Men as Nurses.

There isn't one man in fifty thousand who is a good nurse. The average man feels as much out of place in a sick-room as a bull must in a china-store. His heart may be ever so full of sympathy, but his feet are heavy and his fingers clumsy.

In most cases when a woman's general health breaks down the original cause is weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organism. The only permanent cure lies in the correction of all these disorders. Husbands should know that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only medicine that invariably cures all ailments of this nature without "local treatment" and "examinations." It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned. It makes them well and strong. It allays inflammation, heals all internal ulceration and stops debilitating drains. It soothes and tones the nerves. Found at all medicine stores. An honest druggist won't urge upon you a substitute.

"I had female trouble for many years," writes Mrs. A. Lingelbach, of Granger, Sweetwater Co., Wyoming, "and tried many physicians until I was completely discouraged. Finally I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for six months, and I soon found that I was completely cured. I had been so bad I could hardly walk across the floor, but I am now well and strong, thanks to Dr. Pierce."

No family should be without Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It used to cost $1.50; now it is free. Paper-covered copy, 21 one-cent stamps, to cover mailing only; cloth binding 31 stamps. Over 1,200,000 American homes now contain copies of this great work. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

RELIGIOUS THOUGHT.

Gems of Truth Gleaned From the Teachings of All Denominations.

He builds wisely who builds for the future not forgetting the present.—Rev. G. H. Gamble, Baptist, St. Paul.

Definition of Patriotism.

Patriotism is love for the principles that have proved to be blessings and that bear the stamp of righteousness.—Rev. John Weidley, Lutheran, Pittsburg.

Care For the Weak and Wounded.

If we cannot be in the front of the battle, we can get our arms around the weak and wounded and take them home.—Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton, Baptist, Baltimore.

The Best Education.

The best education indeed is that which clarifies, which intensifies true patriotism and which makes a man a truer man.—Dr. Henry Van Dyke, Presbyterian, New York.

Results of Environment.

Our children get a great deal from this old world that we take no account of—more indeed than all that we give them through the words of our instruction.—Rev. David Utter, Unitarian, Denver.

A Miracle Defined.

A miracle is not a manifestation of extraordinary but of ordinary power. What makes a miracle is an unusual manifestation of ordinary forces.—Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, Congregationalist, Brooklyn.

Helpful Men.

The men whose lives and labors have been the greatest blessing to the world are the men who have heard divine voices and who have had heavenly visions.—Rev. Knox Montgomery, Presbyterian, Cincinnati.

Soldiers' Thoughts Before a Battle.

If you could gather the thoughts which pass through the minds of an army corps on the night before a battle, they would be so impressive, so pathetic, so solemn, that the whole world would weep.—Rev. George H. Hepworth, Congregationalist, New York.

The Man That Strengthens.

We can take our harp and chase discouragement from each other. We can help each other in days of sorrow. I am delighted with that man who entertains me, but I am strengthened and made better by that man who lifts burdens from my shoulders.—Rev. J. W. Perryman, Baptist, Cincinnati.

A Sacred Possession.

Your life is a sacred possession, and all its experiences, it matters not what they are, can be made to contribute to a noble character. It is hard to believe this at times, but it is true, and you will become your grander self the moment you recognize that fact.—Rev. George H. Hepworth, Congregationalist, New York.

Our Sufficiency Is of God.

However difficult, arduous or responsible your work may be, fellow laborer in Christ's vineyard, rest assured that God will prove your sufficiency. Whatever ability, tact, judgment, strength you may require for your particular work, all are furnished by God.—Rev. Dr. J. Addison Henry, Presbyterian, Philadelphia.

Foundation Stones of True Life.

Foolish the man who neglects or slights the foundation and then builds a magnificent superstructure. Infinitely more foolish the man who neglects to put the kingdom of God and his righteousness first in time and importance. These are the foundation stones of true life.—Rev. John L. Hillman, Methodist, Columbus, O.

Gladstone's Religion.

Gladstone proved it possible for one to be truly a man of the world and at the same time a Christian. The religious element was the bone and sinew of Gladstone's power. He was more than a religious partisan. His religion was the religion of character. He could change his political opinions, but in his religious convictions he stood on the everlasting hills of orthodox truth.—Rev. W. E. Danforth, Congregationalist, Chicago.

Needs of the Poor and Degraded.

The poor and the degraded need more than food and clothes and shelter. They need contact with humanity, they need the sympathy of heart and soul, they need light from the high places to which they cannot climb, and which they may not have unless it is carried down to them by those who are occupied in carrying on the torch of intellectual civilization from one generation to another.—Rev. Dr. Beverly Warner, Episcopal, New Orleans.

Women In War.

In war it is woman who has to bear the heaviest part of the burden. Think of the mother and wife who, when her husband goes to serve his country, chokes down her sobs and bids him godspeed. Think of the betrothed young woman who, when her lover tells her that love of his country must triumph over his love for her, bravely bids him go. These are not acts that are applauded by the public, but they display a courage that is equal to that of the brave boys who did their work under fire at Cienfuegos and Santiago.—Rev. Dr. Frank M. Goodchild, Baptist, New York.

We Need Only to Ask.

The world is inquisitive. We show the child the blazing orb of day and the twinkling star at night. The little one straightway asks us what is behind the sun and what lies beyond the stars. We can only answer God, for we know that God is everywhere. Yet research is characteristic of mankind. We are ever scrutinizing and investigating, but only to become entangled and dazed in contemplating the mystery and vastness of the universe. Then, amid inexplicable surroundings, we pause in despair and with childlike artlessness seek God and through Christ ask him to succor our helplessness, to uplift our faith and to strengthen us in the contest to win the brighter world.—Rev. S. M. Neel, Presbyterian, Kansas City.

Greek and Latin.

M. Jules Lemaitre condemned the study of Greek and Latin the other day at the Paris Sorbonne. He declared that the national mind had been formed not by the literature of the Greeks and Romans, except in an indirect way, but by the Scriptures first and afterward by the great French writers. M. Lemaitre further declared that he regretted having studied Greek and Latin 12 years, whereas he is ignorant of English, which is spoken by half the world, and only knows German in a pitiful manner.

Beats the Klondike.

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville, Tex., found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondike. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemorrhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it, even if it cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positively cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at M. A. Toulson's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

Mechanically.

Judge—And what did the prisoner say when you told him that you would have him arrested?

Complainant—He answered mechanically, yer honor.

Judge—Explain.

Complainant—He hit me on the head with a hammer.—Exchange.

An Opportunity You Now Have of testing the curative effects of Ely Cream Balm, the most positive cure for Catarrh known. Ask your druggist for a 10-cent trial size or send 10 cents, we will mail it. Full size 50 cents.

ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

My son was afflicted with catarrh. I induced him to try Ely's Cream Balm and the disagreeable catarrhal smell all left him. He appears as well as any one.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

DAIRY AND CREAMERY.

STAVE SILO.

Something Simple and Cheap Which Almost Anybody Can Make.

Hoard's Dairyman tells how to make a simple and economical stave silo. A suitable size is about 16 feet in diameter and 20 feet deep. The hoops are of five-eighths inch round iron, two at the bottom, then one two feet above, another three feet above the last, and so on, the spaces increasing regularly to the top. Each hoop is in two pieces, and these pieces are joined in the rear just the same as in front by passing through hard wood blocks as shown, with washers and nuts, so as to loosen or tighten as may be necessary. Iron blocks or shoes are sometimes used for this purpose.

The staves should be two inches thick and may be four, six or eight inches wide, but the narrower the better. It is not at all necessary that they should be 20 feet long, as they may be easily spliced. Saw into the ends that are to come together and insert a narrow piece of galvanized sheet iron—say two inches wide and as long as the staves are wide. Neither is it necessary to bevel the staves, but set them up with the inner edges close together, and they will swell and make a tight joint. Many prefer to bevel the staves and set them together with dowels.

Doors for taking out the ensilage are provided for every space except the lowest. These doors need not be cut out until the last thing, and then should be cut beveling at top, bottom and sides, largest all around on the inside. A strip of building paper tacked around the edges will supply the waste of the saw. The pieces forming these doors should be firmly and permanently fastened together by cleats or bands.

To erect such a silo build a foundation some six or eight inches larger than the diameter of the silo and high enough so that the earth may be graded up so as to turn all surface water from the structure, level the top of wall and set up the staves, using lath or any thin stuff to hold them in place until some of the hoops can be put on and tightened.

How to Make Poor Butter.

Mrs. E. R. Wood tells in the Jersey Bulletin what she would do to make poor butter. What she would do agrees so well with what some people are doing that we give it place in our columns. The lady says: I am not aware that I ever made any poor butter, and for nearly a score of years butter from my hands has brought 25 cents or more a pound the year round, which is, I think, evidence of its merit. However, were I to set out to make poor butter the first thing I should do would be to let the milk (if set in pans) stand until it was covered with white spots, and the next would be to allow the cream to remain until it was a mass of fermentation before churning. Then if the thermometer showed about 70 degrees when inserted in the cream and the churn smelled decidedly cheesy I should know I was on the right track. When the butter had "come" in a soft, "squashy" mass, I would take it out of the churn and make a feint at washing it with cold water, salt it, and after only half getting out the buttermilk pack it away. There would be streaks and mottles caused by insufficiently incorporating the salt, the remaining buttermilk would soon become rancid (for what more quickly gets to smell "old" than buttermilk), the mold spores in the cream (in other words, the bacteria) would begin to get in their work, and I would have poor butter in a very short time.

Effect of Excitement on Cows.

Very often dairymen write us expressing great surprise at the fluctuations in amount of butter fat in their milk at the creamery as shown by the Babcock test. Since the advent of the Babcock test we are learning that men have lived for a great many years in very great ignorance of the true philosophy of milk and cow. It is safe to say that anything and everything that can affect the nervous system of a mother, whether human or bovine, will affect the fat content of her milk. On this law is founded the oft-repeated advice to treat the cow gently.

Keep Lime Out of Cream.

From the word go we are down on all devices for the so called "improving" of pasteurized cream. A scheme has been devised, declared to be perfectly harmless—heaven save the mark—whereby a preparation of lime is added to the cream to thicken it, and so make the buyer think he is getting a luscious article of pure cow cream. It is a fraud and a cheat. No preparation of lime can be healthful when added to cream, and no cream that has lime in it is pure. We are surprised beyond measure that some who have the name of being reputable dairy folk should lend their countenance to this swindle. The stuff that is put in is a powerful alkali, and even those who make it and recommend it admit that it must be "used with care." Throw it to the dogs. If pasteurized cream is naturally thin, so thin that patrons do not like it, then sell the cream unpasteurized. If the utmost care and cleanliness are observed with milk and cream, they never need pasteurization anyhow. This is the fact.

Filled Cheese.

One of our Wisconsin subscribers, who has a creamery which is also fitted for cheesemaking, wants to know if it would probably pay him to buy the skimmilk from his patrons and make filled cheese. Independent of the law of the state, which absolutely prohibits the manufacture of filled cheese, we do not hesitate to say that it would not pay any more than any other fraudulent and dishonest business pays. There is sometimes a present profit in such transactions, but in the long run it is disastrous, not always to the individual so far as mere money is concerned, but a man cannot consort with the harlot of adulteration without serious impairment of his moral fiber.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Truth Wears no Mask,

Bows at no Human Shrine, Seeks Neither Place nor Applause, it only asks a Hearing.

That is what we can say when we talk about experience in the manufacture of SEWING MACHINES. We still make the old-fashioned Machine that your grandmother used, (tried and proven, however); some of our customers prefer it. But the

is an entirely modern invention, the product of the best mechanical skill.

Ball Bearings Bicycle Movement.
Rotary Motion no Shuttle.
This machine is simple in its construction. Easy to operate. Light running. Does perfect work. All the latest notions, and built for service. For sale by the well-known and reliable agent,
