Miss Epps Wed to F. A. Jenkins

RICHMOND. — Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Epps announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sarah E. Epps, to Francis Joysioux Jenkins, son of Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Julian Jenkins of Philadelphia, Pa. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Puller at his Germantown residence on August 21.

The bride wore a costume of teal blue with accessories of black, and her shoulder corsage was of orchids.

Mrs. Doris Marquess, the bride's maid of honor and only attendant, wore a dress of chile green, with black accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mrs. Jenkins, who now is employed as a teacher in the Richmond County (Va.) system, is a graduate of Virginia Union University, where she became a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha.

MRS. SARAH E. JENKINS

Miss Jenkins, Joseph Belon Not Married

Miss Dorothea Jenkins of 412 N. Spring, said this week that information given out that she has been married to Joseph Belon of 420 N. Spring Street, is incorrect.

Announcement was made last week that the couple had been married in September.

Miss Jenkins is the daughter of Mrs. Rosie Jenkins.

There is only one way to eliminate strikes, that is do away with corporations and millionaires. In Isaiah 58:10 and 13, the big shots are destroyed. Then they are buried deep, which can never have enough. Jesus said, "Blessed are the meek, for they shall inherit this earth from his own quarter." When will America wake up and learn the lesson from Union? Cause no strikes and why? because Misses, Ballwaye, is fact EVERYTHING is owned and operated by the Government. That is why they have amazed, astounded and enthralled the world. Anyone not agreeing with this can challenge us to debate, Anytime, Anywhere, Any Place!

To Make or Not to Make New Year Resolutions

Miss Lillie M. Howard, of 2417 McCulloh St., student at Cortes Peters Business School, Baltimore, who resolves for 1944 "to stay in school until I finish so I can get a job as a secretary."

Mrs. Cornelia Tibbs, of 902 W. Lexington St., who tells AFRO Inquiring Reporter she never makes resolutions. "If I know I am going to do something, I don't have to resolve. I just go ahead and do."

Miss Marie Cawthorne, of 1015 Stricker St., who says: "I am not making any resolutions. I don't usually keep them, so what's the use?" Her B. F. is a soldier and she wants him to come home soon.

Miss Guinevere Howard, of 2417 McCulloh St., who declares she could make a million resolutions but won't. "I am going to be more patriotic and I hope the war will be over soon so my brother can come home."

Miss Sarah Dorsey, of 747 Dolphin St., who says: "I am a social worker and I have only one resolution. As much service as possible to others; to help speed the end of the war."

Miss Alpemus Wed to Sgt. Dickerson

PHILADELPHIA

Mrs. Albertine Murphy of 2203 Fitzwater Street announces the marriage of Miss Gloria C. Alpemus to her brother, Sgt. Herbert H. Dickerson, which occurred in early fall.

Mrs. Dickerson, a graduate of Storer Teachers' College, is the daughter of Mrs. Thortine Alpemus of St. Louis, Mo. The bridegroom, who holds an A.B. from the Howard University School of Music, is stationed at Tampa, Fla. He is the son of the late Lettisha and Joseph Dickerson of this city.

The bride will stay in Philadelphia at the home of Mrs. Murphy for the duration. Sergeant Dickerson left on Monday for his post of duty.

GEORGE W. CARVER — The neighborhood club sent candy, cookies, fruits and toilet supplies to the patients at Henryton Hospital, last week. The gifts were taken by Mrs. Anita Cleary and Mrs. Reid. Mrs. Bertha Johnson is president.

They Also Serve

By RUTH JENKINS

The dawn of the New Year will find the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Levi B. Miller, Sr., pastorate family of the Unity Christian Community Church, breathing a special prayer for three of their eight children who are away from home—three sons serving in the Navy.

These servicemen are Robert, 22, stationed at Camp Robert Smalls, Great Lakes, Ill.; Paul, 20, Seattle, Wash., and James, 18, Oceanside, Cal.

Robert, a former welder-burner at the Philadelphia Sun Shipyard, began service in July; Paul, a former chauffeur, began service in March, and James, a former bakery employee, in September.

Neither Home for Holidays

Neither was able to be home during the Christmas, but they write almost daily and, according to Mrs. Miller, "since they are home boys, if they don't hear from us just as frequently, they phone to find out what is the matter."

Mrs. Miller, a typical motherly homelover, devotes most of her time to her home at 1533 Edmondson Avenue and to church work. Reading is her hobby.

MRS. LEVI MILLER

Other children in the family are the Rev. Levi B. Miller, Jr., a pastor in Sparrows Point; John, a Douglass High School pupil; Naomi, 14, Cornelia, 11, and Rebaz, 10.

Two Virginians at War College Receive Awards

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Mrs. Bernice E. Robinson, of Colonial Beach, Va., and George W. Lee, Jr., of Clifton, Va., received the War Department emblem for Civilian Service at headquarters of the Army Ground Forces, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, at ceremonies held at the Army War College here.

Mrs. Robinson, who husband is also an employee of the Government, has been assigned to duty at Gen. McNair's headquarters for sixteen months. Mr. Lee, a former student at Wormley School, Georgetown, has been employed for twenty months. His two daughters, Annie Bell Lee, 9, and Doris Elizabeth Lee, and son, Edward Stanley Lee, are also civilian employees.

The emblem of civilian service is the War Department's recognition of efficient and satisfactory service. A minimum of six consecutive months' employment, in addition to a high standard of efficiency, is required to qualify an employee for the award.
