the people to understand what Mr. Furst means they should know something of the standard by which he measures public men.

STANDS ON HIS RECORD.

"Starting in as a State Senator, I have stood for many measures of general public interest. My record there has given me whatever reputation and political influence I may have in State matters. Among the measures which I have either initiated or actively supported are the Primary Election law, the Public Utilities law, the Income Tax Amendment to the Federal Constitution, the Employers' Liability act, the Telegraphers' Eight-Hour law, and Full Crew law, etc. Will Mr. Furst state to the public whether he approved or gave his moral support to the passage of any of these measures? Does he not know, as a matter of fact, that his political and personal friend, Senator Smith, whom he is now attempting to serve, was strongly opposed to each and every one of these measures?

"Does he not know that for years Mr. Harrington has exerted whatever influence he had at Annapolis with the Legislature in support of those measures which Senator Smith favored, and to defeat those measures which Senator Smith opposed; and that Mr. Harrington has been the active directing head of the Smith forces in the Legislature for some time?

"Will Mr. Furst state whether it is not this service of Mr. Harrington which is so attractive to him as to cause him to prefer Mr. Harrington to me in this primary?

SPEAKS OF THE CORPORATIONS.

"Mr. Furst, it is understood, is still an active man and possesses large interests in the Consolidated Gas Company, the United Railways and Electric Company and many other public service corporations, besides being the head of a concern which has derived profit from public contracts running into the millions of dollars. In advising the people how to vote in this primary is he speaking in the capacity of a representative of these various interests, or as one of the rank and file of the people?

"It will be remembered that during my campaign for the Governorship four years ago Mr. Furst came out in a published statement advising the people to vote for my then opponent, whom he also thought had the better record, according to Mr. Furst's standard. Mr. Furst's action in opposing me now is entirely consistent with his action then. It is worthy of note that since that time the entire Public Service Board has been changed, not one member appointed by Grovernor Crothers now remains. Is it possible that Mr. Furst's large interests in public service corporations had anything to do with his desire then and his present desire to have the appointive power of the State in the hands of one whose record he likes better than mine on corporation matters?

HITS AT HARRINGTON'S PRACTICE.

"I observe he states that Mr. Harrington is a lawyer of large general practice. My information is that Mr. Harrington has a good local practice and that his practice away from home consists very largely of cases in which he is employed by the branch of the Pennsylvania Railroad running through the Eastern Shore counties and in which railroad Senator Smith is a director. In view of Senator Smith's relations to Mr. Harrington, it is only fair to presume that Mr. Harrington had Senator Smith's active co-operation in obtaining this lucrative employment. Is it possible that this connection of Mr. Harrington has anything to do with the kindly interest Mr. Furst has in his promotion to the position of Chief Executive of the State, whose acts may be of much consequence to the Pennsylvania Railroad as well as to other great public service corporations?

"I ask the Democratic voters to consider whether it is not much better to nominate a man for Governor who has no such entangling alliances and whose environment is such that he could be perfectly fair as between the corporations on the one hand and the public on the other in filling vacancies on the Public Service Commission and performing all other duties imposed upon the Governor of the State where corporate or public interests are involved."

LAYS BLAME ON HARRINGTON.

Senator Lee urged that there should be a change of State government, and declared that the "enormous increase of the tax rate from 16 cents to 32 cents, and with a 36-cent rate in prospect" called for such a change.

"Comptroller Harrington was a party to this excessive rate, this 32-cent rate," said the Senator. He told of mismanagement of the State's affairs, where a deficit was faced, but our Comptroller cannot dodge his share of the responsibility therefor, and he surely should not be promoted to the Governorship on the strength of his share in the deficit."

Screws and corkscrews are right hand screws unless made for some special purpose. Left hand screws can be bought from any large hardware dealer. Coffin screws for some unexplained reason are always left hand screws. Man is naturally right handed, and it has been suggested that this may be owing to the position of his heart on the left side. So all tools and weapons have been adapted to right handed men. This is true of the adze, plane, scythe, gimlet, auger, scissors, snuffers, shears, etc.

The strongly left handed man will continue to use such tools with his left hand, even though with inconvenience, but he in whom the left handedness is not a strong bias becomes ambidextrous through the use of the right handed contrivances and appliances of everyday life.

Mr. Cook mentions many customs that have arisen through the normal right handedness of man. Among these is the rule of driving to the left, which still obtains in England, Portugal, Sweden and parts of Austria, Italy and Switzerland. This is a survival of riding days, when men held the reins in their left hands in order to leave their right free to use their swords.

The most notable example of a left handed artist is Leonardo da Vinci. He also wrote with his left hand and wrote from right to left. So that any one who wants to read his manuscripts or the annotations on his drawings must use a mirror. This, according to Mr. Cook, is the natural method of the left handed man.

Presidential Cheeses.

The first monster cheese presented to a president of which we can find record is that offered with great publicity to Jefferson in 1802. The cheese was made—one might almost say built—in Cheshire, Mass., in a press giving it the great dimensions of four feet diameter and eighteen inches high. After being successfully pressed it was drawn from Cheshire to Washington in a six horse dray amid popular rejoicing. With regard for the dignity of his office, the president insisted on footing the bill to the tune of $200. There is record of an even greater cheese presented to President Jackson, and President Van Buren received a great cheese every year of his incumbncy. With him the custom seems to have ended.—New York Sun.

Not Always Suppressed.

"Times have changed for the better. Torture, for instance, is no longer allowed."

"I don't know about that. There are four families in this apartment whose children take music lessons." — Baltimore American.

The Duke Struck It.

"The duke was about bankrupt when he married Miss Millyuns."

"Then you don't think it was a love match?"

"No; it was a safety match from the duke's point of view." — New York Globe.

Signals of Distress

Chestertown People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them.

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.
The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.
Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.
Backache is often present day and night.
Headaches and dizzy spells may occur.
Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.
Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.
Chestertown evidence proves their worth.

Mrs. I M. Blyman, High St., Chestertown, says: "One of our family had backache and other symptoms of weak kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured from Toulson's Drug Store and they gave relief."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Blyman recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
