SPORTS

WASHINGTON COLLEGE PRIMED FOR TITANTIC GRIDIRON BATTLE WITH MT. ST. MARY'S ON WASHINGTON FIELD TODAY—OTHER SPORTS

Washington will probably win the annual football contest on Washington Field today with Mt. St. Mary's by a safe margin. We do not, of course, expect to see Washington "run wild," tearing big gaps in Mt. St. Mary's, through which the powerful W. C. backfield will make gains at will, but rather expect to see a hard-fought, bitterly contested game, with the lines about evenly matched and Washington holding the balance of power by virtue of its powerful backfield, the parallel of which has never been seen perhaps at Washington College. With Crowe, Cavanaugh, Armstrong, Negri, Dumschott, Carrington and Galvin to carry the ball, we can hardly figure how Mt. St. Mary's can stop them sufficiently to win a victory.

The Washington College-Mt. St. Mary's game can always be depended upon to furnish real thrills. Mt. St. Mary's never sends a poorly-trained, inefficient aggregation on the field in any branch of sport. They are always fighters from whistle to whistle, and they have an unpleasant way of winning from Washington quite frequently.

Coach Kibler has his gridiron warriors primed for the contest. His men are in good shape. They have the zip and the quality and are eagerly awaiting for the time when they go against their ancient rival.

So, boys of Washington, grease up the old college bell, practice the well-known and popular songs and yells, and gather up the wood for a big bon fire tonight. It is Washington's day to win!

A big crowd from Kent County saw Navy and Princeton battle to a 3-3 tie Saturday in the Baltimore Stadium on Saturday. As a football exhibition, it was rather poorly played and lacked the dash and enthusiasm one would expect from such an event; as an interesting spectacle, bringing together a crowd of lovers of football, it was highly successful. There was present at the game such a crowd as Baltimore has not seen in many days. Princeton is a decided favorite in Baltimore and the South, which sent many fair-faced and happy fans to encourage the Tiger to supreme efforts. Perhaps this was the reason Princeton was able to hold the Navy to a tie, for Navy surely had a decided edge as a football aggregation, as statistics of the game showed.

The big games for today are Dartmouth vs. Cornell; Lafayette vs. W. & J.; Harvard vs. Tufts; Carnegie Teck vs. Lehigh; Navy vs. Colgate; Penn State vs. Syracuse; Pittsburg vs. Pennsylvania; Princeton vs. Swarthmore; Yale vs. Army. We pick Cornell, Harvard, Lafayette, Carngie Tech, Navy, Syracuse, Pittsburgh, Princeton, and Yale as the victors.

St. Johns and Delaware played a scoreless tie Saturday. St. John's is said to have had the best of the struggle.

Chestertown High School and Bridgeville High School played at the latter place yesterday afternoon. Coach Healey has a hard job on his hands with the local aggregation. The team is far too light, the lightest that ever represented the local school.

Reiger is the largest small man that ever played on the Washington College football team. Although weighing but about 140, and the smallest man on the team, nevertheless, opposing aggregations have a hard time to gain around his end. At receiving forward passes he also is about the best on the team. Reiger deserves a place in the athletic hall of fame at Washington College.

University of Maryland and St. John's will fight it out on the gridiron next Saturday, while Western Maryland and Hopkins will also play on the same date. We look for University of Maryland to defeat St. John's and Hopkins to defeat Western Maryland, although Western Maryland is said to have their best team in years.

Football finances all the other sports at the big colleges, to some extent. Think of 60,000 to 70,000 people paying five dollars a seat and yon can readily see what a sum is available.

Man gets nearer to nature at all seasons of the year than woman, because he takes more of a delight in wandering in the woods, but in the autumn, when he oils his gun and calls to his dog, this is his special season of all. There is something inspiring in walking out in the leafy wilderness in autumn. It brings one back to earth once more. We seek after the impossible in life; we try to scale the dizzy heights in vain. Then back to nature we go. Then, if nothing else, we realize our true smallness and make one more effort to play the game.

The open game season in Maryland is as follows:

Nov. 10 to Jan. 1, inclusive—Partridge, pheasants, woodcock, rabbit and wild turkey.

Squirrels—Sept. 1 to Oct. 15; Nov. 10 to Jan. 1.

Nov. 1 to Jan. 31—Ducks, geese, brant, jacksnipe and crowbills.

Sept. 1 to Dec. 15—Doves.

Aug. 16 to Nov. 30—Yellow-leg, black-breasted and golden plover.

Sept. 1 to Nov. 30—Rail birds.

Sept. 1 to Nov. 30—Reed birds.

Jan. 1 to March 15—Muskrat and otter.

Bay limits for one day are: for partridges (quail', 12; grouse, 2; pheasants, 3; rail, 50; reed, 50; doves, 25; woodcock, 6; rabbits, 10; squirrels, 25; jacksnipe, 25; ducks, geese, brant, coots, crowbills and gallinules, 25 in all in any one day; yellow-leg plover, 15; black-breasted plover, 5; wild turkey, 4 in any one season.

It is illegal to export any game out of Maryland (wild water fowl excepted).

All persons, excepting landowners, their tenants or children, while hunting on their own or leased land, must have a license to hunt. County licenses are $1.10; state-wide $5.10; non-residents of Maryland, $10.50.

It is uniawful to trespass on any property owned, controlled or acquired by the State Game Department for the propagation of game and fish.

A local football fan of many years experience in the game stated to us the other day: "I believe Crowe could make good on any football team in the country." We agree with him. Crowe, who has been styled the "blond tornado" by many of his admirers, is one of the two or three outstanding stars of the team. Crowe is the fleetest runner on the team, has more weight and has perhaps a wider range of football knowledge. He can also toss the forward pass like a bullet and with unerring aim. For the past two years he has been one of the mainstays of the team. Last year he would have easily made the all-Maryland had he not injured his hand. This year it will be hard to keep him off this mythical eleven. Cavanaugh ranks on a par with Crowe. He is not quite so fast a runner, but is more shifty, and although lighter, is as hard to tackle. He cannot throw forward passes quite as accurately as Crowe, but can do well at it. He is the best drop kicker on the team. Altogether, Cavanaugh is the best quarterback we have ever seen marshall his men on a Washington College team. Another star that is shining prominently these days is Armstrong. He was the best football and basketball player ever developed at the Chestertown High School and bids fair to make his mark at W. C. on the athletic field. He is a good drop kicker, almost as good as Cavanaugh, a fast, shifty man with the ball, hard to stop, powerful on the attack, with good weight and strength to back him up. He has plenty of nerve and aggressiveness and has never been known to cause a penalty to be inflicted on his team. Coupled with his fine defensive work, it makes him a most valuable man in the backfield, and a close second to Crowe and Cavanaugh. Negri is in the making and fast, at that. He is a hard man to stop when he has the ball. We look for him to do big things before the year is over. Carrington is a mighty good field general in charge of the team, but has not the natural football ability as have the others mentioned. He handles the team well at all times, and will likely make a star in another year. Dumschott, the speedy basketball man, is another powerful backfield man and can always be depended on. Galvin, lacking weight, makes up for it with courage and speed and is good all the time.

Last winter, just at its close, in many Maryland country homes, young pheasants were carefully nurtured and fed on the best of grain. Out in the open shelters were built and food was supplied to the bobwhite. When the warmth of spring came the pheasants were liberated and the bob-white selected their homes to raise the youngsters. The pheasants had been obtained from eggs hatched by chickens. The bob-whites were a native product or the offspring of those furnished by the State Game Department. With the approach of the game season, the most concerted effort of the people of this state looking toward game preservation should be practiced. The main thing is, after all, be satisfied with as few as possible. The shot gun is the worst enemy of our game. At the present time, everywhere we go we see evidence of plenty of game. Let's try and keep it so.

Keep a lookout on your fox hound and rabbit dog. Thieves are abroad in large numbers for them, now that the season is nearly here. Don't let them roam about. Naturally timid creatures, they are picked up by the owners of cars on roads every day.

While some of our city brethren, who know about as much regarding our team as they do regarding the raising of wheat or corn or potatoes, are wildly putting Washington College in sixth, or last place, in listing the college elevens. This would be sad, if true! But is it? Could any of the five mentioned ahead of us have done as well as the Army, the Marines, Carnisius or P. M. C.? That's the question. Washington College is making no pretensions regarding their standing, but we give them by far the best team they have had since Floyd Brown and Jack Enright were in the backfield. Since then, Washington College, away ahead of her rivals in basketball and baseball, has lagged a little in the autumn sport. This has been due to lack of good material, insufficient weight, etc. Although the team this year is not an exceptionally heavy one, yet it is a team that can play the well. Practically the same team is playing together the second year and have acquired a remarkable degree of smoothness and co-ordination. The line is well fortified, the backfield is fast and powerful, while the morale of the whole team is good. Few, if any, of the state teams will defeat Washington this year.

Lohran is another backfield man who is a constant threat to the opposing teams. He is the best forward passer at the college and continual source of menace whenever in the game. He is well known by his basketball ability and can handle a football almost as well as the former.

Making The Right Friendships

If you have a little fairy in your home, or a big one for that matter, that's ust the place where a subscription to The Youth's Companion will fit in. When the young folks bring new acquaintances to the house you are mighty careful to find out about them before admitting them to intimacy. In the same way you should make sure whether the mental friends that they make through erading are of a kind to inspire them or to destroy all the ideals that you have been at so much pains to implant. Try the Youth's Companion for a year. See how quickly it becomes an indispensable member of the household, one of the unfailing charm and constant stimulus to high endeavor.

The 52 issues of 1924 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

—The Treasury collected income and profits taxes from 7,018,573 individuals and firms for the calendar year 1921, receipts from this source totaling $1,420,962,438. A statistical report made public recently by the Bureau of Internal Revenue shows that such revenue decreased approximately $1,250,000,000 from 1920, while there was a reduction of about 600,000 in the number of persons and firms making returns. Of the total number of returns filed 6,662,176 were by individuals.

—Kent county has been having real "indian summer," which comes to this section every year at about this time. The term is applied in this county to a period of mild fall weather following a spell of unseasonably cold weather. In different parts of Europe this mild weather is known as "St. Martin's summer," "St. Luke's summer," or "St. Michael's summer."

have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought out New Beauty, New Riding Ease and New Mechanical Perfection to the Product on which their Reputation as Builders has been Founded.

They have built a better and a more deservable line of motor cars—yet basicially and fundamentally the idenity of their product remains the same.

The same Sturdy Engine is under the hood, the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs--now underslnng--have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.
