Farmers, List Your Repair Needs

It would be hard to find a farmer who at some time or another had not lost valuable time waiting for necessary repair parts. Take this territory and total up the time lost in this way and it will astonish you. And all because repairs are not odered as early as they should be.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

Party Line Courtesy

Courtesy in the use of the telephone is nowhere more necessary or more appreciated than on a party line. Both parties on the line expect and should receive good service and as little interruption as possible.

If you are on a party line and desire to be considerate of the other person on the line, we would suggest that you eliminate as far as possible lengthy telephone conversations. They are annoying not only to your neighbor, but also to persons desiring to reach him, and sometimes may result in delays of serious consequence.

When you pick up the receiver on a party line and find another person talking, the courteous thing to do is to replace the receiver as quietly as possible and wait a reasonable length of time before trying again to use the line.

The observance of these suggestions by party line users will result in better telephone service and better feeling between those on the same line.

Help Place Maryland On Honor Roll

Thirty-two thousand one hundred heroes of the World War are buried in foreign soil in France, Scotland, Ireland and Belgium. On each Memorial Day for the past three years former comrades, present members of the American Legion, have reverently scattered flowers on the graves of these fallen heroes.

It is now proposed to raise an endowment fund of $100,000 to $200,000 for the perpetual annual decoration of these graves so long as the United States shall remain a nation. Maryland's quota of this fund is approximately $2000.

The American Legion will live only so long as its present members live, but the memory of those heroes will live for centuries. The Legion is to be congratulated upon its proposal to raise an endowment fund to be held in trust and used for this purpose exclusively.

In previous years the membership of the Legion has provided the funds for this work, but it now requests our assistance in raising this permanent fund. It seems to be a matter of public interest in which every American should be invited to participate.

The Transcript is glad to have this opportunity to assist in presenting this laudabel undertaking to its readers and will accept and forward any subscriptions its readers may care to make. All monies will be forwarded to Arthur Renouf, Commander of The American Legion of Maryland, Howard Street Armory, Baltimore. The Legion hopes to complete this fund before May 1, 1924.

Announcements of all contributions will be made in this column.

Let's see that Kent County does its share.

Kent's Wheat Crop For Next Year

Plowing for next year's wheat crop has been practically finished in Kent county and the preparation of the seed beed is about on same scale as last year, in spite of the disastrous results to many of our farmers.

Our farmers were confronted with the problem of increasing or decreasing their wheat acreages. Many authorities, including the Farm Bureau, had urged a twenty per cent reduction in the wheat acreage, thinking this would tend to prevent over production, and consequently make a better price next year. There are not many of our farmers who will increase their acreage.

Record Yield Of Tomatoes

The tomato season now drawing to a close has been a most successful one for Kent farmers. Many of our farmers have gotten big yields, such as 9 and ten tons to the acre, but it has remained for Mr. H. H. Legg, of Flatland, Kent County, to get a record yield for any part of the country. Mr. Legg, from five acres, averaged fifteen tons to the acre, which he carried to Mr. Baldwin's cannery in Chestertown. Mr. Charles Nicholson averaged 10 tons from 5 acres, while Mr. Frank Baxter, on the Carvel farm, near town, averaged 10 tons to the acre.

Mr. Baldwin's cannery, in Chestertown, has had a most successful season in packing tomatoes, which will be concluded in about two weeks. The tomatoes received there have been of a high grade, which have been handled in a most efficient manner. Mr. Baldwin cannery is one of the most up-to-date and sanitary of any in the country. Practically nothing is handled by hand and no efforts are spared to keep the place clean. Mr. Baldwin ships a great part of his output to Texas, but it also goes to other parts of the country as well.

Fall Tree Planting

The State Department of Forestry has just issued its fall tree list and is ready to distribute, at cost, trees for forest and roadside planting.

The trees offered are those found best adapted for Maryland conditions. The small trees for forest planting cost from 1-4c to 2c each and include loblolly pine, short leaf, white and red pines, Norway spruce, European larch, red oak, tulip poplar, white ash and sugar maples.

The roadside trees vary in size from a few feet to 15 feet in height and the prices range from 5c to $1.15 each. The list includes black, willow and pin oaks, elm, black walnut,Oriental plane, black and honey locusts and ginkgo.

Profit By Experience of Others

The hog cholera days have come,the saddest of the year—for the hog growers. Every person raising hogs realizes that much depends on the next few weeks. With this situation before us, there is no doubt that practically every hog owner would like to know what precautions to take to keep his hogs from contracting the disease.

Careful motorists driving along bad roads always seek to avoid the places where some fellow got stuck or met with mishap. Hog owners can profit by the same precautionary measures.

In this regard, it would be well to review the cases of hog cholera in Maryland during the year 1923, up to Sept. 15. During this time 164 outbreaks were reported. 130 of these were primary or new outbreaks and 34 were secondary or the infection had spread from the original outbreaks to other places.

In the investigation of the primary outbreaks, the apparent source of infection was obtained in 80 per cent of the cases. It was found that 88 of these were started by the feeding of garbage, table scraps or kitchen swill containing bones, rinds or scraps of pork. Eight were caused by the introduction of sick or exposed hogs, five were due to "breaks" following the use of the double treatment, and in three cases the infection was apparently harbored on premises from a previous outbreak. In many of the places where no history could be obtained, regarding the source of infection it was plain that the owners did not care to give the desired information, and in other instances the hogs received such little care that but little was known about them.

It is certain that without the new outbreaks there would have been no spread of the infection. However, the history regarding the spread of the disease from the primary outbreaks will be of value. In every instance there was a delay in reporting the primary outbreaks to the authorities, and in many cases the carcasses of hogs dead fo the disease were not promptly or properly disposed of.

With this history of the outbreaks of cholera in Maryland as a guide, it will be easy for every hog owner to avoid the same pitfalls that their more unfortunate brethren encountered.

Injured At Rock Hall

William R. Wilson, of Ingleside, candidate for the State Senate in the recent Democratic primary, was painfully but not seriously injured last week when his Hudson Sedan turned turtle at the approach to the Rock Hall ferry. Mr. D. Edgar Hurlock, of Church Hill, who was an occupant of the car, also suffered minor cuts and bruises. The road was wet and slippery and pulling out of the road to let another car pass, the machine skidded. When Mr. Wilson attempted to bring the machine back into the road it turned over. Mr. Wilson's left arm and small finger on the left hand were badly lacerated, several stitches being taken in the wounds after he reached Baltimore. He was also otherwise bruised and cut. Mr. Hurlock suffered numerous bruises and cuts, but none of a serious nature. One wheel of the car was demolished, a fender smashed and the windows broken.

STILL POND

Mrs. Holten Parr and little daughter have returned to their home in Baltimore after spending the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley and Miss Anna Walters, of Baltimore, spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walters.

Quite an interesting Epworth League service was held on last Sunday evening in charge of the Juniors and the children did well, showing some of the work done duirng the year. Following the League service, Rev. Shockley preached an interesting sermon to the children.

Mrs. Emory Grey and daughter, Mrs. Brown, of Brooklyn, spent last week-end with the former's sister, Mrs. Charles Walters.

The regular meeting of Friendship Rebekah Lodge will be next Thursday, Sept. 27. Important business. Come out.

Jail Delivery At Easton

Another wholesale delivery from Easton Jail was effected one night last week. Those making their escape were Medford Kane, charged with shooting Richard Young at a dance held in Easton on Labor Day; James Shepherd, arrested for being drunk and disorderly; James Harrison, who was awaiting trial for larceny; and Walter Stringwood, also for larceny. They are all colored and made their escape by a window on the south side of the jail. It is thought they had assistance from the outside as they left behind them on the floor of the jail corridor a chisel, a three-cornered file and a penknife, the blades of which were made into a saw. With these implements they sawed two of the iron bars, giving them plenty of room through which to crawl. This brought them to the jail yard, where they then had to scale the high fence to make good their escape. The only man left in jail is Charles Bowdle, a white man, who was convicted of vagrancy and sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction. He was in a cell on the north side of the jail asleep and was not called when the others made their geta-away.

"This is what spoiled your oil"

Long experience has given the Fleet Boss a remarkable instinct for locating motor troubles. One of his drivers complained that the oil wasn't any good and the motor heated up. The Boss discovered a leak in the upper radiator connection and the fan blowing water straight into the oil breather. No wonder the oil didn't work and the engine over-heated!
