NEWSY KERNELS

To Make Repairs.—As an indication that the Chestertown Strawboard Co. will soon resume work at the plant here, orders have been received to make extensive repairs. The two big brick stacks will be torn down and the foundation of one used to support a hot water tank. Nearly all the mules are employed outside the mill.

Accidents.—Dr. Graham and C. H. Hurlock met with an accident Tuesday while driving across Chester bridge. Just at the Queen Anne's approach an automobile came rushing by scaring their horse and causing him to jump out of the road upsetting the vehicle and giving the occupants a shaking-up." Fortunately no damage was done.

Mr. Atkinson, superintendent of the State road drove into town Wednesday and failed to hitch his horse. The result was the horse ran off and demolished the buggy.

Capt. James Thompson has been incapacitated from work this week because of an injured back.

Our esteened friend, Mr. John N. Dodd, met with a serious accident Wednesday evening at his home on High street. Mr. Dodd's eyesight has become impaired, and in going to the front of his porch to expectorate, miscalculated the distance and fell headlong to the pavement! Neighbors quickly went to his rescue and Drs. Dodd and Hines summoned. He fractured his right shoulder blade and cut his forehead over his right eye. He was able to be up yesterday and doing as well as could be expected.

Real Estate Sales.—Messrs. Beck & Ivens, whose card appears on the fourth page of the News, have started a real estate agency which promises to be a success. Within two days after the Jones place at Quaker Neck wharf was placed in thier hands they sold it to Mr. C. W. Hadaway.

Real Estate Broker, J. W. Russell has sold to Mr. Thos. G. Wroth the Wm. Brown farm near Smithville. The farm is tenanted by Capt. Dickerson and the price is somewhere around $9,000. The price was $45 per acre. Mr. Walter Kendall's son will tenant this new purchase.

Mr. Jos. Trew has purchased of Mrs. Mary E. Cummings her 86-acre farm within a mile and a half of Kennedyville for $4,300. The farm is tenanted by Mr. George Lane. Mr. Trew is one of Kent's most progressive farmers.

A dispatch from Cambridge, Md., says that W. Irving Mace and Calvin Harrington have sold to Senator Isidor Rayner for his son, William B. Rayner, the house and grounds and 32 acres of land at Clinton Place, near Cambridge. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Rayner and their son will soon go to Clinton Place. The place is probably the prettiest on the Choptank river.

Dr. John B. Schwatka and wife have sold to Kate Geraghty, of Baltimore, his "Providence" or "Shewall" farm near Rock Hall for $6500 It contains 240 acres.

Storm Damage.—Chestertown was visited Sunday by a terrific downpour of rain accompanied by vivid lightning and peals of thunder. Kennedyville and other sections did not get enough rain to lay the dust.

B. F. Shinn, residing on Mrs. M. A. Wilkins' farm, lost horse by lightning. Samuel G. McCollister, near Church Hill, lost 10 sheep by lightning. Both the above losses were insured in agency of Jos. N. Wheatley & Co.

Mr. George Beck, near Lankford, lost six sheep and a lamb.

The cellars under J. G. Roland's restaurant and Hadaway's meat shop were flooded and considerable damage done salt, etc.

Shortly after midnight, Katie Lowber a young woman and daughter of Peter Lowber, of near Viola, and the mother of a month-old baby went up-stairs during a lull in storm to bring down her bed and sleep on the first floor. She left her baby at the foot of the stairs and ran up hurriedly to the top landing. In passing a window at the top of the stairs, the girl was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The lightning had found a conductor in a tall walnut tree, which it struck, split and demolished. A clothes line wire ran from this tree to the ledge of the second-story window of the little house and it carried the death-dealing current that electrocuted the young mother. The baby's cries for its mother sounded the alarm to neighbors and they found the stiff and seared body of the girl, dead in her tracks.

The storm of Thursday night killed two yearling colts on Jesse R. Copper's farm and a cow and a pig on R. Britton Neal's place.

Horse Notes.—Mr. S. B. Nelson has purchased this week the swift little black pacer, Tolchester, of Mr. G. E. Noland and also the stylish young black bay mare of Rev. A. H. Covey, Pomona.

THIS will be the last night of the picture show in Stam's Hall for the present. These entertainments have been clean and refined and the management are to be congratulated for the excellent programs. Turn out tonight and give the Messrs. Russell a big crowd. They deserve it.
