Farm and Household.

Vermont is the greatest maple sugar producing State in the Union. Its annual yield is about 9,000,000 pounds, worth $700,000, or about an average allowance of thirty pounds for each inhabitant.

Fresh cow manure, diluted with water until of a paste-like consistency, and poured on young melon vines, is an effectual remedy for beetles and other insects that are frequently very destructive. A second application will seldom be necessary.

Coyotes and wild cats trouble the sheep ranches in Nevada. At Desert Springs a poisoned carcass was thrown into a corral, and the following morning, within a circumference of three hundred yards, the bodies of fifteen coyotes and ten cats were found.

The average yield of cotton on the famous Sea Islands, near Charleston, S. C., under the slave system, was from 80 to 100 pounds an acre. With free labor it has been increased to 250 pounds, and some planters last year made a net profit of $100 an acre.

The best soil for wheat is where clay predominates. A mixture of sand and clay is the best for a succession of crops, and sand for a bright, stiff straw, but too sandy a soil is too porous for wheat, although good spring wheat is frequently grown on sandy soils. Muck is not well adapted for the growth of wheat, but where the land is rich, wheat will succeed on a variety of soils. There is no better preparation for a wheat crop than clover turned under. Nitrogen is needed for the growth of wheat, and if the urine of the horses or cows is applied to the growing crop early in the spring, you may look for a good yield of grain.

The Uses of Lime in Farming.—The uses of lime are in part mechanical and part chemical.

1. Upon deep alluvial and clay soil it increases the crop of potatoes, and renders them less waxy. Sprinkled over potatoes in a store heap, when both the potatoes and the lime are in a dry state, it preserves them, and when riddled over the cut sets at planting time it wonderfully increases their vitality.

2. Lime eradicates the finger and toe disease in turnips, and helps to give greater firmness to the bulbs.

3. It gives when applied to meadow land a larger product by producing more nutritious grasses, also helping to exterminate the seeds of mosses and aquatic plants.

4. Upon arable land it destroys weeds of various kinds.

5. It rapidly decomposes vegetable matter, producing a large amount of food for plants in the form of carbonized elements.

6. It destroys and neutralizes the acids in the soil, hence its adaptability to some lands.

7. It acts powerfully upon some of the organic parts of the soil, especially upon sulphate of magnesia and alumina.

8. It proves fatal to worms and slugs, and the larvæ of insects, though favorable to the growth of shell-bearers.

9. Slacked lime added to vegetable matter causes it to give off its nitrogen in the form of ammonia.—Upon soils in which ammonia is combined with acids, it sets free the ammonia, which is seized upon by the growing plants.

10. Its solubility in water causes it to sink into and ameliorate the subsoil. When the soil contains fragments of granite or trap rock, lime hastens their decomposition and liberates their constituents.

11. Its combination with the acids in the soil produces saline compounds such as potash and soda, which immediately enter into plant growth.

12. Strewed over plants it destroys or renders uncomfortable the location of numerous species of insects which prey on the surface—notably the turnip fly.

13. Worked in with grass seeds the beneficial effect of lime, chalk, marl and shell sand—into the composition of all of which lime largely enters—it has been known to produce visible effects for upwards of thirty years.

Applied to manure, lime serves to destroy the seeds of various weeds, the larvæ of insects, and otherwise exercises a very beautiful effect in the liberation of organic constituents, and then assists in their combination with other and more useful forms of plants food.

White Cake.—One cup butter, two cups sugar, three cups flour, whites of five eggs, one teaspoonful soda, two teaspoons cream tartar, one cup milk.

Buns.—One cup milk, one cup of sugar, one cup of yeast, flour to make a batter. Let it rise over night, then add one-half cup melted butter, a cup of sugar, flour to kneed it, and let it rise again, then roll and cut into cakes, and let it rise again.

Hard-boiled Eggs.—Put the eggs in hot water to cover, and boil twenty minutes. Ten minutes will boil them hard, but they are not digestible as when boiled twenty. Ten minutes makes the yolks hard and soggy, twenty minutes makes them lights and mealy.

TINCTURE OF MUSK.—Rub ½ ounce musk in a warm mortar with a little sugar; macerate for a month in 7 ounces alcohal containing 1 ounce each tincture of ambergris and tincture of vanilla. Filter thoroughly, and then add a few drops of ottar of rose.

To Remove Warts.—Touch the wart with a little nitrate of silver (lunar caustic); or with nitric acid or aromatic vinegar. The lunar caustic produces a black, and the nitric acid a yellow stain, which passes off in a short time; the vinegar scarcely discolors the skin.

Indian Suet Pudding.—One-half pound suet, chopped fine, one cup molasses, one pint milk, one egg, meal to make a very thin batter, one teaspoon ground cloves, one teaspoon ground cinnamon, one teaspoon salt, a little nutmeg, a few currants or chopped raisins. Boil or steam three hours. Sauce.

In cool nights pin large newspapers over tender plants recently set in the open ground, it will protect them from frost.

GOOD-BY.

[The Churchman.]

Why do I go away? Oh, I am grown
Too tall for school, you know.
So I am come to see you all once more—
You and the dear old homely room—before
I go.

Nay, Nell, you cannot reach my shoulder yet—
Why should you wish to try?
Full soon enough will come the parting day,
When you too will be standing here to say
Good-by!

Yes, I am glad to go, and sorry too;
I have been happy here.
They say I never shall be quite so glad,
So free and careless; therefore I am sad,
My dear.

You think that I am old. They tell me that
My school is just begun,
And I must study many years. Ah, Grace,
You look up with your blue eyes in my face,
Sweet one,

As if you scarcely understood my words.
'Tis true, dear. And they say
The lessons will be hard sometimes to learn.
You all will come to that school in your turn,
Some day.

But we will learn our lessons—will we not—
Good scholars, every one?
"And shall we then have prizes?" Mabel asks.
Surely, I think we shall, when all our tasks
Are done.

There, they are calling me—I must not stay;
Wee Elsie, do not cry—
It makes my tears come, and I must not go
Out to the world with tearful eyes, you know.
Good-by!

GARFIELD'S VISION.

[N. Y. Sun.]

I'd a vision in my sleep,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
I'm so sad I fain would weep,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine!
'Twas a vision of defeat
Overwhelming and complete!
If I only could retreat,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine,
Life would really be more sweet,
Arthur mine.

I've done wrong I must confess,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
I'm a hypocrite I guess,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
I can preach and I can pray;
I love to take back pay,
And bribes too, any day,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine!
Don't put money in my way,
Arthur mine.

Well, I hope to be forgiven,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine;
If not here 'twill be in heaven,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine.
But it's hard that I must see
Such a prize escape from me;
'Tis the hand of destiny,
Arthur mine, Arthur mine,
And my fate I'll share with thee,
Arthur mine!

THE GENIUS OF INFANCY.

Genius is that quality which enables a person to accomplish the apparently impossible.

The infant, the little cuddler, we mean, has more of this quality than all the rest of the world combined.

It can look cross-eyed in seventeen different directions, and alarm his happy pa for fear that the defect is to be permanent.

It can pudge both fists into its eyes all day long, and yet not have strength enough to open its fingers.

It can keep its lungs full and its over-musical voice for nineteen straight hours, and never draw a breath. It doesn't take time.

It can swallow enough soothing syrup to put four full-grown men to their eternal sleep, and the only effect will be increased wakefulness.

It makes its mouth a hopper for one continuous stream of nourishment, and its stomach, that isn't a bit bigger than a robin's egg, will pack down two gallons of milk a day and still be empty.

It creates a color blindness in its parents, no matter how accurate their eye for shades. The mother always calls it "such a pretty little pink thing," while the father is sure that it is a "yeller."

It can tie itself into contortions that any acrobat would give a year's salary to accomplish, and kick itself all straight just as soon as somebody begins to take care of it.

It can hoist the most dignified gentleman from his couch of repose and send him masquerading about the house with his wig off and in his stocking feet, on an expedition of life or death, for him or the infant, he don't care which.

It can superinduce the worst profanity, and shake the foundations of the church itself, when its pa happens to be a deacon.

It can be a "well spring of pleasure in the house" one minute, and an incarnate fiend, setting the whole household into active warlike preparation, the next.

It can attract all the good looking women in the neighborhood to the house, and drive all the men to an adjoining State.

It can scare a man half out of his wits and send him for a doctor by getting up a double back action set of the cramps, and greet the doctor with a smile when he comes.

Yes, the infant has genius. Notwithstanding all the care, trouble and anxiety it is to the happy possessor of the article, it can warm up their hearts, swell their bosoms with pride and make very wicked people thank heaven that there is something worth living for. At the same time we wouldn't take an infant as a gift.

RECENT POINTS IN ETIQUETTE.

Say "good-bye" not "good morning."

Upon leaving a room one bow should include all.

Upon introduction, enter at once into conversation.

Never wait over fifteen minutes for a tardy guest.

A note requires as prompt an answer as a spoken question.

Regrets in reply to invitations should contain a reason therefor.

At a table you are required to thank the one who waits on you.

Strangers arriving should notify friends by card or by their presence.

You should exchange calls with individuals before you invite them to your house.

Only letters to unmarried ladies and widows are addressed with their baptismal name.

To return a personal call with cards enclosed in an envelope signifies that visiting between the persons is ended.

Unless there is great difference in age, a lady visiting should not rise, either on arrival or departure of other ladies.

In memory's mellowed light, we behold not the thorns; we see only the beautiful flowers.

RAMBO LIME.

LAST year I purchased from Nathan Rambo the Blue Quarry upon the lands devised to him by his father, the elder Nathan Rambo. It was out of this Quarry that the Limestone came which gave this Lime its high reputation.

This, and this only, is the
GENUINE RAMBO LIME.

I own ALL of the land on which this stone lies. This Quarry was discontinued only because a vein of earth cut off the face. I have cut through this and re-opened these Quarries upon the original stone which old Nathan Rambo quarried as long as he could find it.
WE CHALLENGE ALL TESTS.

R. McCOY & CO.

Robert McCoy bought of me my Blue Quarry—I have seen it since he re-opened it, and am satisfied that he works on the blue stone worked by my father in his lifetime.

Literary Revolution and Universal Knowledge.

An Encyclopædia in 20 Volumes, over 16,000 Pages, 10 per cent more matter than any Encyclopædia ever before published in this country, and sold, handsomely and well bound, in cloth for 10, in half morocco for $15, and printed on fine heavy paper, wide margins, bound in half Russia, gilt top, for $30—an enterprise so extraordinary that its success, beyond all precedent in book publishing, may be fairly claimed to inaugurate a Literary Revolution.

THE LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE is a reprint of the last (1879) Edinburgh edition of "Chambers's Encyclopædia," with about 30 per cent. of new matter added, upon topics of special interest to American readers, thus making it equal in character to any similar work, better than any other sold to the wants of the great majority of those who consult works of reference, and altogether the latest Encyclopædia in the field.

Specimen Volumes in either style will be sent for examination with privilege of return on receipt of proportionate price per volume.

Special Discounts to all early subscribers, and extra discounts to clubs. Full particulars with descriptive catalogue of many other standard works equally low in price, sent free.

Leading principles of the AMERICAN BOOK EXCHANGE:

I.—Publish only books of real value.
II.—Work upon the basis of present cost of making books, about one half what it was a few years ago.
III.—Sell to buyers direct, and save them the 50 to 60 per cent. commission commonly allowed to dealers.
IV.—The cost of books when made 10,000 at a time is but a fraction of the cost when made 500 at a time—adopt the low price and sell the large quantity.
V.—Use good type, paper, etc., decorative printing, and strong, neat binding, but avoid all "padding," fat and heavily leaded type, spongy paper and gaudy binding, which are so common, inserted to make books appear large and fine, and which greatly add to their cost, but do not add to their value.
VI.—To make $1 and a friend is better than to make $7 and an enemy.

PERFECTLY SAFE IN THE MOST INEXPERIENCED HANDS!

For Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Cholera,
AND ALL THOSE NUMEROUS TROUBLES OF THE STOMACH AND BOWELS SO PREVALENT AT THIS SEASON,
No Remedy known to the Medical Profession has been in use so long and with such uniformly satisfactory results as

PERRY DAVIS'
VEGETABLE
PAIN KILLER

It has been used with such wonderful success in all parts of the world in the treatment of these difficulties, that it has come to be considered

AN UNFAILING CURE FOR ALL SUMMER COMPLAINTS

and such it really is when taken in time and according to the very plain directions inclosing each bottle.

In such diseases, the attack is usually sudden and frequently very acute; but with a safe remedy at hand for immediate use, there is seldom danger of the fatal result which so often follows a few days' neglect.

The inclination to wait and see if the morrow does not bring a better feeling, not infrequently occasions a great amount of needless suffering, and sometimes costs a life. A timely dose of Pain Killer will almost invariably save both, and with them the attendant doctor's fee.

It has stood the test of forty years' constant use in all countries and climates, and is perfectly safe in any person's hands.

It is recommended by Physicians, Nurses in Hospitals, and persons of all classes and professions who have had opportunity for observing the wonderful results which have always followed its use.

THE BEST EVIDENCE:

I have long used the medicine known as PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER in my family and would not on any account be without it. When Cholera was last epidemic here, I used no medicine of any sort but the Pain Killer, and although myself and several members of my family were attacked severely, I am happy to say that the Pain Killer was equal to every emergency. I consider I should not be doing my duty to the community did I not say this much. If I were attacked by the Cholera to-day, Pain Killer would be the only remedy I should use. I have thoroughly tested it, and know it can be relied upon.
P. E. BERGINSEND, Galena, Illinois.

Messrs. PERRY DAVIS & SON:
I know you need no testimonial to convince you that your medicine is all that you claim for it, but I cannot restrain the impulse to communicate to you the fact that in my family it has truly done wonders. I administer it to my children (one eighteen months, and the other three years old) with perfect success. It regulates their bowels, and stops all diarrhœa. Myself and wife resort to it in all cases, both for internal and external use. I've used it in my family for two years, and will not be without it. Feeling myself under much obligation to you, in many times being relieved from pain, I am very truly yours,
L. F. MOORE, Bangall, Dutchess Co., New York.

No family can afford to be without it, and its price brings it within the reach of all. The use of one bottle will go further to convince you of its merits than columns of newspaper advertising. Try it, and you will never do without it.

Price 25c. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. You can obtain it at any drug-store or from

CHEAPEST!!!

THE subscriber is now selling his best Ice Cream for $1.25 per gallon; 75 cents per half-gallon; 40 cents per quarter gallon; 25 cents per one-eighth gallon; plates 10 cts. It is now pronounced to be the very best that was ever in this market—so declared by ladies and gentlemen from New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. The Cream furnished by the undersigned to the Odd Fellows' anniversary, at the Court House, April 29th, was said, by the two hundred or three hundred ladies and gentlemen who partook of it, to have been the best they ever ate; which, of itself, is a good advertisement.

Picnics, Festivals and Excursions will be allowed a discount on all orders of and above five gallons.

All orders must be accompanied by the cash. The Ladies' Parlor will be open after next Monday.

Thanking the public for all favors conferred in the past, and hoping for a continuance of liberal patronage, I promise to do my best to please all.
