ROCK HALL ITEMS

Farmers hereabout are in the midst of harvest. The outlook is for a fair crop of wheat.

Our shippers are much pleased with the new steamboat schedule whereby we have a daily boat.

On Wednesday the S. D. A. School held an interesting picnic on the lawn of Capt. William T. George, and it was largely attended.

Not a few of our people view the Swan Point land deal through pessimistic colored glasses. On the other hand, many hope for great good to result to the best interests of Rock Hall.

Mr. B. H. Coburn on Sunday noticed a lameness in his stallion, and upon examination found a six-penny nail driven to the head in one of the horse's feet. The nail was extracted, turpentine applied to the wound and the animal was harnessed up for a drive.

Two of our merchants on Sunday, after foraging a cherry grove and laden with delicious fruit, were held up as they were homeward bound and relieved of a quantity of their gathering. M. and N. now want to know who were the greatest sinners—themselves or R, who held them up?

The M. E. congregation were treated to a most agreeable surprise on Sunday morning by the attendance upon divine worship of Capt. Vandyke, First Officer Gibson, Purser Aldrich and other members of the crew of the steamer Gratitude. Every one seemed glad to see the gallant officials and extend the glad hand. We hope to have the same pleasure renewed frequently during the summer months.

A number of Odd Fellows on Sunday afternoon drove up to Wesleyan cemetery and in kind remembrance of the days of other years placed emblematic markers on the graves of their dead members. These "fraters," while recognizing the great importance of the pecuniary benefits of their order, are also imbued with the true spirit of fraternalism and are wont to manifest that spirit both inside and outside the threshhold of their lodge.

The commencement exercises of our High School, held in K. of P. Hall, was attended by about 400 persons, and the affair was the best ever held here. Dr. Stephens was present and delivered a highly instructive address that was richly enjoyed. The Dr. stated that this commencement was the sixth he had attended this season, and it was by far the best of all. The services in the church on Sunday evening for the benefit of the senior class and graduates was marred by the inclement condition of the weather.
