County News.

Millington Notes.

The "Law and Order Association" of this place is untiring in its efforts to stop the sale of beer, and liquors, not only in town, but throughout the land. Last week Mr. Pratt was waited on by committee and ordered to stop selling pear cider which he refused to do. In a few days a man named Armitage from Manayunk registered at Mr. Pratt's. He had no apparent business but plenty of leisure, which he employed in drinking the cider of Pratt's, which the L. and O. Association had to pay for. After testing the quality of the cider for three days, he notified Mr. Pratt that he was a detective employed by the L. and O. Association, and that the stuff he was selling was beer, and he must stop under penalty of arrest. Mr. Pratt barrelled up what he had left and returned it to bottler. A barrel that was on the road came down Wednesday. The L. and O. Association bought it and emptied it and now our town is dry, very dry.

A vessell load of wheat from Baltimore arrived at the port of Millington on the 17th. The first cargo of wheat ever shipped here by water. The wheat was for the Millington Mills, was brought here by Capt. Townsend in his sloop, the Lottie.

Mr. T. J. F. Smith was out Wednesday in his rolling chair, as far as the post-office, the first time in fifteen months, attended by his faithful wife and son, Frank.

Mr. T. J. McWhorter and daughter Ethel, C. M. Hurtt and H. S. Cook attended the commencement of Pennsylvania University on the 13th to witness the graduation of T. M. McWhorter as M. D.

Mrs. Henrietta Crane, daughter Alice, and Mrs. Moffett of Baltimore, are visiting Mrs. Rasin.

Miss Birdie Bailey and Miss Mollie Attix are visiting at Mr. John Bailey's.

Miss Nellie Burke has returned after a four weeks visit to Wilmington friends.

JUPITER.

Still Pond Locals.

Mrs. Sallie Norris is now the guest of friends in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Sallie Jones, of Wilmington, Del., is the guest of her sister Mrs. Edw. Ford.

Miss Walker, of Chestertown, is the guest of Miss Burgess.

The Still Pond school will give an entertainment in the town hall, Thursday evening June 27th, if stormy, then the following evening, 15c. for adults and 10c. for children under 12 years. The price of seats are to suit the times, and not because we think it is inferior to the ones given in the past. It promises to be the most brilliant ever given by the school. Mr. I. R. Starkey and Miss Sadie Burgess are sparing no time in preparing their scholars. The proceeds are for the buying of maps and curtains for the school.

When our town folks awoke on Wednesday morning they found that a large flag had been raised bearing the name of our worthy defeated candidate James Tilden Ireland as a candidate for clerk in '97.

The Still Pond Sunday school will have an excursion to Tolchester early in July, the date not yet being fixed.

Some of our farmers cut wheat Thursday of this week.

The side walk running to the church is somewhat improved.

Mrs. Parrott is improving her home by having it painted.

One of the oldest houses in the town has been torn down much to the beauty the place. B.

Sassafras Items.

Mr. Benj. Caulk, near town, cut a very fine field of barley on Monday last.

Wheat harvest will begin in earnest next week.

Mr. Benjamin Crouch spent Wednesday in Chestertown.

Mrs. John F. Earnest and two children, in company with Mrs. Lewis Dreaka, spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Gill Statts of Townsend, Delaware.

Sassafras is very business-like. Every one seems busy. The creamery is running on full time. They receive about 14,000 pounds of milk per day. They made 12,000 pounds of butter in the month of May and expect a much greater quantity this month.

Mr. Walter Vansant spent Wednesday evening with Middletown friends.

The festival of the M. P. Church was quite a success. The ladies deserve great credit for their untiring efforts to make it successful.

Messrs. Doe Hudson and Jesse Hartly visited friends in Towsend on Sunday evening last.

Mrs. Shep. Morris and Mrs. McGinnes, of Golts, visited friends in Sassafras on Tuesday.

Mrs. George Kennedy and daughter, Miss Kate, are visiting Mrs. Kennedy's sister, Mrs. Hudson, near town.

Mr. Jesse Hartly, of Middletown, visited his parents here on Sunday.

We are pleased to state Mrs. Agnese Tarbutton is very much improved from her late indisposition.

We are very sorry to state the illness of Mr. George Kennedy's little daughter, Elizabeth.

Mr. Lewis Dreaka's bright little daughter, Mary, is very much better.

The death of Miss Rachel L. Thornton, daughter of the late John T. Thornton and Henrietta Thornton, of Glasgon, Del., of consumption on Monday evening, was very sad. She was a beautiful young girl, and just in the bloom of life to be taken away was very sad. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church. Her mother and sisters are crushed with grief.

Miss Jennie Brice had a most enjoyable lawn party at her beautiful home on last Thursday, given in honor of her guests, the Miss Echenhofer, of Middletown. Mr. Walter Vansant, from here, Mrs. Lewis, Miss Alice and Mortimer Lewis Dreaka, with about twenty more, attended.

Mr. Gayland Wright, of Warwick and sister, of Warwick, Miss Brownheart and other friends spent Wednesday here.

Kennedyville Notes.

The M. P. Church Festival held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights of last week was a grand success. An excellent supper was served on Saturday evening which nearly every one enjoyed and nearly one hundred persons ate supper. The net proceeds were about fifty-one dollars which will be used towards fixing up parsonage and on minister's salary.

Mrs. Emma Shafer and daughter, Miss Emma and Mr. Eddie Pennington and sister, Miss Marian, have returned from a pleasant visit to Westminster and other points.

The nomination here was very quiet on Saturday and the best of order prevailed. The results of the nomination seem to be satisfactory to nearly every one.

Hepbron Gill, oldest child of Mrs. Chas. Gill, was sitting on the fence last Saturday watching the people at the hotel, when he suddenly slipped and fell to the pavement bruising his head considerably. He is getting all right now.

Mr. Dave Rose, of Delaware, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Barwick.

Examinations are in full force at the schools now.

Miss Annie Roeder, of Worton, is visiting her cousin, Miss Annie Shafer.

Miss Laura McKnett, of Baltimore is spending a short vacation at home with her parents at Urieville.

Miss Jennie Parr, of Galena visited Chantilly this week.

Mr. Malcom Shuster, of near Philadelphia, is spending a while with his sister Mrs. Sparks.

The Democratic ticket certainly is a good one, and perhaps the Republicans will be equally so.

The Ladies Mite Society of Salem will hold a lawn fete at Mrs. A. M. Kendall's next Wednesday evening.

Salem Sunday school contemplate holding their annual picnic soon.

Scarlet clover seed is ready for threshing, Mr. Sparks having quite a lot to get out this week.

Oats are heading well, and wheat is being cut, and asparagus is doing well.

Mr. Dixie Smyth, while driving a cow a few days ago was hurt badly by the cow stepping on his foot.

The arrangement of the Tolchester Company giving an evening boat from Baltimore is a great advantage to country people. The trip we understand will be made once a week.

Mr. W. A. Melvin formerly a student at Washington College but now of Western Maryland College, and Mr. Norman Cameron of the class of '95, of W. C. spent Sunday with their classmate Whittier C. Copper.

Our mechanics are all busy, and they boast of good times. WEST END.

Golt's News.

Children's day exercises were held at Golt's M. E. Church on Sunday night last, June 16th. The exercises were grand the music good and the decoration beautiful.

There will be a picnic held in the Grove at Golt's on the Fourth of July for the M. E. Sunday school.

Miss Bessa Airel one of our young girls of this place is right sick; we hope she will soon be better.
