Chains should be measured carefully previous to every important Survey

Surveyors' Chains are liable to increase in length as they are longer in use. The following Rules may be found useful in practice.

The 4 Pole Chain. of 80 links

If the Chain be 8 inches too long, Multiply the No. of Chains by 8 and Cut off one figure from the right hand, for the Number of links to be measured back after full measurement.

If the Chain be 4 inches too long, Multiply the No. of Chains by 4, and Cut off as above for the same — This is near enough for practical purposes.
