Farm and Household.

For Horsemen.—There is no such thing as a full-blood Morgan horse; neither is there any thing as a full-blood Hambletonian, full-blood Messenger, etc. These are merely family names, and not the names of breeds of horses. The Morgan horses take their names from a stallion foaled about 1793, and owned by Justin Morgan. His pedigree has always been involved in some obscurity, and has been the subject of much controversy. The descendants of this horse have all been called Morgan horses; but as a matter of course they all possess more or less of blood other than that derived from this horse. Had inbreeding been practiced with the descendants of this horse as it has been with some families of short-horn cattle, we should have had horses possessing but little of blood other than was derived from this horse but it would have been impossible to produce an animal without any admixture of other blood. Hence it may safely be said that the man who claims to have a full-blood Morgan horse is either very ignorant, or else he indulges in such talk with intent to deceive.

Watering in a Dry Time.—In the summer droughts which now and then occur, it is common to see persons everywhere at work watering the garden to keep things alive till the regular rains come. It is, however, the experience of all, that the more the garden is watered the more it wants; and thus on the whole it does little good. Yet water can be so given as to be free from this objection. It is the hardening of the surface which causes the evil, and a hard, compact surface always dries out faster than a loose one. The proper way is to take the earth away for a few inches around the plant to be watered, so as to make a sort of basin, and into this pour the water, letting it gradually soak away. After it has all disappeared and the surface gets a little dry, then draw the earth back again which has been displaced to make the basin. This will make a loose surface over the watered part, which will preserve it from drying out rapidly. Tomatoes, egg-plants, cabbages, and other things of this character, watered in this way, will need no renewal of water for several weeks. It is a slow way of getting such work done, but it is the only sure way of doing it.

Puff Cake.—Three cupfuls of flour, three eggs, two cups of white sugar, one cup of milk, one cup of butter, two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar and one spoonful of soda.

Matrimonies.—Three eggs, well beaten, a little salt, flour enough to mix hard; roll thin as paper, cut into fingers and give them a twist.—Fry in hot lard—hotter than for common fried cakes.

Sorghum Cakes.—Three cups of flour, one of butter, one and a-half of sorghum molasses, one tablespoonful of ginger, one teaspoonful of soda, one cup of sour milk and two eggs. Bake in a moderate oven.

Lily Cake.—Two cups sugar, one cup of milk, one cup of corn starch, two cups of flour, the whites of five eggs beaten to a cream, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Beat starch and milk together.

Vegetable Soup.—Peel and slice two potatoes and two turnips; chop fine a small piece of cabbage; use a large spoonful of butter; put in all into three pints of cold water, boil slowly two hours.

Kisses or Drop Cakes.—One cup of butter, two cups of sugar, three-fourths cup of water, one-half teaspoonful soda, two eggs, four and a half or five cups flour; drop them on a tin, and put a lump of sugar in the centre of each.

Lemon Butter.—One and a-half cupfuls white sugar, whites of three eggs, yolk of one, grated rind and juice of a lemon and a half, or two small ones; cook over a slow fire 20 minutes, stirring all the while. Very nice for tarts, or to be eaten as preserves.

New Kettles.—To remove iron taste from new kettles, boil a handful of hay in them, and repeat the process if necessary. Hay water is a great sweetner of tin, wooden and iron ware. In Irish dairies everything used for milk is scalded with hay water.

Potato Pie.—Yolks of 6 eggs; 1 cup sugar, 1 cup butter; 1 pint of sweet cream; 1 cup fresh milk; 1 cup mashed potatoes, mix potato and butter well; and other ingredients; bake with only an under-crust; frost with the whites of 6 eggs and 6 tablespoons sugar; flavor to suit.

Fried cucumbers.—Pare and lay in ice water half an hour; cut length wise into slices nearly half an inch thick, and lay in ice water ten minutes longer. Wipe each piece dry with a soft cloth, sprinkle with pepper and salt, and dredge with flour. Fry to a delicate brown in sweet lard or butter.

Chocolate cake.—Beat the whites of two eggs and quarter of a pound of white sugar to a frothy cream, add the juice of one lemon, and then six ounces of grated chocolate.—Drop by spoonfuls on a flat tin and bake slowly. Very nice to serve with ices or fruit.

Tea cake.—Beat an egg and stir into a cup of milk and a cup of water; add two tablespoonfuls of white sugar, salt and four cups of flour, and lastly three teaspoonfuls of yeast powder. Bake in a very quick oven; split, butter and serve immediately. This will make two thin sheets.

Jolly Boys.—One cup sour milk' half a level teaspoonful of soda (dissolve soda in a little of the sour milk with a pinch of salt), one egg beaten light, one tablespoonful of molasses. Mix rye meal with the milk to the consistency of a thin batter, and then add Indian meal until the batter becomes a stiff one. Last of all stir in egg. Drop from tablespoon—about half a spoonful at a time—into kettle of boiling drippings or lard, and brown as you would crullers or fried cakes. If they are rightly made they will pop over themseles when done on one side.

IN MEMORY.

[This poem, second only to Shelly's "Cloud" in beauty and sweetness of expression and rhythm, provoked the remark from the gifted and lamented Prentiss that "one could almost wish to die if he knew such a beautiful tribute would be written to his memory."]

On the bosom of a river,
Where the sun unloosed its quiver,
And the starlight gleamed forever,
Sailed a vessel light and free,
Morning dew-drops hung like manna
On the bright folds of her banner,
And the zephyrs rose to fan her
Softly to the radiant sea.

At the prow a pilot beaming
In the flush of youth stood dreaming,
And he was in glorious seeming
Like an angel from above.
Through his hair the soft breeze sported
And as on the wave he floated,
Oft that pilot, angel throated,
Warbled lays of home and love,

Through those leaves so brightly flowing
Buds of laurel bloom were blowing,
And his hands anon were throwing
Music from a lyre of gold.
Swiftly down the stream he glided
Soft the purple wave divided,
And a rainbow's arch abided
On its canvas' snowy fold.

Anxious hearts with fond devotion
Watched him sailing to the ocean,
Prayed that never wild commotion
'Midst the elements would rise.
And he seemed some young Apollo,
Charming summer winds to follow,
While the water flags' corolla
Trembled on his music sighs.

But those purple waves enchanted,
Rolled beside a city haunted
By an awful spell that daunted
Every comer to the shore.
Nightshade rank the air encumbered,
And pale marble statues numbered
While the lotus-eaters slumbered,
And wake to life no more.

Then there rushed with lightning quickness
O'er his face a mortal sickness,
And the dew in fearful thickness,
Gathered o'er his temple fair.
And there swept a dying murmur
Through the lovely Southern summer,
As the beauteous pilot comer
Perished at that city there.

Still rolls on that radiant river,
And the sun unbinds his quiver,
And the starlight streams forever
On the bosom as before,
But that vessel's rainbow banner
Greets no more the gay savanna,
And that pilot's lute drops manna
On the purple waves no more.

PHILOSOPHIC AGENT.—"I should like to sell you a gimlet," said an agent, as he went into an office the other day.

"But we have no use for one," replied the cashier.

"You should always look into the misty future," went on the agent; "next winter you will want to make holes in your boot-heels, so as to get your skates on."

"I always use club skates—no straps required."

"You may want to screw some boards together some time. The old-fashioned method of driving the screws in with a hammer is very pernicious, as it always deteriorates the tenacity of the fangs of the screw, as it were."

"Nothing to-day, sir."

"This gimlet also acts as a cork-screw."

"Don't want it."

"It also may be used as a tack-hammer, a cigar-holder, and a tooth-brush."

"I don't want it."

"It has a pen, an inkstand, a table for computing compound interest, and a lunch-box attachment."

"I can't help it; I don't want it."

"I know you don't; you are one of those mean men that won't buy even a gimlet unless it has a restaurant and a trip through Europe and an Italian Opera Company attached. You are the kind of a man who would live near an electric light to save a gas bill."

And the agent walked out with his mental plumage on the perpendicular.

DO NOT GOSSIP.—That person is to be pitied—for what he lacks by nature he has missed in experience—who can see the course of true love without in his heart giving the lovers his gladdest benediction. But no one can give better proof of a vulgar taste than by making the love affairs of other people the subject of flippant or familiar talk, especially in their presence. Flirtation that has no heart in it, and puppyish love-making that has no head in it, are entitled to no special consideration. But any true attraction between a young man and young woman so touches the holiest experience of life, that none but rude hands will tear the vail away from it, or drag it from its privacy into giggling gossip. We abominate the gushing people who wear their hearts on their sleeves, but we too often seem to think it quite the thing to lay hold of the sensitive friendship that we see blossoming into love, and toss it up in conversation, and joke about it, as if it were just as fit a target for the town talk as a cattle trade, or a concert, or a lawsuit. Such treatment of love affairs tends to drive them out of the wholesome sunlight of family and neighborly life into all sorts of hiding places that are not good for them.

IF the Boston Watchman is not guilty of exaggeration, morals would seem to be in a bad way in the hub of the universe. It says: "The Boston chief of police declares that there are hundreds of girls belonging to respectable Boston families who have adopted ways of which they would blush to have their relatives know." The laxity of the divorce law very probably has a good deal to do with this. Where marriage comes to be so lightly regarded by the law as is the case in Massachusetts, it is no wonder that the public morality should suffer in every direction.

THE import of wine into Great Britain was only seven-eighths as large the last year as reported for two years ago, whilst the import into this country for the year ending last June was ten per cent. larger than the year before, which shows that the demand for luxuries is falling off in one country and rising in the other.

There are now in Texas over 5,000,000 sheep. Last year over 11,000,000 pounds of wool were shipped out of the State.

The rice crop of South Carolina for the present year is estimated at 44,000 tierces, and that of Georgia at 26,000.

HEADACHE NEURALGIA PILLS

CELERY "DR. C. W. BENSON, a practicing physician, at 106 N. Eutaw St., Baltimore, Md. (who has paid much attention to nervous diseases,) has discovered that Extract of Celery and Chamomile combined in a certain proportion invariably cures either bilious, dyspeptic, nervous or sick headache, neuralgia and nervousness. This is a triumph in medical chemistry, and sufferers all over the country are ordering by mail. He prepares it in pills, at 50c. per box. The doctor is largely known and highly respected in Baltimore."—Epis. Meth.

BALTIMORE, July 27, '72. Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills have cured my wife of sick and nervous headache of ten years' standing; she had it every week or ten days, and suffered almost everything but death with it. We think these pills worth their weigth in gold.

PRICES REDUCED TO SUIT THE TIMES.

I RESPECTFULLY desire to say, by this method, to the old friends of my father, who for many long years, was so well and favorably known to this entire community as the leading Undertaker, that I am still devoting myself untiringly to its prosecution, in all its departments. And in this connection I desire, particularly and emphatically to say that I can furnish Caskets and Burial Cases, of all kinds, upon the shortest possible notice, at PRICES MUCH BELOW ANY ONE ELSE engaged in the business in this vicinity. I can do this because I am at less expense than others, and I guarantee full satisfaction in every case, both as regards quality and price.

☞ When away on other business, orders may be left with my mother, who resides next door to the shop, and they will receive equal attention as if left with me in person, as she thoroughly understands the business in every particular. I will allow nothing else to interfere with the prompt and efficient execution of all orders with which I am favored.

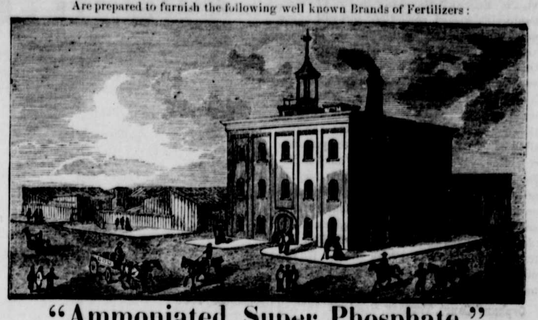
THE MARYLAND
Fertilizing & Manufacturing Co.,
Are prepared to furnish the following well known Brands of Fertilizers:



"Ammoniated Super Phosphate."
A Complete Manure for ALL CROPS, adapted to Lands that require a full development of the Crop, both Straw and Grain.

"Alkaline Super Phosphate."
An article very rich in SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE OF LIME and the ALKALIES.

"Dissolved Phosphate."
A High Grade SUPER PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

The ALKALINE and DISSOLVED PHOSPHATES have special reference to the growth and developement of the Grain, and are intended for lands that produce a sufficient growth of Straw, but small crops of Grain. They have been used for several years by some of the best farmers of Maryland and Virginia, alongside the highest grades Ammoniated Phosphates, and in some sections have almost superceded them.

The Fine Mechanical condition of our FERTILIZERS is such, that they Drill readily, and we recommend the use of the Drill as being the most profitable way of applying Fertilizers

We refer to the following persons who used the above goods last season:
J. Henry porter, Sam'l Coppage, Noble Pennington, S. W. Aldridge,
Geo. S. Biddle, Levi Fiddis, Garrett Foxwell, Wm. A Wood, and others.

1879. Wheat Sceding. 1879.
Attention, farmers!

The undersigned PIONEER in the manufacture of FERTILIZERS in this city, and engaged, since 1858, first as a member of the firm of J. J. & F. TURNER, by whom the formulas and processes of manufacture of

'Excelsior' and 'Ammoniated Phosphate,'

Were originated, and since 1864 a member of the late firm of J. J. TURNER & CO., (dissoved 19th March, 1878,) relying upon his experience and personal reputation, hitherto acquired in the uniform excellence of these Fertilizers as manufactured by him, offers them in his own name to the agricultural public.

Having secured the Works of the old firm, 111 McElderry's Wharf, with the complete machinery, specially constructed for their uniform manipulation, he will continue the manufacture of

Excelsior & Ammoniated Phosphate

On his own account, with his office adjoining the works, where he will be pleased to see his friends and patrons, assuring them that the Fertilizers manufactured by him shall be of the same uniform and high standard quality as sold by the old firms since their introduction.

J. Q. A. HOLLOWAY,
ORIGINATOR AND MANUFACTURER OF

The above are the most concentrated FERTILIZERS ever offered to the Farmer—combining all the stimulating qualities of Peruvian Guano and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Bones, in fine, dry powder, prepared expressly for drilling in with the Grain—and it is the universal opinion of the Farmers of Maryland and Virginia, after over twenty years' experience in the use of the "EXCELSIOR," manufactured by me, that an application of 100 pounds is equal in its effects to 200 pounds of any other Fertilizer or Guano, therefore fully 50 per cent. cheaper.

With my present advantages and superior facilities for manufacturing, I challenge competition with any Fertilizer sold in the United States in Quality, Mechanical Condition and Price.

By strictly adhering to my Original Formulas, using only the most concentrated materials, and and superintending in person their manufakture—as for the past twenty years—

UNIFORM QU AITY IS GUARANTEED.

Farmers to secure the ONLY GENUINE EXCELSIOR AND PHOSPHATE prepared according to my original formulas established in 1858, should see that every bag is branded as above, with the Analysis and my name in Red Letters.

A Talk With Fruit Growers.

I HAVE now growing, on my farm, a fine seedling Peach Nursery, (from the seed o the Smock,) of over 200,000 trees.

Being from Smock seed, and growing on land that never grew trees before, they must prove especially hardy and prolific.

I shall bud 50,000 (commencing June 15th) for this Fall's planting; such trees will run from 3 to 4 feet in height.

I shall bud the balance in August, for planting the following fall. As must all planters have preference for special varieties, I propose to take orders, before the budding is done, customers furnishing their own buds if they prefer; so that all may be accommodated. Do not fail to give this matter proper consideration, and send in your orders early. By so doing you can secure just the varieties you want; but i delayed till you are ready to plant, nurserymen may not have the kinds you prefer. I will give instructions how to forward buds, upon inquiry.

I HAVE A GENERAL ASSORTMENT OF ALL KINDS OF NURSERY STOCK.

Twenty years' experience as an extensive Fruit Grower and Nurseryman, certainly entitles me to a reasonable share of patronage on this peninsula.

BEG leave to call the farmers attention to their

IRON FRAME CULTIVATORS,

which are guaranteed not to choke. Some of the best farmers in Kent and Queen Anne's counties have used these Cultivators, a few of whose names we append below, and whom we give as references:

ROCK HALL, May 13, 1879.
Messrs. Chapman & Lambert: Gents:—The Iron Frame Cultivator I bought o f you are the best I ever used; and I would reccommend all farmers to try them. They are all you claim for them. WM. STEVENS.

LANKFORD, ky 9th, 1879.
Messrs. Chapman & Lambert: Gents:—I used your Iron Cultivator last spring. I consider it the best one I have ever used, and your teeth can't be beat. Respt.
JAMS L. BECK.
