WASHINGTON LOSES TO ARMY—W. C. SQUAD TO PLAY AT BUFFALO TODAY—OTHER SPORTING NOTES OF INTEREST

In spite of the fact that Washington College took along a large crowd of rooters to help them by means of enthusiasm in their unequal fight with the Third Army Corps Saturday, the local collegians lost, 27-0, after it had been clearly demonstrated that they were not equal to winning from their heavier, more experienced opponents. While the Army side of the Stadium, in Baltimore, where the game was played, had the advantage of a band and many gorgeously-attired ladies to cheer their team along, Washington's side was not outdone in the latter at least. Kent County, the home of about everything beautiful, sent its most beautiful feminine rooters to the struggle. And it was not without its effect. They laughed and cheered when Reiger flung back the almost irresistable sweep of the Army backfield, waved their colors when Crowe and Cavanaugh tried in vain to pierce the cordon of defense which the Army always had working and looked sad when the Army giant backfield tore through Washington's line almost at will.

The Army flashed an attack which could not be denied and scored a touchdown in each quarter with but little trouble. There were about 3000 in the Stadium for the game.

The Army had no trouble going through the line off tackle and around the ends. All of its touchdowns were earned, the result of sustained marches up the field. Never held for downs, and seldom kicking, the Army almost monopolized possession of the ball. On the other hand, Washington made only two earned first downs, widely separated and each the result of a forward pass.

Washington had a good chance in the last quarter, when an Army forward pass was intercepted on the W.C. 37-yard line and Lohran was sent into the game to open up an aerial attack for Washington. After one grounded forward pass, he shot the ball to Reiger for 28 yards and first down. An end run and two more passes failed to gain and Army was penalized for interference on the second pass, giving W. C. first down on the 20-yard line. They were, however, able to make further gains and Army took possession of the ball.

Reiger, right end for W. C., and Noyes, former Navy back, were the stars for their respective teams, the latter making repeated gains through the line almost at will.

Washington fought a hard, game fight, but they were up against a larger, more experienced and better all-around aggregation.

The weather was ideal for the accasion, with just enough autumnal tinge to make it comfortable for the onlookers, who, after seeing Washington defeated, expressed themselves as satisfied that the state college teams and the other teams on the schedule of Washington's athletic calibre, will be given good battles on the gridiron.

The W. C. football squad left Thursday for Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y., where they will play today, Saturday.

Washington College will play Pennsylvania Military College at Chester on Saturday, October 20.

With the football season in full swing and the world's series being played, lovers of sport verily are having their innings.

Cambridge High School and Chestertown High School were playing yesterday when we went to press.

The gunning season in Kent is from Nov. 10 until January 1. Game is said to be plentiful in all the covers of the county.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Kent County Has Donated $1000.00 Lets Make Use Of It.

The people of Kent County have donated $1000, so that Kent County might be a member of the Eastern Shore Council of Boy Scouts and so that scouting might be organized in this county and that the boys of Kent might belong to a good, live Boy Scout Organization.

Great strides have been made in the past few weeks toward making this desire a reality, as troops have been organized in a number of towns in the county and from the attendance at these meetings, the boys want to be scouts.

It is not necessary to argue as to whether scouting is a good thing. If it were not, it could not have grown as it has in every country in the world. From the scout oath to the very last detail, scouting teaches a bay to be an upright, law-abiding, manly citizen, without doing the things that the average boy thinks is necessary to be big.

In order to make scouting a success in Kent County and on the Eastern Shore, it is necessary to have the moral support of the citizens living therein, so let's get behind the boys with the thought that the scout of today will be the citizen of tomorrow, and the future of the Peninsula depends on what kind of citizens the boy of today will make.

Returning to his home on the River Road, near Salisbury, about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mr. George Hearn had the misfortune to run over his little son, Wilson, age five, who was playing near the drive and did not see the car approaching. The child was pinned under the car and suffered concussion of the brain and cuts upon the face. He was rushed to the office of a physician, where he remained unconscious for about three hours. It was necessary to take stitches in his wounds, but it is believed he is not seriously injured.
