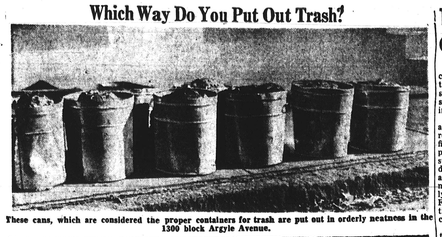
Which Way Do You Put Out Trash?



These cans, which are considered the proper containers for trash are put out in orderly neatness in the 1300 block Argyle Avenue.

This picture taken on Mosher St, between McCulloh and Druid Hill Ave., shows the wrong kind of trash basket filled with refuse of all kinds which has spilled onto the street. Seven persons were fined this week for the improper disposal of trash.

13 Draw Penalties in Clean Street Campaign

The unofficial "trash campaign" conducted by Northwestern District police this week resulted in summons being issued to 31 persons, 13 of whom paid fines totaling $46.

Both Magistrate Walter Dewees and Police Captain William Forrest denied the existance of an official "clean up your trash" campaign. However, it is unusual that such a mass of similar cases be docketed in one district within a few days. Dewees explained the number of cases were inadvertently scheduled somewhat enmass. Forrest contended that it is routine police work to report such cases.

The charges lodged were: "setting out trash in improper containers," and for "throwing trash on the street."

Dismissed were:

William Green, 31, of 808 Lanvale St.; Walter Jackson, 53, of 610 Carrollton Ave.; Mrs. Mamie Miller, 45, of 606 Carrollton Ave.; James Knight, 38, of 317 N. Stricker St.; Mrs. Mazie Byrd, 26, 542 N. Clean City Corps Director Airs Campaign Successes

Miss Frankie Murphy, director of the AFRO Winter Clean City Corps, which closed its first drive for the use of proper trash, garbage and ash containers last Thursday, talked over radio station WBAL, Saturday afternoon.

The program was one of a series sponsored by the street cleaning department in connection with Mayor McKeldin's Clean City drive.

Outgrowth of Clean Block Drive

The AFRO campaign, an outgrowth of the Summer Clean Block drive, began Oct. 1.

Youngsters who had captained a block during the campaign, took over a nearby block which needed to be cleaned, Miss Murphy said, and persuaded these residents to buy the proper galvanized metal containers for trash, garbage and ashes.

Captains Praised

Miss Murphy praised Misses Lusterine Watts and Shirley Warfield, co-captains of the 1400-1500 blocks of N. Parrish St. who won the $15 prize for improvement awarded by the NAACP.

Credit was also given to Miss Gladys Sterling captain of the 700 W. Mulberry St. block where on any collection day a row of 40 uniform metal containers could be seen along the curbstone.

Robert Wilson, 12, sang two Christmas carols and a group of 20 girls under the direction of Miss Adah Watts accompanied him. Miss Mellie Miller played the piano, and Mrs. Alma Armstrong, white, of the street cleaning department, presided.
