C. G. WOODALL
EDITOR AND PUBLISHER.

ELSEWHERE the Transcript publishes an open letter from Hon. Samuel J. Tilden addressed to Speaker Carlisle. It puts in clear and forcible view facts regarding our lack of harbor defenses, that must impress the good sense of the present Congress regardless of party. The letter demonstrates that in spite of advanced years, Mr. Tilden yet possesses that clearness of intellect that has distinguished him in every phase in which he has been tried.

IT IS PROBABLE that a bill to constitute a new Maryland county will come before the Legislature this winter. A move looking to such end has been started in the thrifty manufacturing town of Laurel. It is proposed to take territory for the new county from Prince George's, Anne Arundel, Howard and Montgomery counties. Laurel lies at a point where these four counties join, and it is proposed to make Laurel the county town. It is expected that Baltimore and Carroll counties will give some territory to compensate Howard, which is a small county, for her loss.

ONE OF THE first-rate jokes in connection with the work before the present Congress, but which is really not meant for a joke at all, is the proposition which puts forward the Hon. Samuel J. Randall to lead the tariff reform move. This absurd suggestion of course comes from Pennsylvania, the very hotbed and nursery of protective taxation ideas. There is no man in the country more thoroughly identified with the sophistry that it is fair and just to build up certain industries by taxing others than is Mr. Randall. Any legislation which may originate with him, will simply be the best possible compromise which he can work through in favor of a tariff to please the manufacturers. Samuel J. Randall has had his day

As to Concealed Legislation.

Some of our exchanges are discussing the question of the publication of the laws. The Transcript, as it has before said, believes that when a legislative body provides laws by which a people are to be governed, it should also provide that the people be given the opportunity of becoming acquainted with those laws. In this day of general intelligence the people are fully capable of understadding the laws made for their government. To be sure, there are sometimes laws so drawn that the wisest lawyer cannot tell what they really mean. A law should be put in clear and unmistakable language, and when so put every intelligent citizen can understand its intent. The best possible way of bringing the laws before the people is to publish them in the newspapers of the State, judiciously selected. So published, the work of the Legislature is not hidden away in law books, but is put plainly and thoroughly before the people.

MR. TILDEN TO MR. CARLISLE.

A LETTER SUGGESTING THE USE OF SURPLUS REVENUE TO PROVIDE COAST DEFENSES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Hon. Samuel J. Tilden has sent the following letter to Hon. John G. Carlisle under date of December 1: "As public opinion points to you as the Speaker of the next House of Representatives, I desire to submit a suggestion as to one of the public objects for which an appropriation ought to be prompt and liberal. In considering the state and management of the public revenues, the subject involves the questions whether we shall extinguish the surplus by reducing the revenue, or whether we shall apply the surplus to payments on the public debt, or whether we shall seize the occasion to provide for our sea-coast defenses, which have been long neglected. I am of the opinion that the latter is a paramount necessity, which ought to precede the reduction of the revenue and an excessive rapidity in the payment of the public debt.

"The property exposed to destruc- [illegible] n the twelve seaports—Portland, Portsmouth, Boston, Newport, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Charleston, Savannah, New Orleans, Galveston and San Francisco—cannot be less in value than [illegible] hundred millions of dollars. This must be added a vast [illegible]nt of property dependent for [illegible] on these seaports. Now does [illegible] statement afford a true measure [illegible] the damage which might be [illegible]ed to the property and business [illegible] country by a failure to pro[illegible] these seaports from hostile na[illegible]ks.

"[illegible] centres, not only [illegible] commerce, but of most of [illegible] trade and exchanges of [illegible]ductions. To this state [illegible] machinery of trans[illegible] whole country has [illegible]. The interruption [illegible]affic by the oc[illegible]ore of our prin[illegible]reign enemy, [illegible]em by bom[illegible] over them [illegible]on for the [illegible]ibution or [illegible]upon the [illegible]e coun[illegible]ither be [illegible]e elabo[illegible] which [illegible]atest [illegible]acti[illegible]able [illegible]ern [illegible]sts [illegible] of fortifications designed to protect the harbor of New York, where two-thirds of the import trade of the whole one half of the export trade of the whole United States is carried on, are too near to the great population of New York city, Jersey City and Brooklyn to be of any value as a protection.

"To provide effectual defenses would be the work of years. It would take much time to construct permanent fortifications. A small provision of the best modern guns would take several years. Neither of these works can be extemporized in presence of emergent danger. A million of soldiers with the best equipment, on the heights surrounding the harbor of New York, in our present state of preparation, or rather in our total want of preparation, would be powerless to resist a small squadron of war steamers.

"This state of things is discreditable to our foresight and to our prudence. The best guarantee against aggression, the best assurance that our diplomacy will be successful and pacific, and that our rights and honor will be respected by other nations, is in their knowledge that we are in a situation to vindicate our reputation and interests. While we may afford to be deficient in the means of offense, we cannot afford to be defenseless. It is now more than sixty years since we announced to the world that we should resist any attempts, from whatever quarter they might come, to make any new colonization on any part of the American continent; that while we should respect the status quo, we should protect the people of the different nations inhabiting this continent from every attempt to subject them to the dominion of any foreign power, or to interfere with their undisturbed exercise of the rights of self-government.

"This announcement was formally made by President Monroe, after consultation with Mr. Madison and Mr. Jefferson. It was formulated by John Quincy Adams. Our government has finally adhered to the Monroe doctrine, and even so late as 1865 it warned Napoleon III. out of Mexico. It it impossible to foresee in the recent scramble of the European powers for acquisition of colonies how soon an occasion may arise for our putting in practice the Monroe doctrine. It is clear that there ought to be some relation between our assertion of that doctrine and our preparation to maintain it. In the questions that beset this subject, until they shall have reached a solution, we can content ourselves with adding but sparingly to our navy. But what we do add should be the very best that science and experience can indicate. This prudential view is reinforced by the consideration that the annual charge of maintaining a war vessel bears an important proportion to the original cost of construction. In constructing permanent fortifications, and in providing an ample supply of the best modern artillery, the annual cost of maintenance is inconsiderable. Nearly the whole expenditure is in the original outlay for construction. If we do not make the expenditure necessary to provide for our seacoast defenses when we have a surplus, and have no need to levy new taxes, we certainly will not make those expenditures when we have no longer a surplus in the treasury. To leave our vast interests defenseless in order to reduce the cost of whiskey to its consumers would be a solecism. The present time is peculiarly favorable for providing for this great national necessity, too long neglected. Not only does the surplus in the treasury supply ample means to meet this great public want without laying new burdens upon the people, but the work can now be done at a much lower cost than has ever before been possible. The defensive works would consist almost entirely of steel and iron. These materials can now be had at an unprecedented low price. A vast supply of machinery and of labor called into existence by a great vicissitude in the steel and iron industries offers itself to our service. We should have the satisfaction of knowing that while we were availing ourselves of the supplies which would ordinarily be unattainable, we were setting in motion important industries, and giving employment to labor in a period of depression. With encouragement by the guarantee of work, or perhaps by the government itself furnishing the plant, the inventive genius of our people would be applied to the creation of new means and improved machinery, and establishments would spring into existence capable of supplying all of the national wants, and rendering us completely independent of all other countries in respect to the means of national defense. I endeavored to impress these ideas upon Mr. Randall the last time I had the pleasure of seeing him. With my highest regards to Mrs. Carlisle and yourself, I remain, very truly yours. "S. J. TILDEN,"

"Hon. John G. Carlisle."

Cure for Piles.

Piles are frequently preceded by a sense weight in the back, loins and lower part of the abdomen, causing the patient to suppose he has some affection of the kidneys or neighboring organs. At times, symptoms of indigestion are present, as flatulency, uneasiness of the stomach, etc. A moisture, like perspiration, producing a very disagreeable itching, after getting warm, is a common attendant. Blind, Bleeding and Itching Piles yield at once to the application of Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly upon the parts affected, absorbing the Tumors, allaying the intense itching and affecting a permanent cure. Price 50 cents. Address, The Dr. Bosanko Medicine Co., Piqua, O. Sold by C. F. Stam.

AN ESSAY On Christmas.

There are many different ways in which a Christmas essay might be written. But the special standpoint from which we desire to consider Christmas is that of the Christmas Gift. We think we have the best and most appropriate article for a Christmas gift to be thought of. What is it? Why a pair of Slippers. In all civilized countries Slippers are recognized as tasteful and appropriate for presents. The young lady who spends time and labor over the embroidering of a piece of cloth, is spending time and labor to little purpose. It will cost her as much to have them soled when finished, as it would have cost her in the first place to purchase a Handsome Pair full finished from us. We have some Real Aligator Slippers—not imitation aligator—that are Very Handsome, Very Handsome, indeed. We have imitation aligator, too, which are cheaper, and Slippers hand-worked on plush or cloth, and, indeed, several styles and designs of Slippers. Come and look at them.

WINTER BOOTS.

Have you purchased your Winter Boots?

No?

If not you will need to.

Snows, frosts, freezings, thawings, mud, slop and cold are ahead.

You will endanger your health this winter unless your feet are kept dry and warm.

Please remember this, that if you need a pair a Winter Boots, we are the headquarters. As we have previously remarked, we deal in nothing but Boots and Shoes, and it stands to reason that we can sell a better bargain than the merchant who deals in everything. We have sold hundreds of pairs of Men's Winter Boots this season, but we can yet furnish the Best Boot made, and at Bottom Prices. The best way for you to determine the correctness of our statement is to call and examine our stock. If you find nothing to meet your want, you need not buy, and there will be no harm done. But we know beforehand that if you can be suited anywhere, either as to quality or as to price, you can be suited with us. We talk about Winter Boots especially, but remember that we have everything else that goes in the Shoe line, for either ladies or gentlemen, and that from the Finest to the most Substantial.

KRIS KRINGLE CASTLE, Nov. 24, 1885.

My Dear old friend Cummings:—As usual I address my annual letter to you. You know that only once a year I am enabled to write to you, for want of time, and I write you now because I must pay your beautiful town my Christmas visit, for the purpose of distributing to all the children the many pretty things that I shall get at your store, for I know you always have them; and the fact is I have in the past been so well pleased with your selection that I shall not bring anything with me this season, but get all at your store. Please answer at your earliest convenience and tell me what you have in stock to select from. Of course I expect to have my old quarters at your store. I shall be down a few days before Christmas, so that I can have plenty of time to look over your stock.
