THE MAN-CHILD
By Edgar A. Guest

The man-child dreameth of golden deeds
And the spray of the restless sea,
And his young lips uttereth dauntless creeds,
For a warrior's soul has he.

He has not tasted the wine of fear,
Though he knows 'tis a common drink,
And he's yet too young to be fashioned here
To think as his neighbors think.

He will draw his sword in the cause of right,
Set many a captive free;
When the challenge comes he will dare to fight,
Whatever the odds may be.

The man-child stirs at a bugle call
And thrills at a battle-shout,
And he rides by night to a castle wall
To carry a maiden out.

But life chains many a brave soul down,
As the man-child soon shall know,
And some are held by the walls of town
As the long years come and go.

Some to the common tasks must stay,
And some are chained by fear,
And the dreams of a man-child fade away
As he bows to his duty here.

TO TELL OF PRISON LIFE

Frank Tannenbaum Will Speak On Crime and Punishment At The Coming Chautauqua

In language rational and logical, in words restrained, and with a manner that suggests a quiet understanding of the facts, Frank Tannenbaum tells of the problems of prison life. He enumerates quite a number of examples of prison cruelty and spares us many more. What he shows us is sufficient to impress our minds with the startling and amazing fact that the days of the Spanish Inquisition are not over; that here in America some of its meth-who subscribe at least theoretically to ods have been perpetuated by men some gospel of freedom—political, personal or otherwise. Mr. Tannebaum discusses the necessity of social relations in the prison group. He brings out the point that "men resist isolation as men resist death." He sees isolation as something that "leads to a gradual disintegration of self, a distortion of the mind and to a deterioration of all that one holds valuable in personality."

He was a machinist. Wishing to complete his education, he entered Columbia about three years ago. While still an undergraduate, he wrote a book on The Labor Movement, which appeared last June. This book won the admiration of Prof. Carlton J. H. Haeys, Professor Selıgman, of Columbia, Graham Wallace, of England, and most of the leading scholars.

SPORTS

Items Of Interest Gathered Here And There That Will Interest Lovers Of Various Sports

The football prospects at Washington College this fall are bright. A large squad will likely report for practice, and the best eleven of recent years is expected to be developed. Last year Coach Kibler developed a fast football team, but the jinx seemed to follow the team throughout the year.

At 4.55 p. m. Saturday, a slender, white-hulled craft, whose snowy canvas drooped in the still air, glided like a phantom vessel on a molten sea past the judges' boat. It was the first of the sailing boats in any class to finish the course in the third annual Chesapeake Bay regatta, conducted under the auspices of The Baltimore Sun and the Chesapeake Bay Yacht Club. The booming of a gun from the judges' boat proclaimed her victory; an airplane swooped down to do her homage. The winning vessel was the 30-foot Sam, of St. Michaels, swift member of that fleet type, the log-sailing canoe, which made the Chesapeake Bay famous before the gasoline engine. The Sam was captained by J. M. Willen and C. Thomas. Her unofficial time was 5 hours and 45 minutes.

The other sailboats, becalmed for hours, waited to cross the line. Governor Ritchie was there and many other notables.

Quite a large crowd from Chestertown were on hand.

The fine launch of Messrs. William H. Truslow and Son is living up to its forecasted powers as a speed boat. Mr. Claude E. Truslow took a party of his friends to Claiborne to the races on Saturday and, after witnessing the same, was back in town almost by the time the evening train arrived.

With the approach of fall, the fox hunters have become active again and many big hunts will be pulled off before many moons have waxed and waned.

The long reign of Mrs. Molla Mallory as queen of American tennis, broken but once in the past eight years, came to a dramatic close Saturday when Miss Helen Wills, 17-year-old "wonder girl" from the Pacific coast, crushed the seven-time titleholder in straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, in the final match of the tournament at Forest Hills, New York. Mrs. Mallory fought gallantly in defeat, calling on all her power and strategy to check her more youthful rival.

—The delightful vacation days are nearly over in Kent and the city brethren will soon return to their posts of duty in nearby cities.

Boys Scouts At Salisbury Fair

Two crack patrols of Boy Scouts, one from Preston and the other from Pocomoke City, arrived at the Salisbury Fair Tuesday morning and reported for duty. The Scouts were there at the invitation of Mr. Ward, Secretary of the Sailsbury Fair Association, and Captain Roger Williams, of the Maryland State Police.

The Boy Scouts arrived at 10 o'clock and immediately pitched camp along side of the Maryland State Police Headquarters. The Scouts are known as the State Police Aids and they assisted in the parking of the thousands of cars that arrived at the grounds during the fair. They acted as messengers for the fair officials, rendered first aid and returned a large number of lost children to the arms of their parents.

The troops on duty at the Salisbury Fair were considered to be among the best in the state. Each troop had served other county fairs. The Preston Boy Scouts served at the Cambridge Fair and the Pocomoke City boys at the Pocomoke Fair, which closed last week.

Scout Executive Bradford, of the Eastern Shore Council Boy Scouts of America regrets that at this time there are no Boy Scouts in Salisbury to serve at this fair. Salisbury has been without scouting for over two years. But it is gratifying to learn that the Scout Executive has arranged for the forming of two troops in Salisbury which will take place during the month of September.

Chautauqua Is Popular

The Swarthmore Chautauqua Association, of Swarthmore, Pa., serving 16 states and four Canadian provinces, has announced the opening dates for Chautauqua on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware as follows: Aug. 30, Chestertown and Elkton; Aug. 31, Easton; Sept. 1, Salisbury; Sept. 3, Crisfield; Sept. 4, Pocomoke City; Sept. 5, Denton; Sept. 7, Berlin; Sept. 8, Milford Sept. 10, Georgetown, Del.

Chautauqua festivals, or winter entertainments, are held in the following Eastern Shore towns: Betterton, Cecilton, Chesapeake City, Church Hill, Deals Isalnd, East New Market, Federalsburg, Galena, Greensboro, Hillsboro, Queen Anne, Millington, North East, Preston, St. Michaels, Snow Hill and Sudlersville.

The first Circuit Chautauqua in the East opened at Chestertown on June 10, 1912, and at that time the Swarthmore Association included 41 member-towns. At that time the member-towns were from four states—Pennsylvania, Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware, all within 150 miles of Swarthmore, Pa.

The same year that Chautauqua was opened at Chestertown it was opened at Georgetown, Del.

Chautauqua, as noted above, begins in Chestertown August 30 and will continue until Sept. 5. The program gives promise of being a good one.

DRILLS

For nearly 20 years we have been selling to the trade in this territory

Superior Grain Drills!

It has been a period of satisfaction, because a user of a Superior is a booster for the drill. With the selling of the drills we have a repair service that has never been equaled by any other make of drills here. Think of what this means to you, Mr. Drill User, when you are buying a new drill. We still offer you this same service with its continued improvements and additions, and today we offer you the latest style of Superior Drills at a price a little lower than the present market conditions can afford.

Let us talk it over with you if you are needing a drill.

Disk Harrows, Spring Harrows, Plows and a full line of tillage implements.

Yours for service,
