NEW YEAR GREETINGS

The Transcript extends New Year greetings to its friends, patrons and the public. The past year has been an eventful one and the coming year promises many more eventful happenings. To all we hope prosperity and good cheer.

PRESIDENT WILSON seems to be a welcome guest to the European nations. He is being most graciously received everywhere and it is to be hoped his visit will be productive of much good and that an everlasting peace may be the outcome of the Peace Conference which is soon to meet in France.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Just three more days remain in which to raise the allotment of this county for the sale of War Savings Stamps. All who can possibly do so should make purchases before the drive ends and thus help put Kent County to the front. The county has met all of its war allotments heretofore and we should not let it fail in this. The committees are working hard to accomplish the desired end and it is hoped they will not fail in raising this county's allotment. From a patriotic point of view it is our duty to buy the stamps and from a business point of view it is a good investment. Before another issue of The Transcript the drive will have ended and we hope the full amount of Kent's allotment will have been met.

WEDDINGS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dwyer, on High street, Chestertown, will be the scene of a pretty wedding today at 12 o'clock noon, when their daughter, Miss Eva Mae Dwyer will become the bride of Mr. Walter Lee Walbert. Johnson Goes Free.—The case of Chas. H. Johnson, the Aberdeen bank cashier, who killed Major King, and which attracted considerable attention in Kent county, ended on Saturday with the acquittal of Johnson on the plea of self-defense. Judges Adkins and Hopper were on the bench in the brought into court at 8.15 o'clock and at 5.30 o'clock on Friday and at 8 p. m. word was sent the court that a verdict had been reached. Johnson was brought itno court at 8.15 o'clock and Judge Adkins told the large crowd that had been on hand all day and expected that a verdict would be announced, that the court room was no theatre, but a court-room. He also warned of a demonstration and threatened to send the leaders to jail. The ailiffs were ordered to stand at the trances to the inner court as a matt t precaution. The verdict of the said to be a popular one.

UNDER THE STARS AND STRIPES

Every cloud, however dark, has a silver lining, it is said. And thus we can get some consolation from the battle-scarred fields of France, where the graves dot the hillsides and mark the last resting place of many of the best of our young men. We can get consolation from the fact that out of the dread abyss of war has sprang a religious fervor that heretofore had lain dormant. Read the many loving letters from son to parent, which The Transcript has been publishing each week, and we see that a closer relation has sprung up between them that will be the joy of their hearts; wife and husband have in some cases again been united as of yore, while the sweetheart awaits the return of many a young man with increased devotion. Out of the dreadful carnage of war, out of the wreck of homes and the maiming of young men in the full possesion of their manhood, out of the pillage of the cities and ruin of the works of art for which men gave the best of their lives, out of the ruined forests and the orchards and the vineyards that years of toil had created; out of the pathos, out of the misery, out of the untold tragedy of it all, rises this one consolation at least—this one silver lining to the somber cloud—THE INCREASED DEVOTION OF HUMAN BEINGS FOR ONE ANOTHER.

Mr. Norman Peterson returned from Camp McClellan on last Friday. Mr. Peterson was one of the first Kent boys to enlist for the war. He looks well and says he is in good health.

Mr. Joseph Lambert, of Camp Meade, was home for the week-end.

Mr. Frank Turner, of Camp Meade, spent the week-end with his wife and parents in Chestertown.

Mr. Fred Wallace, who has been discharged from service in the army, is now suffering with rheumatism. Mr. Wallace did not contract this trouble until he had returned to this country from England.

The following letter is from Private Frank Lambert, Jr., to his brother, Mr. Charles Lambert:

I am dropping you a few lines to let you know that I am well except a cold, and all of us have that over here.

Well, you can easily see by this time just what we did to the Kaiser and Germany. It was certainly a terrible battle, and the front on which the war ended was in my estimation the worst front of the entire war of which the United States was connected.

You ought to see the mistletoe over here. It grows on any kind of a tree and there is peinty of it. The rabbits over here are exceedingly large.

I was in the city of Verdun when they were shelling it, and it certainly must have been a beautiful place before the war. I have been on the front for about 72 days and was certainly glad when the guns stopped firing.

Some of the shells would make a hole as large as your front room and as deep in the ground when they bursted. They also would blow the big steel rails out of the railroad, cut off trees from 12 to 20 inches across. Many of the towns are blown to pieces, not even a place to sleep being left in many of the houses.

I would love for you to see this place now, but am glad that you was not in this war, as you may not have been as lucky as I was.

I am getting homesick now since the war has ceased, because I want to get home. I don't know when I will get home—it may be two months and it may be six, but I will be home just as soon as I can—and then I can tell you something that will interest you all.

The following letter is from Private William R. White, who is somewhere in France, under date of Oct. 22, and was written to his mother and father:

Am writing you a few lines to let you know that I am well and hope this letter will find you the same and getting along all right. I guess it will soon be winter in the states.

Was out late last night and am sitting in a woods now writing to you.

Guess I will spend my happy Christmas somewhere in France. I am wondering how everything is at Cliffs and if Mrs. Anderson is still there. It has been about four months since I saw any large body of water like the old Chester. I haven't much to say and don't suppose I could say much more if I had, as no doubt all letters are censored. But I will have a long story to tell when I get back to old Maryland, that is, if I am on the lucky side.

A letter from Private James H. Kendall, dated November 22, to his mother from France, is as follows:

I am well and feeling fine. Left the hospital last week, but haven't reached my company yet, but expect to be back with the boys soon.

Believe me, it is some cool over here now, but I am used to it and don't mind it now, as I have found a good chum from Betterton, Charles Joiner. We went to Camp Meade together, but we have not been together all the time. I just came in contact with him again and believe me I am proud of it too. He is some nice boy. I surely will be glad to get back to the loved ones again that I left behind.

Talk about cooties, there are millions of them over here and a fellow often gets a few of them, but, believe me, we are not long getting rid of them. There are lots of the Baltimore boys here and we have a good time together talking about the good old times. I guess there was a great celebration over there when the war closed, but none of them were any happier than I was and not only me, but lots of others. I am surely glad it is over and the Red Cross and the Salvation Army are the greatest organizations in the world, I think. When you can ever help either of them in any way don't fail to do it for they have been awful good to the boys over here. The Y. M. C. A. is something else great and you bet your life when I come back they will have another member, for I will be a good boy then! You ought to see us boys reading on these side-door Pullmans they have in France. Why, we build fires in them and make coffee and it goes good.

Well, I guess I won't be home for Christmas, but I am satisfied as the war is over, but don't forget to have me a large mess of oysters when I do come, as I could eat a big mess now.

There is not anything that brought me out safe but your prayers, as I surely have had some close calls.

Mr. Conlyn Noland has been mustered out of service and is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Noland, at Fairlee.

The name of Mr. Ellwood D. Moore, of Millington, appears in the list of wounded in action on Saturday.

The following is a letter from Priv. Granville T. Ward, under the date of November 24, and is from France:

Suppose you won't be expecting a letter from me at this time, but this is Father's Day and every soldier in the A. E. F. is requested to write to their father. So I am taking the pleasure of writing to the only father I know.

Today is a very rainy day here. I don't know why they call it Sunny France, because it has rained almost every day since I have been here.

I am in a base hospital near Nantes, which is a very large city, and I spend lots of my time up town, for I was only slightly wounded and my arm is almost healed.

I suppose we will be coming home soon as they are going to send those in the hospitals first which will please me for sure.

Only wish I could run across Ray while we are on this side. Am sure it would be a pleasure for us both.

It isn't so bad over here now that we don't have to fight.

The French are just wild over the peace terms and think we Americans are great.

Wishing you all a Merry Christmas, and while we are over here we will not forget our friends in U. S. A.

Sergeant Frank Jarman is the first Kent County soldier to return from the battlefields of France. Sergeant Jarman came in Tuesday afternoon and his many friends were certainly glad to see the former baseball pitcher and athlete home once more. Sergeant Jarman saw a number of Kent boys while in France and can tell of interesting events of the war that for four years shaped the events of the whole world. Welcome back to old Kent county, Sergeant Jarman, and may your next war be on the baseball field, which promises to furnish some interesting "battles" in the near future.

Sergeant Colin F. Duyer writes that he expects to be home by February 1.

Mr. Edward B. Harper, a member of the Stanford Ambulance Corps, who has just returned from Italy, is a guest of his grandfather, Mr. Geo. W. Harper, Still Pond, Md. A very interesting letter from Mr. Harper appeared in The Transcript November 23.

It took Sergeant Frank Jarman six days to cross the Atlantic to France and seventeen to come home to the United States. Sergeant Jarman landed at Brest, France, in the night during a heavy rain storm and had to march seven miles to the camp in the rain and mud. He says he was so tired during the march that he could have laid down in the mud and went right to sleep, while many of the soldiers dropped out of line. About 17,000 went over on the boat that carried Sergeant Jarman. He is now stationed at Camp Meade.

NOTICE TO PATRONS

Owing to war conditions, the County Board of Education was disposed to be very lenient in the application of the Maryland school attendance law. It was recognized that labor requirements demanded the utilization of all the resources available, and, in the absence of adult help, school children were compelled to work as never before. While the cessation of the war has not entirely relieved the situation, still the same necessity for child labor does not exist, and the Board of Education must insist upon more general observance of the attendance law. It is felt that the liberty accorded to children for what were considered legitimate and pressing needs, has been somewhat abused and children are now allowed to remain away from school for various unlawful reasons. The Board would like also to remind parents that outside of educational and legal reasons for keeping their children in school, the financial aspect is worthy of consideration, since state aid is largely dependent upon the general average of attendance. The Board takes this method of calling attention to the existence of the law, impressing upon parents their obligations in the case, warning them against possible prosecution for violations of the statute, and appealing to them from the standpoint of their children's educational welfare.

CHRISTMAS IN THE BIBLE LANDS

The little tots shown in the photograph above knew exactly how to hold their dresses when they were gathered to receive their first Christmas presents last year from the Workers of the Committee for Relief in the Near East. These children of the Bible Lands would have neither presents nor home nor food but for the contributions of the generous American public.

Last year 30,000 Sunday school of America contributed $1,000,000 for the necessities of these little people. This year the International Sunday School Association is endeavoring to raise $2,000,000 from the 176,000 Sunday Schools of America for the starving children of the Bible Lands.

On Sunday, December 1st, 75,000 "Four Minute" Speakers addressed Sunday Schools all over America in an effort to arouse interest in this tremendous and life sustaining undertaking. Each and every penny contributed will be used for a child in the Near East, since all expenses of collection and distribution are met from private funds.

The money obtained will be turned over to the American Committee for Relief in the Near East, Cleveland H. Dodge, Treasurer, No. 1 Madison Ave., New York City.

THE holidays are approaching rapidly. It's a good idea to buy your gifts early.

WE make this suggestion because the next few weeks will be busy ones for you.

ONE trip through our store will give you more good ideas for Xmas than you will get in a month at home.
