A fast pick-up

The Selz $Six is a pick-up — its price is so much less than usual. It is picked up fast everywhere. This special shoe outsells any other of its kind because of its greater value.

It is the only shoe that has ever been recognized nationally as an unusual bargain. Such quality at such a price is a rare economy. Let us fit you.

LOWER Operating Cost

The first cost of the Selz $Six is very much lower than usual. And it gives long wear because it is as fine a shoe as any man needs. So its operating cost is low.

Men everywhere demand this shoe. It would not be the biggest seller of its kind in the United States if it were not the greatest value. Let us fit you.

DEATHS

There is a Reaper whose name is death,
And with his sickle keen
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath,
And the flowers that grow between.

Harry C. Price, after a brief illness, died at the age of 56 at his home in Cecilton, Md., on Wednesday morning, April 18, at 4.30. Being possesser with such a genial manner he will be greatly missed by his many friends who held him in high esteem. The deceased is survived by his widow, who before marriage was Gertrude Du Shune, one son, Lewis D., one daughter, Lydia Eliason, a mother, one brother, John A. Price, of Cecilton, and a sister, Mrs. Chester De Lauder, of Jersey City. Services were held at his late home on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. Borden Smith, interment in Cecilton cemetery. The bearers were J. Cavender Rowan, John H. Black, James P. McCoy, Alexander Wilson, Robert Ferguson and John E. Ferguson.

Mrs. Ruth Johnson, nee Bullen, the daughter of Mrs. Venie Fogg, who lives near Grey's nln, died at her home in Baltimore one day last week. She leaves a little two-year-old daughter, who will make her home with Mrs. Fogg. The latter is a sister of the Rev. Ivanhoe Willis, who visited her upon hearing of the death of her daughter. The interment took place in Baltimore.

Lindsay C. Joyner, the young man who was drowned on March 30 at Piney Point, was discovered afloat about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning by Clarence Tarr and a companion near the place where he went down. They towed the body to Durding's Creek and notified the father, John E. Joiner. The coroner was communicated with and he decided an inquest was unnecessary. The body was cared for by Undertaker T. H. Casey. Burial services were held at Wesley Chapel cemetery on Wednesday afternoon.

William Gladsky, whose home has been near Edesville, died at St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimroe Monday. He leaves five sons, Theodore, Stanley, Joseph, Frank and Stephen, and three daughters, Mrs. Margie Seiling, Miss Mary and Helen Gladsky. The funeral will be held today, Saturday, at 10 a. m., conducted by Rev. Father Earner. C. L. Dodd, undertaker. The pall bearers will be: Bennett Wilson, Samuel Kilbourn, Jan Kousky, John Cullison, Michael Wacowitz and Fred Williams.

Hurlock Gale, Jr., the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gale, on the C. E. Faulkner farm, near Black's, was drowned Thursday in a most unusual manner. The little fellow was playing in the farm yard and when he disappeared from his mother's view, upon investigation she found him lying face down in the horse trough. Dr. Urie was summoned, but all efforts to resuscitate life proved futile. This was the saddest accident which has occurred in that neighborhood in years and the bereaved parents have the deep and heart-felt sympathy of the whole of the county.

John F Prettyman died April 17 in his 68th year, the body was shipped to Middletown and taken to Odessa. Interment in the family lot of the M. E. Church Yard. Funeral service by the M. E. Pastor. W. THE OPERETTA

A Fine Entertainment By Local Talent

An enthusiastic audience, on Monday and Tuesday nights greeted the Operetta, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," given by the children of Emmanuel church school, assisted by their little friends of the other churches and trained by the rector, Rev. Chas. L. Atwater.

The setting of the Operetta was a sylvan scene and it has a real woodsy flavor.

The children were veritable fairies and were hailed with applause whenever they appeared and their singing was a real joy both to themselves and to the audience.

The acting of the dwarfs was certainly "unique", perfect unison in all their gestures, and in their coming and in their going, and every one was sorry at their going, they were so comical and funny.

By her grace and beauty, the Queen showed she had a fair claim to her pretentions, though she had to play such an ungracious part.

Snow White's unaffected loveliness delighted every one, and in the solos and choruses her sweet appealing voice rang out clear and strong.

Prince "Charming" did not belie his name neither did he exhibit anything of the "amateur" in his anxious search for the princess.

Carl, the Huntsman, was a woodsman indeed and displayed his versatile talent throughout the play.

We do not forget to mention the Entr'act numbers taken by those accomodating gentlemen, the College students. With their music and fun, they added much to the pleasure of the house.

And last but, by no means least, "Whitey's Band, which has grown so familiar to us all. They certainly deserve a large share of praise for their accompaniments added so much to the inspiration of the occasion.

Altogether the affair was voted a great success by all who had the opportunity of seeing it.
