FOREIGN NEWS.

EIGHT DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE

Great Britain Steamship.

Decline in Cotton—Deplorable state of the Harvest.

We have just received intelligence, by special express, from our attentive correspondent at Holmes' Hole, that the steamship Great Britain arrived there at one o'clk. on Monday, with the loss of her foremast. She was reported as having been seen at 7 o'clk. on Monday morning, with signals of distress flying, and firing signal guns, within two miles of the shore to the southward of Long Point Light.

The Great Britain left Liverpool on the 27th ult. She has experienced very heavy gales of wind for last ten days, & had run short of coal. The schr. David Oofin, of New Bedford, happened to be at Holmes' Hole, from Philadelphia, with a cargo of coal, and at dark on Monday evening was alongside the Great Britain, supplying her.

The Great Britain has 105 passengers, among whom is Leopold De Meyer, the distinguished pianist.

The cotton market had been dull throughout the week, with the slightest perceptible decline in its prices. The quotations can scarcely be said to have changed but there had been more inclination to meet buyers, and the common and middling descriptions were freely offered. The declared prices for the week, by the committee of brokers for fair cotton was:—4 5 8d; Mobile, 5¾d; Orleans, 5 1-8d.

The produce markets continued active.

The continental news of the week is without much interest. The King of Saxony has opened the Diet in a speech which reflects his anxiety respecting the recent occurrences connected with the religious movement. The Prussian government views the Abbe Rouge with the same suspicion as before, & he was prevented from sleeping in Manheim when he passed thro' it. The Queen and the Queen-Mother have arrived at Madrid, and altho' the capital is quiet, fears of an outbreak existed. Switzerland is like a smothered volcano—an explosion may be looked for.

We understand that the Hon. Louis M'Lane is progressing most favorably in his new position at the Court of St. James.—We anticipate the best results from the honorable gentleman's mission of this country.

Both Upper and Lower Hungary have been completely laid waste by dreadful inundations, at the beginning of the month of August. Upwards of a million of the inhabitants are threatened with all the horrors of famine in consequence of this dreadful misfortune.

Accounts from the central province of Russia state that the potato crop there was free from disease, but that the corn was still quite green, and that it was suffering from the ravages of a small insect resembling the common flea.

Prospects of the crops.—The reports received from the northern parts of the kingdom speak in a very desponding tone of the probable effects of the extremely wet and boisterous weather experienced during the week on that portion of the crops still outstanding. That injury to an extent difficult to be remedied at this advanced period of the year has been done, is greatly to be feared, and, unless we have an immediate return of dry weather, the consequence may be serious. Even if the northern harvest had been got in well, the yield of wheat could scarcely have been expected to prove an average; and, under existing circumstances, the deficiency in quality, if not in quantity, is likely to be much greater than was previously calculated on.

Notwithstanding the fine weather experienced three consecutive weeks, there is still a great quantity of grain abroad south of the river Humber; whilst further north much is yet uncut. Of the total produce of the United Kingdom probably two-thirds may have been saved, but it is needless to remark, that the manner in which the other third may be secured must greatly influence the whole. Our previous estimates of the probable result of the harvest, have therefore, we fear been too favorable; and we now apprehend that, besides the already admitted deficiency in wheat and potatoes, the crops of barley and oats, as well as those of beans and peas, may prove inferior to what we were induced to hope.

As threshing is proceeded with, the complaints of the yield of wheat certainly increase; nor do the accounts of the quality improve. The loss in weight alone is a serious consideration; suppose the same to be 3 lbs. per bushel on the entire quantity grown—which is a moderate computation—and taking "bewlitherd" age of heat of the United Kingdom in an average year at 20,000,000 quarters, this item alone would make a difference of a million of quarters.

These considerations have had some influence with holders of wheat and the disposition to sell at present prices has much diminished. Those parties who have still stocks of old, naturally conclude that the superiority of last year's growth over that of the new will cause it to command a ready sale at any period and though fair supplies of new have been brought forward by the growers, they refuse to sell except at enhanced rates. The increasing unfavorable reports relative to the potato crop have also had their weight; and the trade has assumed a decidedly firm tone.

Whether any immediate advance of importance will occur in the value of wheat, will probably depend, in a great measure, on the weather; but, however auspicious the latter may become, we feel tolerably sure that the price of bread stuffs must, later in the year, rise materially.

Not only is the crop short in this country, but the harvest has been defective over the greater part of continental Europe. In Holland and Belgium the fact is so well ascertained that the Government of the former country has deemed it prudent to reduce the duty on Grain to the minimum point; whilst all restrictions on the import of Corn into Belgium has been removed for a given period.

Already, numerous orders have been received from Rotterdam, Antwerp, &c.; and the moderate stocks of bonded Corn are likely to be shortly reduced into a very narrow compass, if not exhausted by shipments to countries from whence we are, in ordinary years, in the habit of drawing some portion of our foreign supplies.

In the Baltic ports, Great Britain must expect to be outbid by the Dutch and Belgians; & in the Black Sea, wheat has lately been bought up to supply Italy, where the crops are said to have yielded indifferently.

It seems, therefore, that, unless prices advance materially, in this country, we are not likely to draw any quantity of wheat from abroad.

Pork Trade of the West.—The St. Louis Republican says that since the beginning of the present year there has been exported from that city not less than 12,000,000 lbs. of pork and bacon. And during, the last winter, when, from the unusual scarcity of hogs all over the country, there was no where much over a third of the ordinary number packed; there were killed at St. Louis as many as 18,000, which number was an actual increase of several thousand over the year preceding.

A new Feature in Cattle Shows.—At the recent Agricultural Fair in Burlington, Vt. Mr. L. Chase presented for premium three pretty female children, two and a half years old, born at a birth! The committee on Household Manufactures awarded him $14—which was voluntarily contributed by the old bachelors present, who said they considered him a legitimate object of charity. He was dismissed with the injunction, "go, and sin no more."

THE ASTHMA CURED.—There is no disease more distressing than the Asthma, and there are but few who suffer with it who are acquainted with the proper method of cure. In fact, it is a complaint that for a long time baffled the skill of physicians, but deep research, and much study, has at last shown that it can now be classed as a curable disease. The symptoms of Asthma are straightness of the chest; languor; disinclination to motion; loss of appetite, wind in the bowels; weight over the eyes; nausea; headache. These, or some of them, mark the approach of the fit, which usually attacks its victim about the middle of the night. Then there is a struggle for breath as if the patient were suffocating. Asthmatic persons will find in Clickener's Sugar-coated Vegetable Extract Pills a certain remedy. These pills will, if taken in doses so as to operate gently upon the bowels, modify the fits to which asthmatic persons are subject; and in time will so tone the system as to resist them altogether.

The pills, being composed of the finer and purer portions of certain plants which have been long known for their eminent qualities, are sure to effect a permanent removal of this distressing disease, and restore the sufferer to his wonted health. We make the assertion upon the authority of several persons of our acquaintance who have used the pills with the most decided effect.

Baltimore Market.

[PRICES of GRAIN &c.—corrected weekly.

Baltimore, Oct. 18th, 1845.

FLOUR.—The advices by the steamer Great Britain, arrived here on Thursday morning in season to catch holders with a small stock, but with a good head of water for manufacturing & increasing it; although such appeared to be the demand, that it will for a time go out of market as fast it comes in; $5 is the established price for all standard brands, from store. The inspections for the past week 15.743 barrels, and 596 half barrels wheat flour. There were also inspected 77 barrels corn meal.

GRAIN.—Wheat has been in rather limited supply, and appeared more so, particularly as the demand has improved since the receipt of the Great Britain's accounts.—Prices have relatively advanced with Four, and good to prime reds sold on Thursday at 97 cents to $1.02, and white, for family flour as high as $1.14.

Corn has also improved, and both white and yellow sold at 60 to 62 cents, and Oats 36 to 37 cents per bushel.

In this town on Wednesday last, Sarah Elizabeth, daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Robinson.

In this town on Sunday night last, Mrs. Mary Kersey, in the 73rd year of her age.

In this county on Saturday last, Mr. James Merrick, aged about 65 years.

In Hillsborough, Caroline county, on Monday morning, of last week, after a short illness, Dr. Marcellus Keene, at an advanced age.

OBITUARY.

Departed this life, Oct. 10th, at his late residence in Deep Neck, Talbot county, Md. Mr. SPRY DENNY, in the 64th year of his age. In his death society has lost one of its useful and worthy members. Mr. D. was a man of great simplicity of manners, and entirely unassuming in every respect, and although possessed of considerable property, yet it seemed not to have the least effect on his general character. He was a very peaceable man, of few words—doubtles showing his wisdom by his silence—thinking much, while saying but little.

His death is a subject of regret by the rich and the poor; for he was equally ready to assist the one, and befriend the other. In fact he was one of our best citizens, and a neighbor of the good Samaritan order. He was a man of hospitality, but his benevolence, however, did not spend its force in the hearty welcome of home, but found its way out in support of the various benevolent objects of the age. It need hardly be added, that he filled his place well in the domestic circle—making an affectionate husband, a kind father, and a humane master.

The disposition which Mr. D. made of his property is certainly worthy of notice; not because it is singular, but benevolent. He did not throw his entire estate into the hands of his legal heirs, the speedy settlement of which would doubtless have produced distress among the poor indebted to him; but while he made a generous provision for his widow and children, he did not forget some of his worthy relations who stood in need of assistance, nor the poor against whom he had claims, giving direction for their relinquishment; also remembering in death those who had served him in life, providing for their freedom at a given age. Mr. D. has left behind but few enemies, if indeed any, but many sincere friends. The estimation in which he was held by his neighbors and acquaintances was strongly indicated by their attendance at his funeral during the very inclement day of his interment. But more, Mr. Denny was a christian in the experimental sense of the term. He was awakened to a sense of his danger by the death of a child, and became a subject of saving grace in 1840 or 41 under the labors of Messrs. Bell and Hersey. Soon after he joined the M. E. Church, of which he remained a consistent and worthy member until removed to the church above. In his last illness he at first seemed to fear the approach of his last enemy; but as he neared, and enabled him to take a better view of his appearance, his fears gave way, and he desired his presence; or in other words, when first visited by his Pastor, he said he had hope, but yet his way was not so clear as he desired it; but as his disease progressed his confidence in God his Saviour grew stronger and stronger, until his soul broke out in raptures, when he desired to depart and be with Christ.

Mr. Denny has left a widow, two children, and a large circle of friends to mourn their loss; and the little band of brethren in Ferry Neck especially will feel his loss as a breach among them when they come to present themselves before the Lord. But this is the way of all the earth—the church below is filling up the church above; the old are passing away, may the young fill their places in the church and in society!

The funeral of the deceased was preached from 1 Thess. 4ch. 13, 14 verses, after which his remains were deposited in the silent grave to await the call of his Lord at the great rising day. [Gazette is requested to copy.
