Vashington and the Dwarf.—During revolution, there lived in N. Jersey a arkable dwarf, who, though upwards 0 years of age, was not more than e feet high, and every way small in portion; several persons went to see , and amongst others, Washington, conversed some time with the little , asking him questions, and generally iving humorous and pertinent an rs. The general at last wishing now his political opinions, asked him ther he was a whig or tory. "I can say, sir," replied the man in minia , "as I have not yet decided to take ctive part."

Blundering.—At a late fair of Ballin oo, a rich graviler, being in his cups, e a boast that he and three other pot panions had contrived to swallow een bottles of port at one sitting; y, sir,' said a gentleman present uld you have the goodness to give me names of the three other brutes that e engaged with you?' A certain divine being presented with ving by the Lord Chancellor, waited n him to make the proper acknow gments for the favor. The Chancellor his lady rallied him upon remaining chelor, and the lady added, she had rd it reported, that having now a se, he very soon intended having a e. "No, madam," replied the bachelor "not so, his lordship has given me ity, and it is my own fault if I have peace."

A person talking to Fenelon upon the ject of the criminal laws in France, roved in contradiction to the archbishop, of the number of executions for minal offences. "I maintain," said "that such criminals are unfit to ." "But my friend," said Fenelon, a do not reflect that they are still e unfit to die."

A gentleman walking with a lady le a miss-step and fell. The lady, ing for his situation, assisted him in overing his feet, observing that she sorry for his faux pas. Lord Mansfield was very desirous of g life, and whenever he had an old to examine, he generally asked t his habit of living had been. To interrogatory an aged person replied, t he had never been drunk in his life. e, gentlemen, said his lordship turn to the young barristers, what temperce will do." The next of equally erable appearance, gave a very dif nt account of himself, he had not e to bed sober for fifty years. "See Lord, said a young barrister, what a ial glass will do." "Well gentlemen, lied his Lordship, it only proves that e sorts of timber keep better when y are wet, and others when they are ."

William Penn and Thomas Story trafling together in Virginia, were caught a shower of rain and unceremoniously sheltered themselves from it in a tobacco house; the owner of which, happening to be within it, accosted them th "You have a great deal of impuence to trespass on my premises—you ter without leave—do you know who am?" to which was answered, no.—Why then I would have you to know t I am a Justice of the peace." To ich Thomas Story replied, "my friend re makes such things as thee—he is vernor of Pennsylvania;"—the great n quickly abated his haughtiness.

Among the surest symptoms of amendent in a sick person is the growing inference he expresses for the visits of physician. This observation is illustrated by the following conversation hich passed between Bouvart and a rench Marquis, whom he had attended ring a long and severe indisposition. s he entered the chamber on a certain casion, he was thus addressed by his atient:—"Good day to you, Mr. Bouart, I feel quite in spirits, and I think y fever has left me." "I am sure of ," replied the Doctor; the very first expression you used convinces me of it." Pray explain yourself." "Nothing more asy: in the first days of your illness, hen your life was in danger, I was your earest friend; as you began to get better, I was your good Bouvart; and now am Mr. Bouvart—depend upon it you re quite well."

HIGHLY IMPORTANT.
Hair Restorative and Preservative.

Vegetable Cerate.

THE important discovery of a vegetable substance, capable of restoring and preserving the Hair, was accidentally made by an individual who has neither the capacity nor the disposition to practise deception or fraud.

The fullest reliance may be placed on the efficacy and power of the Vegetable Cerate, not only in restoring and preventing the falling off the Hair, but in ducing the greatest lustre and liveliness of it imaginable; and the public may rest assured that its effects will be clearly manifested in the course of a short time, by the renewal of a vigorous growth of hair and by effectually preventing its coming out or falling off. The Vegetable Cerate tends to resuscitate and excite the energies of the capillary vessels which constitute those organs that secrete the matter forming the hair; these like many other organs of the animal body, which have been in the state of dormancy or disease, may be restored to their healthy action, and perform all those functions assigned by nature.

The proprietor being aware of the numerous specifics palmed on the public, and desirous that the present article may not suffer from false impressions, rests its merits on the effects it has produced on various persons who have used it, and all that is asked, as it relates to the verity of its effects, is a fair trial.

Elderly people, with bald heads, may rest assured, that by applying a few boxes of the above Cerate, their hair will be restored with all its beauty and life.

To prevent imposition, the sale of the Vegetable Cerate will be confined to Dr. JAMES HART, New York, corner of Broadway and Chamber streets, three doors from Washington, where it will be sold at $1 75.

A liberal deduction will be made to country dealers.

The proprietor of the above valuable discovery intends appointing Agents throughout the United States for the sale of it, and also in Europe. ☞ A few boxes of this article have just arrived from New York, and for sale by Dr. JOHN LOVE, at his old established Drug and Patent Medicine Store, No. 22, Centre Market Space, Baltimore, who is appointed by the propietor Sole Agent for the State of Maryland.

In consequence of the power vested in me, I have therefore appointed Mr. Thomas Webb, of Washington; Mr. Otho M. Linthicum, of Georgetown; Messrs Shaw & Cambrill, of Annapolis; Mr. Fisher, of Frederictown; Messrs Fred'k. Miller & Son, Druggists, Hagerstown; Thomas H. Dawson, Easton; Thomas Burcheneal, Greensborough, and Scott & Co. Cambridge, sole Agents for the above places, who will be constantly supplied with the said Cerate by me.

Facts are Stubborn Things.

I have now in my possession a certificate from a gentleman to whom reference will be given to those who wish positive proof of the Hair Cerate. In this case a large space on the head was perfectly bald; but now, wonderful to behold, it is covered with a beautiful, strong, thick crop of hair; and this rapid vegetation came to perfection in about two months by the use of not quite two boxes of the Vegetable Hair Cerate bought at my shop. I therefore, in full confidence recommend it to the public, that by attending to the method prescribed for using it, they will not be disappointed in their expectations. JOHN LOVE.

Sole Agent for the State of Maryland.
March 22

More proof of the wonderful effects of the Vegetable Hair Restorative Cerate, which I have just received in the following certificates from New York, &c.

Northampton county, Penn. Jan. 22, 1824.

Having observed in the Baltimore and Philadelphia papers the wonderful effects the Vegetable Cerate has produced on numbers o persons, and having the misfortune to lose my hair about two years ago, I purchased some of the article and made use of it according to the directions, and in about four months I had an elegant coat of hair, and I can safely say it is one of the greatest discoveries ever made as it respects restoring the hair. JAMES WOOD.

Long Island, March 25, 1824.

I saw in the New-York Patriot a remedy for the hair, called the vegetable Cerate: being bald on the top of my head, I purchased a box, and after using about three quarters of it, I perceived my hair coming out, I shaved it off according to the directions, still using the Cerate, and in about three months I had a fine head of hair; I have therefore, no hesitation in recommending it to the public.

J. GARDNER.

New-York, March 21, 1824.

As I had heard from numbers of persons the great benefit they had received from the use of the Vegetable Cerate, and having lost nearly all my hair, and tried every thing to restore it without effect, I purchased some of the Cerate, of Dr. James H. Hart, and continued its use about three or four months, and found it answered the most salutary effects.—To those who are desirous of preserving and restoring their hair, I therefore cheerfully recommend it to the public in general in the highest terms.

WILLIAM PATTEN.

North Moore street, March 1, 1824.

With the greatest satisfaction, I do recommend the Vegetable Cerate. Having lost almost all my hair, by its falling off, I made use of the Vegetable Cerate & found the greatest benefit: it has cured my hair entirely; not only that, it softens the hair, and gives it a most elegant glossy appearance.

Dr. James H. Hart of New-York, is well acquainted with me, and can testify to the above.

ELIZABETH HUGHES.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In justice to the discoverer of the celebrated Hair Restorative and Preservative Vegetable Cerate, [which is advertised in this paper,] as well as for the benefit of such as may be afflicted with the loss of hair, I feel it my duty to give publicity to the following facts: -About four years ago my hair all came out, and left my head entirely bald. I used a great variety of means, among which were all the imported oils that are generally used for restoring the hair, to restore it again without effect. Having seen the Vegetable Cerate, last summer, I procured some of it, and, after using it about four months, night and morning, my head is now covered with a beautiful and vigorous growth of hair. It has had the desired effect with me, and I earnestly recommend it to those who have unfortunately lost their hair, as being the only effectual restorative now in use.

WILLIAM SMITH.
Of Burlington county N. J

Newark, March 12.

TO THE LADIES.

New York, Varick-st. Feb. 22, 1824.

As it respects the Vegetable Cerate that has been published in our New-York papers for this some time past, and the many benefits it has produced on various persons, I therefore purchased some of the article to try its affect, and I can safely say, it is the only thing that has ever been of benefit to me; it not only prevents the hair from falling off, but gives the most stubborn hair a most beautiful natural curl, and I highly recommend it to all the ladies in the highest terms. ANN THEAN.

Notice to Trespassers.

HAVING, for several years past, sustained considerable injuries from the practice of hauling Seines and sitting Weirs along my shores; also, from sportsmen, and from persons turning their Stock into my fields, and hauling wood through my grounds, I am under the necessity of forwarning all persons from the commission of similar trespasses in future on my lands at Shoal or Horn's Point, without a special permission from myself.

I wish to employ as an OVERSEER for the ensuing year, a man with a small family, and in every respect qualified to manage a large Farm. A man, whose age will exempt him from militia duty, would be preferred.

Shoal-Creek, Sept. 17, 1824. [18—4t]

W. C. CONINE,

TENDERS to his friends, patrons, and the public generally, his sincere acknowledgements for the manifest patronage extended to him in the Second Class of the Maryland STATE LOTTERY, and does himself the pleasure now of presenting the third class of said lottery, wherein he calculates with liberal support, to have the satisfaction of distributing among adventurers a large number of valuable prizes.

The scheme surpassing in magnitude that of any lottery at present in the United States, it is expected will elicit general approbation from the brilliancy of its capitals, the great number of valuable prizes contained in it, and the comparatively low rates of tickets.

The certain and punctual payment of prizes, is, as in preceding Maryland State Lotteries, guaranteed by the State.

By authority of the State of Maryland,
