LOCAL MATTERS

Kent Teachers Meet.—The Kent Co. Teachers' Association was held in the school building, Chestertown, yesterday, beginning at 11 a. m. In the morning and evening topics of common interest were discussed. In the morning Rev. E. C. Coe talked on "Needs and Advantages of School Consolidation." At night there were two illustrated lectures, one by Prof. Holloway, State Supervisor of Rural Schools for Maryland, on "Standardization of Schools"; the second, also illustrated, by Dr. Burdick, State Supervisor of Physical Education.

Farmer Swindled.—Several weeks ago Walton Dukes, a farmer near Federalsburg, gave an order as he thought for $24 worth of stock and poultry powders and feeds. He signed an order to this effect and several days ago received a consignment of goods amounting to $2400. He investigated and discovered that he had signed a contract for that amount. The smooth-tongued stranger, who was acting as an agent for the food company, had secured Mr. Dukes' signature to a $2400 order instead of a $24 order. Mr. Dukes tried to return the shipment, but the company refused to accept it. Mr. Dukes' friends in the county took a large part of the order off his hands.

Tour Of Inspection.—Mr. Hope H. Barroll, president, Mr. W. B. Copper, cashier, Messrs. George D. Lofland, Thomas D. Bowers and Morris K. Barroll, directors of the Third National Bank, visited a number of cities and towns in New Jersey and Pennsylvania and inspected the arrangement of several bank buildings this week. They were very much pleased with some of them and gained much valuable information that will greatly assist them in the architecture of the new building for the Third National. When completed the new home of the Third National will be one of the handsomest on the Eastern Shore. The increasing business of the Third National necessitates a much larger and more modern building than they now have.

Fine Farm Sold.—Mr. H. Stockton Startt sold his fine farm near Fairlee this week to Mr. Zora H. Brinsfield, agent for the Truitt Brothers, of Easton, for $28,000. Included in the sale is the growing wheat crop, 14 head of horses and mules, 20 head of high grade and registered cows, 90 head of Shropshire ewes and lambs, 16 head of hogs and all the farming implements and machinery, together with about 20,000 feet of cut chestnut timber. This is one of the finest farms in lower Kent.

Meeting In Interest Of League Of Nations.—An interesting meeting was held in the Court House on Thursday evening before a good crowd to educate the public in regard to the League of Nations. Dr. S. S. Hepburn, chairman of the movement for Kent county, presided, and after a strong opening speech, introduced the speaker of the evening, C. Morris Howard, Esq., of Baltimore, who made a good speech, strongly indorsing the League of Nations. Ex-Judge J. A. Pearce and Dr. T. F. Beauchamp also made short speeches in favor of the movement. Kent county people are strongly in favor of the League of Nations and most of those who attended the meeting were in accord with the speakers.

—A joint debate between Chestertown High School and Centreville will be held in the High School auditorium on Friday, April 4.
