NEW GOODS.

THE subscriber has just returned from Philadelphia and Baltimore with a fresh supply of NEW GOODS, adapted to the present and approaching season, which he will sell at a small advance for cash, or such articles in exchange as may suit—and invites his friends to call and examine for themselves.

He returns his grateful acknowledgements to his friends and customers generally, for past favours, and especially to that portion of them who have been good enough to furnish him with the one thing needful—to them accommodation will be extended cheerfully—But to that portion of his customers, who have neglected the needful supply, no further accommodation can or will be extended—He is compelled to this determination from a conviction, that in most cases, a want of means has not been the reason for non-payment—and that calculations are made on his disposition to indulge. However grateful he may be for past favors, this cannot release him from the obligation he owes to himself and family.
